50TH ANNIVERSARY SEASON

August 1996

On behalf of the Hartwick College Summer Music Festival & Institute administration, I extend warm greetings to all.

The 50th anniversary season has marked the highest level of achievement since I have been the director of the program. It seems to me that we have indeed launched into a new era of artistic excellence with respect to making our program a true summer music festival. The 50th anniversary celebration was marked by an incredible number of special events. Some of the most memorable moments of the summer include the release of the Hartwick Trio compact disc; the publication of Dr. Swift's book "Music From the Mountains: New York State Music Camp (1947-1996)"; a concert and masterclass with The Canadian Brass; a celebration of the music of composer in residence, Karel Husa; a concert and masterclass by Erez Ofer, concertmaster of the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Glimmerglass Opera Production of Mozart's La Finta Giardiniara; a masterclass with members of the Western Wind Vocal Ensemble; a Philadelphia Orchestra concert at Saratoga; a concert and dedication of an historical marker at Otter Lake, NY, the original site of the New York State Music Camp; workshops and performances with Fred Mills, former trumpet player with The Canadian Brass; and the performance of commissioned fanfares for the Concert Choir, Symphonic Band, Symphony Orchestra and Jazz Ensemble. This has truly been a gala celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Summer Music Festival.

Once again, HCSMF&I has proved to consist of more than the art of making music--in the lasting friendships made among students, counselors and faculty.

To all who have taken part in the 1996 Hartwick College Summer Music Festival & Institute program, I offer my sincere congratulations and best wishes for a productive year.

Sincerely,

Steven T Zvengrowski

Steven T. Zvengrowski
Director

The staff of the Hi-Note is pleased to present its 50th Anniversary issue. Hartwick College Summer Music Festival and Institute has developed into one of the most established music festivals in the country. The festival formerly named New York State Music Camp was founded in 1947 by Frederic Fay Swift. The camp was held at Otter Lake in the Adirondack mountains until 1956, when the camp was moved to Hartwick College in Oneonta.

This summer the festival featured several special 50th anniversary events and programs. These programs include a masterclass by the Canadian Brass,composer in residence Karel Husa and the Western Winds Vocal Ensemble. The students had unique opportunities to attended performances by the Glimmerglass Opera and the Philadelphia Orchestra. They also attended performances and masterclasses by Fred Mills, formerly of the Canadian Brass, and Erez Ofer, concertmaster of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Symphonic Band

by Ben Fox

"With pagan defiance", the Symphonic Band sprung into action at 8 am every morning, only to be bombarded with more of Steven Mellilo's crazy tempo markings. To quote Hal Janks, our first conductor,"a baroque term from the roccoco style...HAMMERED!!!!" The band played Mellilo's Ahab! and A Walk in Jurassic Park. We also played Rachmaninof's Symphonic Dance No.1.

Weeks 3 and 4 Dr. Wilson came to conduct us with high expectations and energy. Week 3, the famous 20th century composer, Karel Husa came to work with the symphonic band as we played his Music for Prague 1968. The entire band learned a great deal from Mr. Husa. Week 4, the band played Tears by David Maslanka as well as the Gumsucker's March by Percy Grainger.

Week 5 and 6, Mr. Rowell came like a breath of fresh air. Suprisingly, we're not playing Percy Grainger. Week 6 we played "La Fiesta Mexicana" by H. Owen Reed. Fred Mills joined the band to play the Artunian Trumpet Concerto. This has been a great 50th anniversary season for the symphonic band.

Symphony and Chamber Orchestras

by: Michaela DeSoucey

You know you are truly a longtime member of the Symphony and Chamber orchestras when you can recite each of the three conductors' criticisms and jokes along with them, follow Mr. Salemno's beat pattern, and understand Mr. Biava's accent.

Longtime HCSMF&I conductor (as far back as I can remember anyway) Chuck Schneider started off our 6 weeks here with Beethoven's 7th and "Symphony Fantastique" by Berlioz in Symphony and Mozart #35 in Chamber. We also accompanied a pianist playing the Mendelssohn Piano Concerto.

And once again, the Chamber Orchestra was subjected to the tortures of the Institute Conducting class, playing each movement a billion times at very different tempos. Mr. Schneider's jokes kept everyone laughing, and we managed to pull off some great concerts at the same time. It was in this session that the dancing in rehearsals started. While glancing around a rehearsal you could spot various players, particularly in the oboe section, really getting into their parts.

Mr. Biava, conductor-in-residence of the Philadelphia Orchestra, arrived at HCSMF&I week 3 brimming with enthusiasm and a lot of music. Mr. Biava was a great conductor but a tad hard to understand. When he said "letter B", you would have people coming in at D, P, and T. In symphony, we played Borodin's "Polovetsian Dances" and Stravinsky's "Firebird" (softer cellos). In chamber we played Beethoven's "Prometheus Overture', accompanied a saxophonist on Husa's "Elegie et Rondeau", which we grew to love, played the Bruch violin concerto and played the last movement of Mendelssohn's 4th symphony. Then there was the fateful day in chamber when Tony Flynt got "stuck in the bathroom" and was 15 minutes late. That was also the day the woodwinds were out of tune and a certain percussionist made a mistake and left rehearsal early. That would have been a great day to take the day off. Mr. Biava was not a happy camper. And thank you to the stage crew for getting the Saturday schedule to not have symphony rehearsal at 7 am. All in all, Mr. Biava was a very kind man. We all enjoyed having him here and feel that we definitely grew as musicians.

Week 5 brought the great solfegger, Maestro Louis Salemno. With his great stories and jokes, Mr. Salemno's arrival was greatly anticipated. (We also wanted to make sure we could get his mannerisms just right in time for the counselor show.) In symphony, we played "Pictures at an Exhibition" and Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess". In chamber, we accompanied Fred Mills on the piccolo trumpet and also played "El Amor Brujo" by Manuel de Falla. The singer was none other than...Mrs. Salemno. And since Mr. Salemno demanded "perfect intonation for our reputation", rehearsals were tougher than ever.

Congratulations to the conductors and all the members of the two orchestras- we all did a great job!!

Brass Ensembles

by Will Buck

Brass ensembles rehearsed on the first floor of the Anderson Art Center and in Anderson Theatre, unless the theatre was being used for Hartwick College Orientation, in which case brass ensembles rehearsed outside, or on the third floor of Van Ess, or in any convenient location, like a storage closet in Smith. At the end of each session, ensembles performed for each other in a Friday Morning Sculpture Garden Concert, so named because the concert was held in the Sculpture Garden outside Anderson, unless the weather was ominous, in which case the Sculpture Garden Concert was held in Anderson Theatre (fortunately, Hartwick College did not hold Orientation on Friday mornings). The first session's Sculpture Garden Concert included performances by groups coached by Brian Vance, Hugh Ash, and Dorm King Dave Rothenberg, who won the respect of his quartet by dazzling them with his brilliant trumpeting. Hal Janks was scheduled to perform with Steve Button, but duo backed out at the last instant when Hal suffered an uncontrollable fit of stage fright. Quintets coached by Jerry Sam and Dave Saltzman performed in the ensembles concert that evening.

The second session's Sculpture Garden Concert, held in Anderson Theatre due to inclement weather, featured groups that ranged in size from Jeff Castle's trumpet octet to Ilze's horn duo of Katie Lester and Dan Lewis. Other memorable performances Friday morning included Matt Lupo's pronunciation of "Tan Ta Ra Ran Tan Tant" and Dave Saltzman's oral rampage with the microphone. A flock of talented players joining us for the third session promises to make the final Sculpure Garden Concert as entertaining as the first two.

Sax Ensembles

By: Mana Higashi

During the 1st session, 2 sax ensembles existed. Chris Brellochs headed one and Andy Schwartz headed the other. The famous "Coliane Jr" was slaughtered in Andy's group.

As the second session rolled around, many talented new sax players came, so three sax ensembles were created. Mar, Chris, and Andy coached them. Chris' group rocked on the Friday night ensembles concert. Andy, Jane, Pete, and Alex played a beautiful piece from a string quartet's Op. 96, "American".

By the time the third session started, there were even more sax players. With all of the new talented sax players we predicted an excellent session full of music and fun in sax ensembles.

String Ensembles

By: Rachel Cama

Through all of the pain and agony that we spent getting our ensembles in tune, we managed to squeeze in some fun with the help of some exciting people. In the beginning many had doubts about their ensemble, but they all pulled together for a great ensembles concert. Our devoted coaches motivated us everyday after concert choir, to reach their expectations which had become our goals. In the end, we learned the music and most of all, the power of teamwork.

Conducting Class

By: Brad Gillet

If, for the duration of the 50th Anniversary of HCSMF&I, one happened to walk by the Anderson Circle between the hours of 9 and 10 am, a common sight to see through those double doors would be about 10 kids waving their arms around frantically. When that wasn't happening, those same ten kids were making sad attempts to keep from falling asleep. Thus is conduction class. Taught ever so energetically by Erich Ledebuhr, everybody's favorite trumpet teacher, the class never failed to lose it's level of drowsiness, even with those of us who enjoyed making fun of each other (Erich and Joe). Learning about the many different ways not to hold a baton, and the many different ways to conduct a beat and even the many different ways to play the same cheesy piece of music over and over again, conducting class strived for the "ictus" of fun and education.

Cello Ensemble/Technique

By: Rachel Cama

This class started every morning at 8 am. We cellists usually wandered into Anderson Circle 10-15 minutes late. Eventually, Alex Kelly and Robert Cafaro could come. When we weren't sleeping, we learned bow strokes and played ensemble music. One of our favorite parts of the class was the speech about divisions of our strings. Actually, this was a fun class- and I sure know where all the harmonics are now! To my fellow cellists, good luck. I love you!

Institute Wind Ensemble

By: Vanessa Reynolds

Hal Janks kicked off the summer as the conductor of the the Wind Ensemble the first session when we played a double concerto for alto saxophone, tuba and wind octet by Hartley. Hal and Dave kept us laughing and we had a great time, but unfortunately some members occasionally missed dinner running from something like an ensembles concert in order to make the 5:40 rehearsals. No problem- Hal Janks knows how to take care of his students. Not only is he an outstanding musician- he can cook, too. Just stay away from the Mongolian Fire Oil.

Second session brought another Hartley concerto- this one written for 23 wind players. Every day Joanna gave us "some A" and it was much appreciated. Brian Wilson helped us through the piece, especially the 3rd movement. We never quite figured out the meaning of it's sub-title. A type of soup? A Streisand show? Some still think it's just a slow tempo.

Malcolm Rowell has us working hard to put together Kurt Weill's suite of music from "The Three Penny Opera". It should prove to be very exciting. After all- we've got Brett with his accordian and a banjo player whose presence alone is inspiring.

General Music

By: Lauren Turner & Jessica Weisz

General Music is a great class for ages 9-12. You learn to understand symphonies, practice rhythmic patterns, and expand your imagination.

Have you ever tried dancing to one of the great symphonies? This is one of the activities we did.

We also drew pictures of what we thought Beethoven's 5th looked like by listening to the moods of the songs.

Meredith, our teacher, clapped and sang rhythmic patterns, while we tried to write them down in what we thought was the right rhythm. The symbols we used were half notes, quarter notes, eigth notes, and quarter rests.

We have mentioned our favorite activities. If you liked them, we suggest you take this class next summer. We know you will have a lot of fun.

Advanced Theory

By: Vanessa Reynolds

I think everyone would agree that we benefitted greatly from taking Florie Rothenberg's intense class. It's amazing how much we learned in the short span of time we were here.

Despite my feeble attempts at piano demonstration, we managed to get a firm grasp on harmonically analyzing Bach chorales. Then we moved onto our own four part writings which we wrote together, and sang together. Harmonic analysis was followed by form analysis and less homework. (Thank god!)

For those who couldn't make it to the the Commons during the ten minutes between Symphonic Band and Theory (or just didn't want to risk being late and suffering Florie's wrath) and didn't think enough in advance to bring their own peanut butter sandwiches, the class may have seemed never ending, but for those who got caught up in "subverting the dominant" and "recessitation tonality", the experience was nothing by positive.

Horn Ensembles

By: Matthew Blinkie

You're strolling through the aisles of Wallmart, picking out house plants, when suddenly it happens- you hear a noise. Or rather, you sense it; it's far too faint and distant to be detected clearly. And yet it exists, and you can feel it calling you. All thoughtsof rhododendruns instantly vanish as you walk, mesmerized, out of the store. You sidestep the cars in the parking lot with the grace of Baryshnikov. To you, they exist only as obstacles; obstacles in the way of... the Sound. Nothing else matters. You must follow the Sound, werever it may lead. You pace quickens as you hone in on the heavenly noise. You are jogging as you cross the highway, without regards to oncoming traffic. Cars swerve madly around you like mighty rhinos charging a gazelle. You do not even see them. Every facet of your mind is focused on the Sound. It is definitely closer. As you pass through Wilber Park, you are running with reckless abandon, and yet you do not feel your legs moving. Children playing idly on the monkey bars take one look at you and cower in fear. Now you are tearing through the woods. Leafy branches whip by your face like clouds of Sirrus, high in the stratosphere. Prickers slash at your flesh, and yet you feel utter detachment from the pain. Pain is inconsequential; only the Sound matters.

As you enter the Hartwick campus, you are travelling faster then you previously believed was possible. Your eyes are bloodshot. Your hands grope wildly at the ambient Sound that has set your very sanity ablaze. Up past Anderson in a flash, you seem to fly up the hill to Yager. The Sound is now painfully close. 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor! The source is almost upon you! Your body is nothing but a blur as you fling which lies the Sound. Does it splinter on impact? Do you fling it open? You are unsure, but somehow the oaken portal gives way, and you are within the Sound! In a mad frenzy, you wipe the tears out of your eyes, and shout in pure extasy as you behold... The Horn Ensemble! Man, were we surprised! -True story!

Canadian Brass

By: Kate Suessmann & Shoshana Rahmani

On July 6, the HCSMF&I was most priviledged to host the Canadian Brass. The world renowned brass quintet gave a delightful and impressive clinic, or was it a workshop? I guess we will never know!

It was most interesting to see our faculty brass quintet coached by the Canadian Brass. This showed us that you can never be too old to learn.

Their delightful blend of humor and exquisite artistry provided much pleasure for the whole festival when we attended their concert at Highmount, NY later that evening. It was a most memorable evening.

Vocal Chamber Ensembles

By: Shoshana Rahmani

Every day at 11:45 am, Vocal Chamber ensembles met in Van Ess Hall. Coached by Alix Permut, Shoshana Rahmani, Chelsea Picknell and Jessica Thomson, the ensembles sang various types of music. Singing chamber music is quite different than choral or solo singing and this was an excellent experince for all involved. Vocal techniques, taught by Gail Persad, met simultaneously with the vocal chamber ensembles. The importance of proper breathing and support was emphasized in this class and the students worked a great deal on these skills.

The two classes met in a masterclass at the end of each session and critiqued each other's performances. It was a positive learning experience for all involved. All of the singers involved in these classes acquired a great deal of knowledge and came out of the courses better musicians.

Clarinet Ensembles

By Kiera LoBreglio

Clarinet ensembles met every day from 11:25-12:15 in various places. The groups ranged from beginners to more advanced players and were coached by Florie, Frank, Caren and Jason. The ensembles performed either at the end of each session or at the ensembles concert. The clarinetists learned to work together as a small ensemble. They learned how to improve their intonation, technique and ensemble skills. The coaches stressed the importance of chamber music in our music education.

Flutes on Parade: Flute Ensembles

By: Lindsey Karp

Its 11:15 am- well thats on a day where Dr. Z. has only 20 zillion announcements and the fruitcake of the week does not have an hour long speech prepared.....

But I digress. Basically, I'm here to warn you about the "army of flutes" that has invaded the hills of Oneonta. They have been seen under the direction of Kate Suessmann, Kelly Travis, Domingos "guy flutes rule" Robinson, Denise Cohen and there has been an occasional sighting of Cabray Haines. They have been spotted on the first floor of Van Ess from 11:15ish until 12:15 where they do everything humanly possible to steal innocent music stands and capture unknowing woodwind ensembles and make them listen to all sorts of music. Be careful! They can be heard from miles away and avoided. Just listen and you may have contagious tunes that bring you in as "Trio for Flutes" by Hoover and "Three Moods" by Gunther.

Also beware- they are in tune and may be dangerous. Denise Cohen may be heard playing a wrong note, and if she does, the consequences may be lethal. They are very professional and will try to bring you in to join the flute army.

Improvisation Ensemble

By: Brian Frydenborg

The blues,a truly amazing and versitile type of music, was first introduced to me in my beginning improv ensemble. With Tony Speranza, my teacher says I drive him crazy but I know he's just kidding. By learning simple riffs and the blues scales, my classmates and I were introduced to the blues. Learning the blues is the first and most essential stop on the road to Jazz. We became less worried about making mistakes and were finally free of our inhibitions. From there, everyone was able to express his or herself in the art of Jazz improvisation. By the end, each class had jam session. The unique thing about this class is that it has the only jazz violist that I've ever met.

Select Choir

By: Ryan Feldscher

Select choir seemed to always bring out a smile every time I entered the room. We were all friendly people with a common goal. Mr. Wallace is one of the best conductors I've ever had the pleasure of working with. He always had something funny to say to lighten up the afternoon. Mrs. Wallace was also a wonderful person to have in rehearsal. She is a very insightful person with a great knowledge of music.

Mr. Freise was our conductor second session. He also made a point to make everyone smile and have a good time. He also has the most creative warm-ups in the business.

The third session was directed by Dr. Bob. He is a comedian in the body of a conductor, who has very interesting musical tastes. His wife and accompanist also has a great influence on the choir. She is very helpful, and plays a vital role in rehearsals as our accompanist.

It has been a great season in select choir. One thing I'll never forget is : "Bo-go-ro deet-see-ay dee-ay-vo".

The Running Club

By: Jeff Castle

The running club met every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6:30 am. Headed by Dr. Z and four tiresome counselors, ambition ran high the first session. Then it became clear; the reality of sleeping became more popular day by day and 6:30 am got earlier and earlier. As campers dwindled we still maintained our enthusiasm due to the few true runners who pushed Dr.Z. to his limits.

Percussion Ensemble

By: Jeff Dudzick

The percussion ensemble this summer was led by Soren Konecky, a really cool guy. We did many things over the course of six weeks. The first session, we worked on Chavez's "Toccata". The next session we worked on Karel Husa's "Music for Prague 1968" with Mr. Husa himself. It took a lot of work but the end result was...well, pretty darn fine. In the third and most exciting session we played the most awesome piece for percussion ensemble called "Three Brothers". Besides coaching the music, Soren also taught us to wrap marimba mallets and to make a triangle holder. The funniest part of the ensemble time was when Soren gave a certain percussionist who's initials are BG some "helpful hints". Many other funny things occured during ensemble time and overall it was a great summer.

Jazz Ensemble

This is the most advanced Jazz ensemble at HCSMF&I. The repetoire has covered all genres from the laid back swing of "Along Came Betty" to the latin funk of "Manteca". Many of the charts that we played are regularly performed by the Thad Jones/Mel Lewis orchestra at the Village Vangaurd in NYC. The first session was led by Mike Holober who regularly writes for the Vangaurd Band. Justin DiCioccio, from the Manhattan School of Music conducted second session. He left immediately following the final performance to play with a group including Ellis and Branford Marsallis and Ray Brown. Finally Dave Lalama stepped in for the third session. Formerly of the Woody Herman Band, Lalama now teaches at Hofstra University.

At several of the concerts, original works by Holober and Lalama were performed. Week two included "Big Sky" and "Lets Get Nice", both Holober compositions. For weeks 6, we performed the "Hartwick Suite" by Lalama.

Institute Conducting

by Scott Harrison

In Yager 321a, from 9:10-10:00 am Monday through Friday a dozen or so students had the opportunity to take a six week crash course in conducting. We got to do everything from conduct a Mozart Symphony, to get up and try to tame the masses (aka concert choir) and lead our homemade wind ensemble of violin, trumpet, french horn, oboe, euphonium, bassoon, bass trombone and piano.

The first two weeks were taught by Charles Schneider. For the orchestral portion of the class we were to analyze Mozart's 35th symphony:The Haffner. Since the emphasis was on conducting and not theory, Mr Schneider kept it simple. We only had to figure out the chords down to the eighth note, not the sixteenth. Then after a few trial runs in class it was off to Chamber Orchestra for one run through of a random movement. Despite many concerns and worries we all survived it on to the second session.

Kenneth Friese showed us the ropes of choral conducting for weeks 3 and 4. After an introduction to the basics of choral music, it was up to us to choose any of the choral pieces being performed that session to conduct. They ranged from doing "The Creation" with the concert choir to "Exultate" Justi with the Madrigals. Aside from that, we also did some intense rhythmic exercises to prepare us for anything we might come across in our conducting experiences.

This last session conducting began when Malcom Rowell entered our class fresh off the podium to ask us what he had just tried to accomplish in the recently ended symphonic band rehearsal. In the band component,Mr. Rowell established a new tone with emphasis on making music and how not to beat 3/4 time. Although we did not get a chance to conduct any groups we had numerous invaluable discussions and got to do much work with our own ensemble. Not exactly a band, but we accomplished just as much.

So, a lot was accomplished in just six weeks,1500 minutes. Let's just hope that six weeks from now we'll retain some of the things we have learned.

Hartwick Trio

By: Ellen Exner

It is a rare thing to find a chamber ensemble as beautifully suited to one another as are Hirono Oka, Jungeun Kim, and Robert Cafaro. The chemistry that exists between them is evident not only in their musical performance, but in their physical presences as well. By watching and listening it can be observed that they know know each other's styles and interpretive ideas well enough to anticipate, set up, and then complement the gestures. They listen, they communicate, and the result is a very statisfying musical performance.

While all three are tremendous performers and are clearly involved in what they are doing, Hirono Oka, in particular, is a joy to watch. It seems that it can be easy to get bogged down in the "it's just another performance" rut that runs so rampant in the professional world but to watch someone play with as much passion and conviction as does Ms. Oka is inspiring. Indeed, all three play with an intensity and style that sets a standard privledged to have such an established, gifted ensemble amoungst us to aspire to during the HCSMF&I's summer. The educational, aesthetic, and musical contribution they make is important and greatly appreciated.

Erez Ofer

By: Melissa Leonard & Gabrielle Kopf

On Thursday, July 11, Mr. Erez Ofer, the concert master of the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted a masterclass for the string players. During a one hour session, several students performed, and were critiqued by Mr. Ofer. He gave suggestions on how to improve phrasing, technical skills, interpretation, and other skills that contribute to becoming a better violinist. The atmosphere of the class was relaxed and put as little pressure on the performer as possible. Mr. Ofer's suggestions were constructive and well received by the performers students who were watching and learning. This masterclass was an excellent experience for all who attended.

Woodwinds Ensembles

By: Penny Shima

There's probably a very complex mathematical formula to calculate it, but somehow the woodwind coaches come up with some very entertaining ensemble based upon some very unbalanced numbers of flutes, clarinets, oboes, bassoons and horns. Meeting daily, for the Chamber groups formed work tirelessly on intonation, rhythm, dynamics and small ensemble playing. Van Ess, third floor Yager and even Smith Hall become overrun with energetic students happily willing to learn the values of chamber music.

After two intense weeks of learning who the members of the petite ensemble are, a Master Class is held either in Shineman Chapel or in Yager 321 A&B. At this time, the various duets, trios, quartets and quintets can perform and grow as musicians. These ensembles may grow together as well as individually due to this Master Class because other coaches offer suggestions for optimum musical beauty out put. The class is run in a laid back, relaxed and non stressed atmosphere so learning might be less painful.

The woodwind ensembles allow students to have opportunities they most likely will not experience at home. Where else is it possible to have a bassoon quartet, and two woodwind quintets and still have plenty of musicians left over for other small ensembles? The ensembles allow for a more intense study of individual musical characteristics and etiquette. The complex mathematical formula does indeed work. It leads to the growth of the whole musician.

Concert Orchestra

By: Penny Shima

What do Mr. Cafaro, Dr. Wilson, and Rob Elder have in common? These highly talented men have had the awesome priviledge of conducting Concert Orchestra for the 50th Anniversary of HCSMF&I. There were three very different men, three very different sessions and orchestras.

Under Mr. Cafaro, the orchestra and its conductor learned the complex orchestral process. From tuning to downbeats and cutoffs- the orchestra learned how to become an orchestra. With Dr. Wilson, the Concert Orchestra had a vast number of selections to choose from. Two renditions of Brahms (Behold a Rose... and O God) and Prokofiev's Romeo and Juliet were the final selections chosen, a change from Mr. Cafaro's Tchaikovsky Romeo and Juliet. Rob Elder brought with him the traditional Friday Screaming. We played the Finale from Beethoven's 5th, Mourning from Peer Gynt Suite, and Simple Gifts.

For this 50th Anniversary of HCSMF&I, Concert Orchestra has pushed itself to the best that it possibly could be. It has practiced hard to prove that it can play musically. Best wishes and thanks to all involved!

AN EVENING OF MUSIC AT SPAC

This summer,once again the students of HCSMF&I were lucky enough to visit the Saratoga Performing Arts Center to hear the Philadelphia Orchestra. The orchestra gave a stunning performance that consisted of Mozart's Symphony no. 39, Ravel's Concerto for the "Left Hand", the Saint-Saens cello concerto and Debussy's "La Mer". It was a beautiful clear night and some students sat on the grass outdoors. It was fun to see our festival faculty members performing in thier own orchestra. It was a fun and educational experience and we hope to return next year!

TRIP TO OTTER LAKE:50TH ANNIVERSARY CEREMONIES

On August 3rd HCSMF&I took a very memorable trip to Otter Lake, the original site of the New York State Music Camp. Studets, faculty and staff attended a ceremony at which an historical marker was uncovered at the site of the hotel that housed the original music camp which began in 1947. At the ceremony, Dr. Zvengrowski and Dr. Swift unveiled the marker and later on were presented with a certificate. August 3rd is now recognized as "New York State Music Camp Day". As part of the celebration, the Select Choir, Jazz Ensemble and Concert Choir performed at the Otter Lake fire department. The ensembles performed some works that were done at the first concert 50 years ago at New York State Music Camp. The event was well attended and was enjoyed by people from the Otter Lake area and surrounding towns.

CITs

Thirty-two people to be used and abused,

Are we counselors or campers? I'm so confused

On Wednesday nights we all go out, and come back to find the stands walked about.

Registration and luggage movin', being on floor is really groovin'.

Ushering concerts and setting up Slade,

maybe a camper I should have stayed.

Counselors are what we hope to be,

can we come back next year, Dr. Z?

" To Pee or Not to Pee"

by Jeff and Caren

Tinkle tinkle little star
There stood Sacha by the car
Aiming towards the lovely tree
There he was, going pee.

We were there, he did not see
We watched....pee pee pee
Then he saw us laugh and giggle
We watched .... dribble dribble dribble

In the dark we did observe
Urgent drainage of his nerve
Standing there it was clear and plain
He could not wait to drain his vein

Lo and behold to his surprise
There we watched with our eyes
When he saw, he gave a frown
Poor Sacha- you'll never live this down!!

Lost Cry of a Starving Child

by Liz and Liz

Once there was a senior counselor named Kate
Who was really really really great
One day she and her counselor friends went to a lake
and a really big mess her campers did make.
They refused to go to sleep and partied all night long and two of her favorite campers wrote a really dumb song
But great campers they are like peas in a jar.
Happy Holidays!

"On your Floors!"

First Floor Women

By: LizLizBeth

The first floor was a floor where UNO and Dr. Pepper ruled, where burps & girggles could always be heard, and where the smell of garlic and chinese food permeated our rooms. Run by our counselors Kate Suessmann, Kelly Travis, Jane Sung, Annemarie Edmonds, and HaNa Chang, our floor themes were Partygoers, Musical genres, and Olympic Champions. Each night, our counselors and our CITs Penny, Rachel, Vanessa, and Gabrielle, tried desperately to put their campers to bed but had absolutely no success. During the Olympics, the campers invaded their counselors' rooms and bonded over swimming and gymnastics. The 1st floor was simply another hallway until it became home to many people from different backrounds with different personalities who all shared one common interest: music.

Second Floor Women

By: Cabray Haines

"Leave your apples and oranges behind, welcome to second floor obscure fruits."

This is the sign that greeted our initially confused students when they came to the festival this year. They were rather bewildered at first, but after we conceived the Fruitcake of the Week idea at our first bonding night, everybody accepted their fruitiness. The floor was awesome. We bonded with icing, movies, "Estrogen Night", ear-piercings, conversations about Tortoise-bay and Pimpman, candy bubbles, trips to Friendly's, and of course, a Macarena-fest every Saturday night. With counselors Jessica, Minitria, Cabray, Joanna, and Myriam, and CITs Liz, Leslie, Lauren, and "Langela" baracading the hall every night, it was hard not to get to know people. Second Floor definitely had the most spirit, fun, creativity, and as evidenced by our third session Patio dance party, the most energy. It was a truly great floor, and I loved being on it. Thanks girls! Lights out!

Third Floor Women

By: Katie Montgomery

The sessions always started off with a great event known as floor bonding! We were always successful in getting to know each other better after doing our silly skits. Who could forget the STANKO- is that really a word? We thought so! How about the day that we roamed the hills of Hartwick disguised as soccer campers?! What is that black thing under the fire alarm anyway? Everyone had fun trying to figure that out as well as trying to figure our who their secret Santas were. Thanks to the guys that did guest lights out, we got to see Alix and Nicole get a little wet!! Sorry you turned into a victim, Hugh! Oh yeah--it's a penguin!

Fourth Floor Women

By: Babe Anonymous

A stunning array of creativity, intelligence, and perspicacity balanced with the delicate nature of the fairer sex. In short: a gaggle of girls, guided by inspiring counselors and CIT chicks (for, are they not babes in training?) These fierce young ladies will be pioneers for a kinder, gentler, and rockin' a new millenium. They also play vicious games of Old Maid. We would like to acknowlege the office babe Eric for enlightening our promising young worker with his highly motivational and deeply moving Greek alphabet songs on the way to Glimmerglass. Eric: Kudos for the future, and "Omega Mega." We'd also like to acknowlege Gifford for being such the little savant that our charges became unduly hot and bothered. Our floor theme this summer was "Traffic" and our halls were decorated colorfully with red, green and yellow traffic signals which almost all of us found amusing. Senior Counselor Caren O'Brien and wonderful counselors Aya, Michaela, Steph and Meredith enjoyed many "talks" with the campers. The most enjoyable time of all this summer for the fourth floor women was the 10:00 "call home scramble" in Caren's room.

Van Ess Women

By: Christina Sprague

The Van Ess spent the summer with a floor theme of spies and secret agents. Every student had their own code number on their door and during the first session, everyone decorated the floor with things that ranged from the outlines of dead bodies to an area for target practice. Tombstones were put up, and everyone had fun writing on them. During the 3rd session, Van Ess became Techno central with the floor bonding night spent with everyone dancing in the driveway.

Living in Van Ess was definitely a wonderful experience for all of the students and counselors who stayed there. Everyone became really close and will definitely cry their eyes out on August 11th. The counselors were great at becoming everyone's friend while also being wonderful role models and always being there for their students. They always know how to have fun- (body glitter, paper towels).

The Van Ess posse will always remember this summer as great music, fun, and friendships.

Second Floor Men

By: Scott Harrison & Ajay Chaundray

"My favorite uncle was Uncle Caveman. We called him that because he lied in a cave and when we visited him, he would eat one of us children. Later on, we found out he was a bear..."

And so read one of the many epitaphs on the doors of the 2nd floor men. Of course, we did not have much time to enjoy the often humerous "Deep Thoughts" as Adam Thorn, "the Enforcer" and our illustrious Senior Counselor, would turn 15 minutes to lights out into a 3 minutes to lights out over a period of 10 seconds.

The counseling staff was rounded out by James "Disco" Wong, Jay "Beat the Campers Fettig", Jeff "Endothermic" Castle, and Eric "Crazy Bread " Mihan. Of course the CITs were always there to help out (or take bribes at room inspection). They included Mr. Fix-it: Dave Wolfe, Dan "Exothermic" Lewis, Phil "Table Boy" Spaeth, and Will Buck. And down the hall was the reliable Dave "Pizzariffic" Rothenberg. Not to be left out, we had many campers with nicknames of their own. Among them are Tony "The flyin' tiger" Tangredi, Dave "The Rave" Palanen, Gabe "No-shirt" Villa, and Ajay "2 full sessions" Chaudhary.

The floor bondage activities included Ultimate Frisbee and a Scavenger Hunt. But most memorable was the ritualistic mass- violence known as Toshinden. Through much screaming and grunting, Brad Pelter was crowned champion. (Of course, we all know Scott Harrison is the master Toshinden player.) There was also ice cream but that fell through as the CITs left the chipcream in Dan's fridge. And nightly was the mass-gatherings in Harrison's room to watch the Simpsons on his TV. In conclusion, we are glad to say that the motion failed to have a Joey Lawrence look-alike day (much to the dismay of Eric and Jay). Long Live the Chocolate Syrup!!!!!

Third Floor Men

By: Pete Lyons

Under the direction of Hugh Ash, this year's third floor was a break from the stress of the Hartwick day. Hugh made it clear at the first floor meeting that the dominant quality was going to be mellowness. As long as everyone followed Hugh's unrelenting mellowness, everything would be great. Our relaxed and mellow theme was Atari. Besides our sub and movie night, our main activities were dispersing the party in Al and Dave's room, getting Tom off the phone, and putting Tony to bed.

Fourth Floor Men

By: Dan Block

The 4th floor was an exciting place during the entire festival, as it is home to the festival's youngest and most energetic students. The men of the 4th floor bonded each of the three sessions through the competetive spirit of Ultimate Frisbee games, followed by the tearing apart of many pies of pizza from Dominos. It also must be remembered that the fourth floor was home to the festival's neatest campers, and during the first session, it was hard to imagine how the rooms could be used, and still remain so clean. Some of the other activities of this floor included a viewing of "Major Paine" and "Monty Python and the Flying Circus". The floor is led by Senior Counselor Matt Bejune, along with counselors Matt Heath, "Uncle" Joe Petrocelli, Aaron Kaplan, and Jerry Sam "I am". And CITs Dan Block, Gabe Struck, Brad Billette, Ben Levitt, and Brett Geortemoeller helped the floor run smoothly. I suppose first session camper and "fruitcake" Scott Franco summed it up best when after he was moved to the third floor said, "Man! I miss you guys- the fourth floor counselors, CITs, and cmpers were definitely the best!"

Last Wills and Testaments

I, Jessica Dashnaw, hereby leave in my last will and testament pop-tarts to all the Van Ess girls; swing and seventies music to Addie; Kate to Raphie; a big hug and luck with life to Brad; my chopped hair and the knowledge of what a wonderful friend you've been to Laurice; gushing talks to Emily; a life story, backwards baseball hat, and lifelong friendship to Matt; and memories, hopes, and dreams to Kate.

I, Jennifer Cohn, do hereby bequeath the following to: The 2nd floor- many more fruitcakes, Jamie- ice cream flavors that don't clash; singing or something, "coughing" in concert band; and a vanilla crunch hershey bar; my address. Margaret- my black pants. Abigail- all the sugar in camp and paper for autographs. Virginia- mexican songs and dancing during sight reading class. Momo- our practice sessions for flute. Amanda- eating bubbles. Susan- staying up till 11:30 talking; getting up at the same exact time on weekends. Finally I leave my love, friendship, and heartfelt thanks to everyone at HCSMF&I for 2 weeks of great music.

I, Sally Choi, leave a clean new garbage bag to Meaghan Collins. I hope she uses it very usefully.

I, Laura Puzio, hereby distribute my personal treasures to the following folks- to Brad, Amanda, and Laurice- Innsbruck; to Rebecca- wick and Scott; to Guido- steal all the treasure and live in pleasure; to Tom-a back rub and popcorn; to Brett- cappauccino from Beavis and Butthead; to Rob- a haircut; to Dena- some cold cream; to Gabe- isn't it ironic; to Sarah- Kurt; to Jess-my shoes; to Monica- the chromatic scale; to Dave- (the big teddy bear) a hug; to Katie B- you gotta crow; to Katie T- Idaho and a solo in music theater; to Katie H- get rid of the food, origami, a night of mystery, GS, and dogs; to Serena- yell at your sister some more; to Gifford-never gonna be a man; to Erica and Jen- (I'm feeling lucky), lots of makeup(Erica) and a raincoat(Jen). I love you guys!!!!

I, Meagan Collins, leave Sarah Wehra fresh supply of toothpicks, Jessica Lupo a pick, band-aide, Monica Lupo a picture of a heart symbolizing your love for Justin, Serena Field gets a picture of my brothers, Katie Bloomshield, a headache pill and a bottle of snapple, and Sally Choi a fresh piece of paper. For all the others that I forgot to mention I leave you hugs, kisses, and memories of me.

I, Kristin Komisky, leave to:
Laura C: a room on the other side of the hallway, a message board, a towel in the window and a silent door in the hallway. Shut Up!! It was great being your room-mate. Morgan: No stick this time! Yay! Now it's a "horse" in the Agora. Look out!
Scott: Lots of ice cream on rice cakes! Chaw! Cabray: a container of icing (white, with little candies) and a box of spoons. Tortoise! Tom: R.C. Cola and mint life-savers. You look like a rat. Okay. A "love rodent!" write to Shandra and don't stretch out! Rob: Irish dancing, running (bare foot) in the rain, a new watch, and most of all.... NEINER! Joe: a whole head of braids! You stooopid.... Virginia: cool quasimodo sheets and Power-ade! Patricia: Beatles stuff. A new face for the green Sprite. Amy: AMY! (I have to sit next to her again?) Lindsey: What? You were in the bathroom with you flute? And what? A screwdriver kit. Cheryl: card games in the lounge, and cool piggy slippers with everlasting batteries! Kate: real mail! Little baggies, matching shoes, that dumb part in orchestra that I can't play! I was supposed to be on your floor! Neenie peepers! Laura P: eat it like a Lizard! Angela: I have to pet the frog! Sidney: You're making a fool of me! Liz H: A clean room and a nap during music history, thanks for the dress! Rebecca: A green sprite during concert choir and Scott. (awww) Erica, Jen, Courtney, Amanda, Liz J., Lauren, Wendy, Dena, Meredith, Kelly and everyone else, I love you! See you next summer!

I, Susan Dodge, leave to Julie: Conrad and his wonderful barrettes, don't ever forget Rob and capricious (covered in mayonnaise) or Orpheus in the underwear or how about swimming with Mike and Jeff! Meghan N- the pro diver or the plumber in concert orchestra, Sister Act, Neccos. To Dena: all the nutri-grain bars in the world-you'll need them for breakfast! Fuzzy Rug mascot! Little talks at night, an alarm clock that really works, a wallet protector that keeps all your money safe, an intercom system with Megan L so you can talk instead of knocking on the wall, and a flash light that really turns off when you press the button, pixie sticks, and toothpaste-catch. To Shannon I give smelly feet and socks on the back of her chair during an ensembles concert, cherry heads, pixisticks, soda cans, and a book that teaches people how to dive! To Amanda: I also leave Conrad, barrettes, Rob covered in mayonnaise (capricious) and Orpheus in the Underwear, a massage lesson, pizza, powerade, and don't forget diving at the pool with Jeff and Mike with Meghan the pro diver, and cranberries. To Meghan N: I leave a book on how to flip and dive, Conrad, barrettes, capricious, Orpheus in the Underwear and all the ice cream form the cafeteria on you forehead! To Meghan L: I leave an intercom system with Dena so you won't knock on the walls, a basketball, shoes that make you taller so you don't have to be a bird on the court, P.M.S? and whoever else you liked at camp. And don't ever forget the toothpaste-catch. To Maria and Becca: I leave mint chocolate ship ice cream- a life lasting supply! Cheez- it's LEMON, and cheese popcorn- we never stole it did we Becca! Back dives and tips from the so-called pro Meghan N. To the rest of the fourth floor girls: thanks for the best time. Don't forget food fests, sleepover, and fun for the rest of your live.

I, Liz Monk, leave the following to: Liz H.- a great name, plaid pajama bottoms, stupid square feet, two braids, a new laugh, a new button to push, a different kind of nail polish, all of my Liz original shirts, band-aids off my pants, a new pen for your board, all of the nights spent in front of someone's T.V., Triscuits, morning vision, a toothbrush you can find, a full length mirror, UNO, SPADES, CONTRAL B.S., a closet with doors, drawers that open, an easy way up to my bed, more room on the floor, a big towel to lie on, and a new FRICKIN' ALARM!! To Beth L.- A wasted world, a foot to stomp on, field hockey stick and an Apple, all the candy I stole, animal crackers, a large can of bug spray,and all eight bars, a closet you don't have to destroy, used tissues, shots of nasal spray, RedDog, Miller, Bud,Forrest Gump, and outfit you can put on and LIKE! Soap in your eyes, a scolding from a counselor, and a big fast, quick page turn. Bethany H.- BILLY JOEL, a new smell in your room and friends with a life. Wendy C- Our new friend (tone deaf girl), our great master class, all the bowings in the world, a smelly fart in orchestra, all the tic tac toe games in concert choir, peeling face, perfume, the absolute, awesome, alliteration, a dress that grows, the salvation army, hair dye. Gabby K.-a new way to turn around. Vanessa- Outward Bound and our lyrics to the opera. Annemarie- Parts from ZuZu's. Meredith- $30. Emily-A night of laughter about our two favorite people. Amity- Japan. Christina- Our spying mission. Sang-Eun- a half-eaten ice cream cone, a big bowl of spaghetti and all the stress free days in the world. Virginia- a nice day of bowings. Kate- the sheets I peed on. Kelly- nice big bouncy hair. HaNa- a fun name to yell. Emerald- 2 hours of sleep. Jane- a bow to stick up your nose. Amanda- a nice seat behind the curtain in symphony. Heather- something you're not allergic to. The girls next door- knocking on the wall. Sam & Dan- paper flowers. Cheryl- funky drawings. Addie- Pizza and swing dancing, and the walker! Cabray- all your sister's clothes and the quarters from your laundry basket. Joe P.- a nice name to grunt. Brian & Dave- a nice nap in theory.

I, Liz Roberts, leave to Rachel- hope you had a wonderful reunion with your towel. Sonja- lots of catnaps. Liz- YAWN! Holly- FDP! Parentheses, and lots of chocolate to hyper on. Mana-the helocirapter is bakana. I hope you've realized that you rock at saw! Love ya! Phil- some awesome staring contests, "excuses, excuses" (SLAP!) You are an awesome composer. I'll miss you! Kristen- baboing (k), waboosh, mutual interests: PM, SP, OJ, MJ (AHH!), "What the hell is that? I'm not going to eat that!", DM's wrath!, Bambi, "she played with her eyelashes", sop. II, laundry disasters, lavener, shorts, snip-snip girl, achoo! (germ), helocirapter lives!, coffins, telepathic conversations, beginning theory, "wait....what was that?" Thanks for being there. Let's not let a half-hour come between us. I love you. To the gang: (Phil, Brad. Emily, Kristen, Chris, Mary, Sonja, Katie, Kara, Rachel, Lisa, Gabe, Liz, and Dan)- You guys are the greatest Thanks for the numerous hilarious meals. I will miss you all so much. Thanks for a great month!

I, Ashley Kowaleski, or mind and body, leave the following things to the named persons: Maria- black nail polish and annoying parents. Anna- say hi to Aunt Dot for me. Meaghan- watch out- you never know who could be lurking behind the closet. Ha, Ha! Sam- Nightmare on Elm Street. Maria- Julie, Susan, Shannon, and anyone I forgot- red lights. Dana- knee-high stockings. Robin-Fat Butt!

I, Jamie Siegel, do hereby bequeath the following things to the following people: Tamara- purple eyes and red hair,trillions of games of "spit", "Shawn the pizza guy", and a lifetime supply of cashews and Hershey bars. Jenn- an acting camper, things that clash, ordering out, mint chocolate chip and cookies 'n cream, millions of "addresses", a camera with a flash, and "red fro's with green bows. Abigail- enough time to finish dinner, a backpack with two straps, a new accent, and many years of vocal jazz to come. Chloe- the candy room, the hackey sack meeting place, "Mr. Good Year Bars", the remaining "roadkill", and a clarinet to practice on. Kristen- flute ensembles, laughing fits, flute mishaps, and being hyper. Cabray- successful flute ensemble rehearsals and non-communicative playing time. Emily- the second flute part in "Gigue", and talks about two people who shall remain nameless. Sarah- one-and-two-and-three-and-four-and, correct dynamic markings, and a bunch of lying cheats! Finally I offer everyone my love, friendship, and leave the memories of the good times we've shared this summer. -Many more to come!

I, Kelly Ledwith leave Maria R- the clarinet duet. Shannon- Adam Sandler. Anna P- the long ensembles concert. Megan L- the basketball games. Rebecca L- all the mint chocolate chip ice cream. Susan D- the teeter-toter at Wilber Park, "floor time", quick let's get out of here. Peter M- the Wilber Park basketball game (By the way, you're too tall). Julie Z. & Susan D- Pixy sticks.

Holly Althouse- anything I've ever left in the practice rooms, talking about a certain someone, ater bottles, a half scoop of ice cream you fat pig! Upasha! Holly W- left over junk food, guys that you supposedly don't like anymore, yeah right, stop denying it!, cheesy Seventeen magazine quizzes, wonder bread dresses. Kate- bagels, macaroni and cheese, letters that take 3 days to write that are never mailed, conduction, scary siblings, letters to teachers, strange guys I've gone out with, good pictures of me, Chuck and Joanna. Kristen- a tiny piano bench, I won't rush, really!, switching parts, Chinese food a week old, conducting, forte forte forte!, taking pictures. Virginia- sight reading, and you know who! Brian- the lounge with all the mosquitos you can kill, a whole couch, making me laugh, I'm going to take your pizza, next year I can stay up an hour later, waving from the car, you look about 4 years old, I know I'm a brat but you love me anyway, you know it. Dave- are you positive ice cream doesn't turn you on? Courtney- intermediate piano, my blue polka dot dress. Tom- thanks for everything!, Don't do anything you'll regret in a practice room, old girlfriends you don't like anymore, back rubs. Rob- I don't like guys, really!, Morgan- I'm so confused about...you know, snorting, walks at 6 o'clock in the morning, I'm so sorry, my heart. Liz- hanging out in your room after lunch, newgit!, soft baby butt cheeks. Beth- conducting class, concert choir, the elevator. Liz & Beth- any clothes you want. I'm your roommate, I just live next door. I love you both dearly, knocking on the wall at night. Jordanna- all the good times we'll have. Eating my food, practicing in the room, cool dresses from Earth Traders. I love you! Yuko- squirrels, games with Kate and Kristin, anything in Japanese. Sunny- you're crazy!!!, writing my name in Japanese, sightreading class. Yuko & Sunny- I love you both so much! Allison- burping, all the good times we'll have, I know we'll be good friends! Jen- blue nail polish?, Can I have it back? Jen & Erika- we've been friends along time, all the good times we've ever had. You both rock!! Erin- breakfast, intermediate piano, anything else you want, Don't cry, red eyes are not cool! And to anyone I may have forgotten- know that I love you all so much & I look forward to summer because of you guys. See you next year!

I, Leslie Larson bequeath the following memories to my friends: To Mary (with the Allen, of course) Emily, and Liz- pie, sugar, and caffeine; To Phil- my scary faces and my explosive attitude; To Katy and Dan- Crazy Mary and the scary health mobile lady; To Ben Holmes & my roommates- my burps; To Liz- laughing at our quarreling roomies and more dreams of apples; To Joe D. - a sorry and a hug; To Chris- the coolness of the Master; To Eric S.- Concert Band and the know-how for using a pencil; To Jennine- laughs, tears, moths, and cookie dough (as well as all the other food); number 10 for anyone who knows what that means; To Matt Heath- NOT SARCASTIC vs. SARCASTIC; To Counselor Joe- U Hartt and CT gear; To Minitria- great times joking about you-know-who; To Dan M.- evil looks and punches (maybe a good-bye too); To Virginia- being a great sister; To Mary- conducting; To Angela- L'Angela; To Mana- I leave hugs, tears, and talks about guys who cause pain; To Kristen- I leave brownies made from scratch; To everyone of my friends, my love and thanks for such great friendships.

I want to leave everyone funky times and funky music; for it's a great gift that we all have. As musicians, we have the power of making people laugh, cry, and inspiring. Respect, preserve, and carry on the tradition of music.

God is Good,
God Bless,
Benjamin Levitt

I, Elissa Martins, leave Corey and Lynne the triple's door, "Busted, you are now in violation of lights out"!, A red frowning face for cleanliness, "I VACUUMED!", Lynne's after the matter laughing, Chinese food, the Goatie Man, a good session of improv; for Corey, a flute dager more feminine than mine, my obsessions over ssssesssesss, Lynne's "I miss Tim," and stalkerboy; I leave Sarah- Corey's wardrobe, an extra bed in our room, an "ooh can I wear this?", a broken pair of sandals, a hour wrap that stays in and a kiss on the cheek; Lynne- a hole to fill and a "stopit"; Larissa- man #Z's up and down eyes, style of the year award, clueless quotes, and a refrigerator for her snapple; Margaret- her many smooshies, a black B, a real piercing job, a skirt that is too long and a good hair day; Chris, Jared, and Ryan an "EEWW!!", "I want your body", those interesting phone conversations, amawalk, the sticks and KFC night; Jeannine- a silent improv class, another comment from turd boy, two silver clips, "you make me feel like a natural woman"; Dena- Sun In, a hair dryer, blondie, an orgasmic massage, "let's hang out at the JV mall" skipping to the dorm, a B, "I want him!", breath mints and concert choir laughs; Conrad- a hot date back to the dorm; Issac- the ACRABA

I, Annemarie Edmonds, bequeath and dedicate the following to the following: To Cabray-- my best friend, I lace a memorable amount of years still to come with our friendship. I leave you life, laughter, and the passion to fulfill what you do best. I love you, Cabes! To Alex-- I leave you that talent you possess and your sweet disposition which has strengthened our friendship over this summer. To Michael V.B.-- I leave you some obscure instrument so you won't have to play 27 hours a day. I also leave you continuous happiness with your music and Beth, both of which have brought about life within you. To my first floor compadres-- I leave you UNO games, Zu Lu's (Zu Zu's?), Ithaca, Halloween, Olympics in Kate's room, and far off boyfriends. To Ben H.-- I leave you a lifetime full of strength, happiness, and an everlasting love for what you do best. My heart goes out to your talent in music and your overall love for life. To the entire festival, I dedicate my adoration for music and the life and laughter it has and always will bring to us.

HaNa Chang leaves:
Jane Sung- my thanks (lots of'em) for helping me out in the beginning and plenty of bugspray to kill all the silverfish; Stephanie Reiher- lots of bananas for your Nutella and my thanks for being there for me to talk to; Jerry Sam- "leave them drums alone!", my astrology book, double-fisted eating, and many great conversations; Minitria Slade- "MINITRIA!" and a flower from the Jolly Green Giant; Melissa Leonard- Mozart's Symphony in D (the fourth movement) and some peach fuzz; Phil Spaeth- "Phil... THE MAN!" and "Danny Boy"; Liz Jansen- a practice room that James O'Sullivan (or anyone, as a matter of fact) cannot kick you out of; Mana Higashi- lots of Chinese food and the Japanese suffix for a girl; Penny Shima- "SMILE!"; Ben Levitt- "Jimmy Smith Black Smith" ('nuff said); Matt Bejune and Ellen Exner- some crack to smoke during our Reinecke rehearsals; Sacha Phelps- plenty of sleep so you don't walk into the Commons looking confused... and some Korean food; Joe Petrocelli- my fall and slip on the floor; leslie Larson- your name sung by Bora; Lauren Orth- some chestnuts roasting on an open fire, my stubbed toe to show you that making a fool out of yourself isn't so bad, and lots of good MooShoo Chicken; Jessica Snarr- a "hello" from Bora; Dan Mintzer- a rock to throw a t you-know-who; Vinnie Sperazza- "Captain Timbale!"; Jeff Didzick- thanks for lending me your mallets- you're the best- by the way, Mr. Biava said we can leave now; Eric Sacher- my permission to beat Brian up; Brian Vance- plenty of quarters to dry your clothes, late night talks, lots of shared laughs and memories, a tap on the shoulder, and my love; 1st Floor Smith Women Counselors, CIT's, and Campers- thank you so much for a great summer... Allegro's and Gold's for everyone's rooms... my name for Liz Monk, Liz Haines, and Beth LaBella... a toothbrush for Bethany Heller... and Heather Daniels- clean up your room and get off the phone (just kidding) Anyway, thanks, everyone... I'll miss you. Keep in touch!
Jayme.

Jayme's will. Jayme's will goes something like this: To Michelle, my awesome roommate for two weeks- it's just not a half-way thing, unless its five after nine and a half. Wait let me close the door for you. You got to eat dinner with him? I missed it?! WooWoo! Who's the hottie? I know everything on the list is ... where. Gross! This pizza has frostbite. It's okay though, I wanted to see his butt, Beet. Toehead. We're going to go running tomorrow, I swear. Buttered popcorn ricecakesreally are made out of corn. I can't believe it. Let's have a picinic on my rug again sometime after we rearrange our room at midnight, of course. To cheesyballs, (ha ha, guess who that is), I leave my makeup, all the guys who don't understand lined up about to be shot in the crotch, and all all the oddballs in the middle- Sprite, Dr. Pepper, and, uh, Diet Pepsi. wait, this is the men's bathroom, not the stairwell! Don't worry, I'll still be you're friend next year if I see you, but pretend not to. To Meredith I leave a spaced out walk, and all the guys you've ever liked. Erica, I hope you had a good year at camp. Chuck, don't forget to call me Jim. Christina, I leave you a lot of goldfish on the floor and the trophy, because, no, you're the ---. To Justin I leave girls who are more like Southern bells, and one final "No, you don't understand. It's not like that. If you say anything I'll hate you forever." To Emily, that tarts a bit I'm sorry I left you, I've been having a fad day. Have a fart! Rebecca, eat a bagel! Maybe I'll shove some ice cream down your throat. Just kidding. I'm sorry I gave you so much trouble this year. You're a sweety. To Amy, I leave a triple with three people in it, and lots of hot guys from Monroe. Tom, thank you for listening to me complain. I really did have fun at camp. And last, but certainly not least, Kim, I know you'll feel special to be in my will even though you're not here this year. (That craps the house) To anybody I left out I leave my sincere appologies. I must have veed delirious from all the happy hartwick memories. Oh my God! somebody come look! I have a mark on my neck from playing the viola! What's up with that?

I, Kate Tice, in this my last will and testament lovingly leave glitter to Shoshona, fluff and scarves to Mary, nymphs to Jen, cello lessons to Greer, choreography to Chelsea and Eric, flowers and Pringles to Sarah and Melissa, weights to Raina, 'sounds of the 70s' to Addie, everything to Jess, mixed nuts and owls to Suzanne, the year was ... to Matt, the argos, phantom, and love forever to Raphie, 1861 to Brett, 1865 to Brian, a dictionary to Marky, antidisestablishmentarianism to Anthony, groove to men 1-5, Chairs to Virginia, spit to Joe, Handel runs to Jessica, attitude to Brad, perfection and age to Erika, Quasi sea-sickness to women's choir, chop to Scott, whiskey to Dave, "piano bench built for two" to Momo and Susan, a wedding invitation to Angela, doilies to Alicia, God and Dave to Laurice, smiles to Yuko and Sunny, fashion-sense to Emily, tapes to Bonnie, endurance to Natalia, Barbie to Lindsey, Dumber to Courtney, my earring to Valerie, $5 to Chrissy, Emily Dickenson to Ester, and love and friendship to all my Van Ess babes!

I, Gabrielle Elan Kopf, leave the following to the following:

Vanessa: a clean room and a bright musical future, thunderstorms

I, Lindsey M. Karp, leave...Van Ess to all of the people who were scared to go inside of it.
...my secrets, laugh, humor, nail polish, money , tarot readings, and a place in my heart for Courtney
...clogs and trident to Angela
...Concert Choir jokes and hysteria to Rachel and Katie
... my hyperness to the Van Ess posse (you cool ones know who you are)
...Improv to my improv crew and Jeremy
... a heart-throb to Patricia
... Greer, glitter, paper towels, hair dye, round fruit, and our resident psycho to Chelsea, Mary, Jen, and Shoshi.
... Jazz, a magenta face, dreamy eyes, a shorter tie, my sweetness, betterness, my sisterly love, and a great hand massage to Ben Holmes.
...Double and triple tonguing to Maggie, Denise, and all the other annoying people who bugged me about it.
... a crazy laugh to Emily Chow who should watch who she spits at.
... A "sensitive yet macho" guy and chocolate twizzlers to Annemarie.
... A concert and my real name to Chrisse.
... And my pamphlets to whoever needs to read them.

I, Rachel Cama, leave to:
Erin Fehn- I leave you concert orchestra music (Go practice it!) and a mute for your cello. Liz Jansen- A bottle of soy sauce so you can drink it whenever you are thirsty. Melissa Leonard- Beethoven's 7th Symphony, memories of Stravinsky's Firebird and better luck with your life in the future. Chris Gilbert- the ability to compose music that looks pretty on staff paper (I'll never forget those weird looking eighth notes, but your music is great!). Patty Garmirian- breakfast at 7:30 am when smart people are sleeping. Mana Higashi- my love and luck (especially with music). Robert Jacobs- chinese food. Sonja Kassal- one day when I pronounce your first name correctly. Kristen Piangozza- your own flute and a fingering chart, more sleepovers. Liz Roberts- my ex-roomate: I still love you! Oh, I have a screen this year! Christina Ciraulo- my "ssssting-stop" and one morning when I don't have to wake up at 6:45 am... thanks, you've been a great roomate. Phil Spaeth- my long, thick hair so you can make a wig out of it and wear it, a hug, and luck with your composing. Kara Waugh- another purple rock (on a key chain) that has power to heal anything. So sorry your other one broke. Erica Weiss- a gummy worm to replace the one that I ate. Betsy Williams- colored orthodontic rubberbands. Peter Cama (my loving brother): practice time, and the sports sandals that I gave to you but Mom brought to me (they are still in my room). Leslie Larsen- a new middle name because you don't like the one we share. Heather Daniels- Ensemble memories, oh you can have Drew also. Penny Shima- 1st Bassoon solos in concert orchestra. To my cellist friends- a big white case with skate board wheels. Any people who I forgot can take what ever is left!

Ryan Darling's last will and testament:

To Ben Holmes- a war fought on two fronts
To Raphael Kasen- a nice wolf shirt
To Matt Bejune- fun with hand-stops on Symphonic Band
To Mana Higashi- nicknames like "Mana Gram" and "Maana Theistic"
To Ilze Brink-Button- more thanks than you can possibly imagine
To Brian Wilson- Thanks for all your help and support
To Leslie Larson- Rides to P&C and Biting sarcasm
To Jeremy Manasia- great pasta and a request for piano lessons!
To Bonnie Wagner- a box of Bon-Bons
To Scott "Guido" Franco- an "Oh Yeah!" and an "Alright!"
To Anyone I may have forgotten- my friendship forever

I, Brad "Brad Gillet" Gillet leave the following:
To Gabe Struck I leave replacements for the Gabe Cookies and a video camera to record him while he sleepwalks
To Dan Block, I leave an outstanding day rating and unlimited access to Sal's and Chinese
To Will Buck and Penny Shima ($1.01) I leave apologies for all of the stupid puns made out of their names.
To Kara Waugh, I leave one question, "Waugh?"
To Sonja Kassal, I leave a loud "bark" and a growl as well as a shepard's "Hey!"
To Ladie Kester, I leave a big "naval," the tears from my yawns and the ice cream chills
To Chris Gilbert, I leave a fun game of anti-social man tipping"
To Liz Janzen, I leave the tightest security from any outside pregences that may be threatening to your health or that of any other
To Emily Chow, I leave a "dude" detector to help her cut down on that "dude" thing
To Brian Vance, I leave a Power-aid that I don't want
To Joe Petrocelli, I leave more observations of the typical Oneonta citizen and a new Nintendo game
To Lisa Perlson, I leave some way to stay awake in conducting class
To Mary Allen, I leave with her meal card and key

To Kristen Piangozza. I leave a stave that will not fail to make her laugh
To Liz Roberts, I leave a bucket of Kristen's tears
To Melissa Leonard, I leave more discussions about jewish traditions
To Mana Higashi, I leave "Muppet Man" Didhoccio's Pen shooter and 82% coolness
To Leslie Larson, I leave a piano bench for sleeping in conducting
To Rachel Cama, I leave a motor and a pair of waterskiis for use with that cello case
To Matt Heath, I leave payment for all of those phone calls
To Phil Spaeth, I leave the opposite of what I left last year, from early morning to late night, when we say things that make no sense, thus I leave Garfield's lasagna, termites, ka-ka-poo-poo, matchbox cars 20 feet up from Grandma's house, and of course a spontaneous dance step.
To all of those that I have somehow or another seemed to have left out of this will, I leave my charm, happiness, and a promise that one day, maybe not today, maybe not tomorrow, may be not this year, room #413, the lair of Dan, Gabe, and I will not, I repeat, will NOT smell like dirty feet and body odor, nor will it look like the Oneonta recycling center (if they have one). For it will be clean, yes CLEAN, and it will smell like beautiful flowers!! Because today is our Independence Day!!

I, Robert Jacobs, leave the following to my friends: Cheryl- weird faces, 3 washers and 3 dryers, Spit. Angela P- a bagel with turkey and extra mayo, the art of intimidation, disgusting food interpretations. Mana- Ha-Ha-Ha-Ha-Ha, I'm not kidding you. Tom- busrides with Laura, phone calls after lights our, aftershave, looking down on Intermediate Jazz Band, cool-guy look. Morgan- normal roommates, letters from your pets, quick slapping in Egyptian Rat Screw. Kristen- Neiher, easier Symphony music. Jessica- subscribe, basically, mish-mash I like to call it. Michaela- 5 years of 8:00 classes and naps during Symphony performances, first seat. Christina- don't worry seating doesn't matter! Angela F- Sorry, extra noodles, Brian. Susan- OK Fine, no mushy or clanky piano. Kate- You're from Iowa?! Crissa- Dave Emily- lysdexia Tony- bad viola players. Lindsay- Denise. Rachel- french fries with vanilla pudding. Laura- pinches during Canadian Brass. Dave- elevator chairs.

I, Melissa Fay Leonard leave the following to my beloved friends:
Minitria- more spirit, strong and spirituoso playing and lots of fun in ensembles, concert choir fun
Mana- great jazz concerts, when you were in them; a cleaner mouth,long talks about our Hauppauge friend, Meleeesa.

Jennine- my third roommate, lots of talks about Jay.
James O- a great partner, your little muppet friend, and by the way my hair will come back
Paul- "Yummy" conversations, a beating during my prayers, Dr. Seuss- the sexual interpretation
Brian- lots of talks about Cleveland, an oblivious friend, a dumb haircut,a smack on the head, icky mightness, a good friend through tough times
Lisa and Katie- an alarm clock that actually wakes you up, a working vacuum, Paul Simon, Frente, U2, great times with our loner roommate
Liz J.- A Canadian flag, an Oneonta admirer, lots of mail, lots of practice time, a Canadian Brass member that's actually Canadian!
Penny- I miss Parrett! Running, Track, Cross Country, an injury-free year, a comfortable ankle support, D.F.'s symphonic music, serious talks, 20 minute 5K's (Hopefully)
Will- endless hours of harmonic analysis, less music to practice, good runs.
Gabrielle- the breakfast club, a great solo, at least you get a cool stand partner, Itsak moved in, good luck with the Carmen.
Tammy- talks about Brian, Rob Elder at 3:00 AM
HaNa- a fuzzy peach, a guy who's not mean, could use some caffeine in conducting Rachael- a good ensemble, wish you were in Chamber, my best camper friend

I, Lisa Perlson, do hereby leave things to the following people:
Angela F- noodles, freedom from you-know-who, Mana- lots of rain, swing dancing, a permanent seat in lab jazz Dave D- garbage Rob- "no, we are not brother and sister", the glissando part from my quartet, "I'm lydesic" a flying umbrella. Tom- hair grease Phil- my hair. Liz J- a practice room in Fraggle Rock, "out, around, sorry, etc." Liz R- a hug from you-know-who, jello. Kristen P- a seat in the middle of the table. Kara W- a laughing star. Sonja- meow. Brad- a jog up the stairs to concert choir. Chris G- the straightest back at Hartwick. Mary Allen- a new key ring (don't let anyone steal it). Emily C- "Yo dude, check this out" Leslie- pie. Cheryl- shoes, pineapple pizza. Joe D- announcements that never get in. Morgan- soda can tabs. Michaela- a smack when you fall asleep. Peter M- a door to hold open. Racheal C- a seat in Chamber Orchestra Katie L- a cow Steph- "aaooo" (howling noise), an awesome quartet, crack. Christina S- the most eccentric quartet ever at Hartwick. Holly and Gabrielle- a singing trio. Sally- a sailor hat. Alex Kelly- perfect sautier bow stroke. Minitria- more spirit. The Gang- lots of great times and more to come. I love you all.

OK. Here's my will: I, Erica Weiss, (or Sperm) hereby do some stuff as follows. OH, yeah, and I'm, like, sound of body and mind or some such nonsense. To Tom, the Luu Rodent, I leave an aquaintance for him, and an awesome back rub. Natalia, all the cool talks we had. You're a great friend. To Dave A., G... Yes, 2 please (and an s...on the rocks with a twist, make it a double; I feel lucky). To Jen, thanks for everything, roomie. Incomiming! To Rebecca, stop staring at me!, a menu from Friendly's and all the fun we had. To Laura C., too many inside jokes to count. Give my loce to Kraft and Stouggers. To Ryan F., I leave backrub and a girlfriend, whichever comes first. To Jared, A Blue Moon baby. To Skott (guido), I leave a big hug, a smile, and a purr. You are my most favorite-ist person in the whole world. And, finially, Chris M., What can I say? I love you more than you'll ever realize, and when I figure out why, I'll let you know. Don't forget your Sperm, and keep in touch. To Everyone I love and I couldn't name I leave way funny walks, spaz attaks, Om Sean!, CHAW, Bring in the sheep, don't worry, I'm invisible, hugs, kisses and plenty good room. See y'all next year! Love ya!

I, Angela Fenwich, leave Van Ess- I love you all. Jen Stringer- unmarried men, ARSOB, Haste thee Nymph. Shoshana- Valium, Techno music. Valerie- free pass to the emergency room. Gabe- a pole. James Wong- "Man on floor" Mary- "Angela". Chelsea- scary movies. Greer- "I miss you) Mary Allen- a sign that says watch out for brick walls. Dadan- a new CD collection. Mona- dancing lessons.

I, Rachel Hertzberg, leave these sacred things to these special people:
To Katie: recordings of ---'s laugh that will last forever; a book by me, dedicated to you called: The Stupidest Things One Could Possibly Laugh At; A little pass that lets you go back in time and remember your friend's birthday because you felt so badly about it. Thanks for everything- You're a real great friend.
To Peter: Earplugs for the dinner table so you won't have to hear all those gross conversations. A classic Jazz Album, but instead of words all they would say is "Foodily Foo?" Bye Peter! K.I.T.

To Jennine: Jay; Fatal Attraction; a never ending supply of real food that you can eat with out getting sick; a tasty dinner on me! Your former shaved haircut that you loved so much! Ten-inch heels so don't feel short and we can be the same height at the dance- You're a true friend. keep in touch- I'll see you next year? I hope maybe your parents won't have to force you this time.
To Angela: Unlimited amount of manicures- 1 free nail polish from me! More beads and string- (even those Chinese ones that cost $4 each!); a book on proper mealtime etiquette, and all the Pop-Tarts and Saltines you could ever want!
To Joe: anti-farting spray; a tape of me saying, "Joe" so you you son't miss me when you go to Hartt. Some Tevas that fit: Thanks Joe, You're a good friend. Have fun at college. I'll miss you!
and last but not least, to Jessica: $ for a hot dog that you need. Your baby elephant that you abandoned. Pockets in you gym shorts so you don't have to put your money in your underwear; (Ha! Now EVERYONE knows!) the things that Dad found in your suitcase, but this time he won't find them. A seat in the highest orchestra or band here of your choice.
I'll miss you all!

Love, Rachel

I, Christina Sprague, leave:
The Entire Van Ess posse: fun laughs and wonderful friendships; Lindsay: The Fred Mills Concert; Valerie: sickness and injury; Gabe: a solo with any professional orchestra; Laurice: "Dangish, honey!"; Angela: STALKER BOY!; Virginia Rogers: BOWINGS!; Sang-Eun: 1/2 eaten ice cream cone, pb+j+b sandwiches and John; Wendy and Liz: plastic rings and photo booth pictures; Steph: laundry room chats, music in a stairway (is your viola okay?); James Wong: "Man on Floor!"; Shoshana: Techno!; Chelsea: popcorn and wierd movies; Mary: hair!; Greer: "We miss you!"; Sunny: Ice Cream (2 scoops); Yuko: "You go, Yuko!"; To all my quartets: "I love you guys!"; Robert: "seating doesn't matter."; Finally to Jen: candles, 2am wake up calls, round fruit, ARSOB, Binky, whipped cream fights, laughs, happiness, sadness, some unmarried men, "A Heinous apparition From Hell", "Haste Thee Nymph", "Who? Rusted Root?", and memories that will last a lifetime. I love you all.

The Last Will and Testament of Andy Weber
To Eric Sacher my roommate, I bequeath a color TV, food, my Absolut ads, luck in a card game and a better roommate.
To Tammy Finn, I bequeath mew sandals, a shopping spree, a Gremlin, a flannel that you will wear, a new clarinet, sleep, food, a phone call, a growth spirt and everlasting happiness.

To Matt Lupo, I bequeth a clean T-shirt, breakfast, a shower, a new brain and a really stupid conversation.
To Jane Grover, I bequeth tacky clothes, a scarf, socks, a new noise and other stuff that's too disgusting to write about on this page.
To Lisa Grimmer, I bequeth new sandals, a thesaurus and a decent role in Music Theatre.
To Matt Heath, I bequeth a decent hockey stick, a guitar, ownership of Souther Lightning, a new smile and one big, "Oh yeah!"
To Joe Petrocelli, I bequeth Wal-Mart and lead trumpet in a major Big Band.
To Gabrielle Kopf, I bequeth a million violin, more siblings and a "perfect" life.
To Penny Shima, I bequeth a painless run, a new bassoon, a long talk, a smile, a psychologist and a first aid kit.
To all of my "siblings" not mentioned here I bequeath, anything that you've told me you've ever wanted.
To any of my friends I forgot, I'm sorry. You can just have everything that I didn't bequeath to someone. To all, have a great year.

I, Jay Fettig, leave
To Caren O- Bawls- have a great year; you play beautifully.
To Ben F- Word, Son- Keep practing little man, or you'll be sitting second for the rest of your life- have a great year, clarinet boy! You're going to make it- study hard
To Sudzy Dudzy- I'm not leaving you anything, you little twerp!
To Shoshanna- Aw, yeah girl- keep up the attitude and the signing... you're beautiful.
To Joanna- hot tubs and some of the best oboe playing I've ever heard
To Cabray- have a blast in New Hampshire and watch out for all those hick-boys... I'm just warning you. Good Luck (keep playing!)
To Domingos- Socrates says "One must only keep the hands focused to the center of the face to succeed..." You've got lots of talent in your little body (and I guess some passion, too!) Have a blast with the corpse at NEC... be a sponge.
To Adam- I hate this stupid party anyway. I don't think I made it through one concert without laughing... "Blessed, blessed be the..."- Never mind.
To Stage Crew- Never, ever, ever again.
To Mr. Malcolm W. Rowell- what a wonderful relief it was to see you... I look forward to the fall more than ever... I love UMass because of you.
To Frank and Florie- You guys are great... It's about time I got to be with some clarinetists who play like they care!

To Jeff- It was nice for us to get closer this summer- I know you've got what it takes- and you know I don't say that about many people- good luck at Rice!
To Ellen- I'll see you in Hell.
To Dave Soto- You know, for one of Paynter's boys, you sure do have an ego! Hopefully I can come to the city, so you can help me with that!
To Dave R- It was a pleasure signing with you and making fun of everything from hyphens to gospel cheese. ("Hoo! - Ameeeeenn!")
To everyone else- so what if I'm a disgusting jerk, It was fun, wasn't it?! Later.

I, Penny Anne Shima, leave for one sixth time, my memories for you to enjoy. (Note- you is used for everyone!!) They are hidden, sparkling with life, somewhere in the depths of this campus in long-forgotten corners, on stairwells, with people, in rehearsals, in concerts, and in time. They are memories that have been created because of NYSMC, NYSMC&I, and HCSMF&I. This is a special place where for six beautiful summer weeks, though time passes quickly, it stands still. Today becomes tommorrow, yesterday molds into last year and... well... it is all very special. Thank you for the memories, for welcoming me back, for allowing me to spend time with your awesome greatness. Thank you for teaching me about the mysteries of music, and the unexplaniable joy. Thank you for teaching me to be myself, to take the initiative and explore what I was put here to create. Thank you for allowing me to create memories with unexpectable and unforgettable experiences (Irish dancing and Z's 75 miles an hour?!) I have here learned invaluable lessons that can not be taught out of any proper textbook, but the textbook of life, experience and practice. Thank you for six years of uncontrolled learning- I only wish I could absorb more than I am presently able. What I have learned here I will remember and cherish forever- thank you... learning is forever. Thank you for teaching me what music is- that I have to figure that out for myself, and what my goals are. I will hopefuly some day in the near future be able to pass on my valuable knowledge thanks to you, for you have taught me that I can do as you do, teach. Thank you all faculty, counselors, CITs and students of yesterday, today and tommorrow. You have given me something I will never ever be able to thank you for with two dimensional words in multi-dimensional universe. You have given me music. I thank you and will love you all forever. They may take away anything, but they can never take away my memories of Hartwick or of you. (Warning I can't spell in any language!)
Vous me manquerez.

I, William Buck, leave the following gifts in my last will and testament: a great big recital hall to rehearse in for Julian Rosse, Joe Petrocelli, Mike Van Buren, Rachael Hetzberg and Dave Saltzman. An alarm clock set for 5:55 for Dan Lewis, a pasta dinner at Hal Janks' for Vanessa Reynolds, and a bottle of glue for Jeff Castle (so you can fix the corks on your mute!). Reams of music with Italian tempo markings, not English, for Ellen Exner, a clarinet repair kit for Dan Block, and a pair of dry running shoes for Melissa Leonard. A chess board with little tiny pieces for Aaron Kaplan, a razor for Brian Vance, and hand-tied bow-ties for Shoshana Rahmani, Angela Petrocelli, and Cheree Winston. A healthy back (and legs, and arches) for Penny Shima, for a successful year of racing, and the occasional night of Irish dancing.

I, Tamara Finn leave behind the following items of rememberance to my HCSMF & I friends: PENNY- myelf shoes for the fourth year, a trip to K-Mart, a neat roommate, sparkly nailpolish, and a room closer to mine: LISA- sunbathing topless, eating without a napkin, skipping class, breadsticks, a massage, naked girl, and "Oh, Clarinetti Boy": GABBY- Pizza, a nap, Justin (by himself), a meal and/or bus trip without Dillon, my grey dress and "We're on a riser!": ANDY- a smile, some sleep, Symphonic Band and "It's my job to pick on you; I'm your big sister!": MANA- Flirting with boys, "Yeah, You're in Lab Jazz!", Sorry I'm a slop, and late night theory sessions; KATIE- "Rainbow Bright threw up on your legs!", "Let's switch from Advanced Theory to breakfast!": ALLISON- "Turn it off!", "I don't want to get up.", a nap (every day!), certain people barging into our room, facials, my great outfit, "You're such a winner!", sunbathing, "pinch-pinch", "Every day is an ugly day. This is Ugly Land.", blowdrying our hair in our underwear, Powerade, Code Q, and "I'm an angel. I could never think a mean thought. I'm not too vute!": HUGH- Ally's still on the phone, "I am not the devil!": KIERA- "Boys are bad. Throw rocks at them!", getting "someone" out of your room, protecting you from Brett, picking flowers, burning candles, incense, facials, painting your toenails, "DB is a geek!", sunbathing, trips to town, falling down the hill, throwing rocks in windows, partying with Johanna and Doty, screechy high notes, running through the halls in our towels, Binder Boys,falling up the stairs, Code Q, "pinch-pinch", and being devious: KYLE- You're bad!, naps outside Slade, Thanks for trying to help me with my problems, and a starry night: BRIAN- "Cheese! It's what's for Dinner!", all-night talks in the lounge, dancing on the patio, holding me upside down, "Stop looking through my shirt!", a new umbrella, tickling your neck, "Giggle for me, You're supposed to be ticklish!", tobasco sauce, "They're pointy today. They're only round when it's cold!", and memories of clouds in the mountains, groundhogs, and our picinic table, than you for all your help this summer. I don't know what I would have done without you. I love you, big brother: BEN- I'll always wait for you.

This is hopefully not the last will and testament of Ellen Exner... But be that as it may, I hereby leave unto the following people the following entirely useless things:

*First, to the 3rd floor women counselling/CIT staff- thank you for being patient while I learned the ropes. You are all unique and lovely people (Lisa Grimmer, I leave you a cup of coffee and to Cheree Winston- What, never?!)

*James O'Sullivan, for you I have a volume of Pushkin that can do wonders for lights out...

*Paul Musser, to you I leave a hug and a clock! Take good care of yourself.

*Jerry Sam, you are a truly beautiful person. I leave unto thee all the pizza you could want and the hope that your love of music inspires those whom you seek to teach. All the best to you.

*Eric Mihan... nice skirt! (freak broad!) I hereby bequeath unto thee Godzilla Movies, Buck Rodgers, lots of pizza, and a really good, exceptionally smelly cigar than you may smoke ELSEWHERE!

*Steph Reiher- "O Captain, My Captain" I leave you the answer... What was the question?!

*HaNa and Matt- "So I'm the one smoking crack!" You guys are wonderful. Let's do it again!

*Joanna Schwartz- Baby, you're the greatest Continue to love music as it loves you. You can do anything you want. Go for it, and never look back!

*Barbara Rothenberg- I wish we'd had more of an opportunity to make beautiful music together... Know what I mean?

*David Rothenberg- Music history geeks we are. I'll see you at a convention some day!

*Minitria Slade- I leave you a clean, wholesome magazine! Episcopalians rule!

Apologies and love to those whom i have left out. You are wonderful, warm, beautiful people. May your repective deities be benevolent unto you. Thanks for a memorable summer. Be excellent!

This is the last will and testament of, if I might be so posthulate one of the most somewhat dormitory and hibernitious Irishmen who in those brief hours of awakitude found time to bequeth the following. To Paul, MT 12 and confirmation that 'You are, You are!' always. To Hugh I leave my inability to excrete with the desired intensity at dawn and the year you deserve. To James Wong I leave the filling between the first and third Yummy! To Mark I leave the consecration of the 'Basilica di sanctus Markus Pawkettus Divinivus' it will stand erect for ever and you'll feel at come with its schoing cavernousness. To Dave I leave garlic and preserption beer-goggles, I know I sound like a Girl! To Gabrielle, The greatest stand partner since Alshakim, thanks for being the butt of my jokes and the card said it all. Take care. To Mike Van B. The ability to sleep when any crisis occurs and new lips. To Mike H. any inuendo that could ever be seen in Dr. Seuss. To Ellen 'you are my mother' I look forward to coffee. Jerry, You can move your own keyboards for the next nine months. To Lisa, I leave 'children's menus', the ability to slouch, slur your words and occasionally swear, and a dawn appointment with Big Red. To all the CITs, counselors, Faculty and Especially the Campers I leave wobbly stands and my thanks for one the the great summers. SLAN AGNUS BEANNACHT AGUS GO N-EIRI AN BOTHAR LIGH. Good luck and take care. PS Domigos we will go for our session.

I, James Wong, in this, the 50th Anniversay of the NYSMC&I and HCSMF&I, bequeth the folllowing things to the following people. I would like to start off by saying that July 18th will forever be remembered as St. Marks day, as we celebrated and rejoiced in the canonization of St. Markus Pawkettus. To Mr. O'Sullivan, I leave him all the pints he can consume, as quickly or slowly as he chooses, as well as a presidential pardon and total immunity for anything grim he might have done this summer. To Paul, I leave forever a full tank of gas and 24 hour access to MT12, whenever the beast is not in commission of course, as well as a fine box of Mr. Henry Clay. To Hugh, I leave him as much ash as he can get, don't stop get it get it, if you know what I mean. To Dave Rothenberg, I leave him an IV needle, and some more control over your actions. I also leave, him, in the spirit of the Olympics, a Gold Medal, for best DC ever. To Dave Wolfe, I leave him a fine Kenyan blend, an infinite supply of 60 minute tapes, and all the late night conversations we've had about 2:32, and the rest of them. And to the fearsome fivesome, the crew, you all know who you are, I leave you guys a pack of Big Red, and a day we will never forget. I love you guys

To anyone else I left out or forgot, my sincere apologies to all of you, for while I leave many things to many people, I will never leave behind the memories I have from all of you, and from this great place we call HCSMF&I.

I, Jeff "Sudzy Dudzy" Dudzick, leave the following stuff to a whole lotta freaky people: Mr. Adam Thorn- my malletKAT, an abused 7/8 bar, and an

"outta sight"; HaNa- those awesome green mallets, and "ll let you know when you have to play; Brett- I wasn't gonna leave you anything but I'll leave you a tighter knot for the cymbal handle; Mark- a big tub of ice cream dumped on your head, and a little rainbow slinky; "Al"- peace and friendship; Tony- a nice personality (you need it); Steph- "Hey Baby"; Dave- wuz shakin'?; Hugh- kool greetings; Lee- a sense of humor, and Appalachian Spring; Ryan- my impressionsof Brett, uncontrollable laughter, and "Hey NERD!"; Gabe Villa- the ability to flinch at will; Francis- my Gershwin CD; Adam W.- Firebird and a D.D.; Jason F.- perfect pitch; Jerry- Korg K-3; Scott- someone else's pudding; Julian- pancakes and eggs; Truitt- peanut butter fudge and 16th note triplets; Vanessa- a reed maker (Ooh!); Penny- the Symphonic Band setup; Gabrielle- a really cool pen; Lisa- my humor and crazy reactions to stupid things; Soren- a whole lotta thanks for everything, ear plugs, and please come back next year; Dave Soto- the World Encyclopedia of Instrumentalist Jokes; Dingomania- a shiny red fire truck; Matt Heath- I don't think you understand; Paul Musser- you ain't gettin' nothin' from me; Dillon- the seat next to me; Phil Spaeth- a big car stereo blasting Mozart; Ben Levitt- ching ching; Peter Kincaid- amth; James O'Sullivan-me; Dr. Z- 3...no 2...no 3 cups of hot water; Goldar the Enforcer- Star Wars; Michaela- a SPAC program; Caren O'Brien- my Will; and to anyone I didn't mention- sorry, but I couldn't fit it all in. See you next year!!!
