51st Season

August, 1997

On behalf of the Hartwick College Summer Music Festival & Institute administration, I extend warm greetings to all.

The 51st season can be described as a time of extraordinary music making coupled with wonderful fellowship. We have indeed launched into a new era of artistic excellence and our program has taken on the characteristics that personify a true summer music festival. The 51st season was marked by an incredible number of special events. Some of the most memorable moments of the summer, listed in chronological order, included a one week residency and concert with Erez Ofer, concertmaster of the Philadelphia Orchestra, hearing the Hartwick Trio perform the complete Shostakovich Trio which they recently played at Carnegie Hall, the Fourth of July celebration with the Bull Dog Brass Society, the workshop with the Western Wind Vocal Ensemble, the workshop at Hartwick and performance at Cooperstown of Rossini's L'Italiana in Algeri with the Glimmerglass Opera, the special Chamber Orchestra performance of various trumpet concertos with Fred Mills and the Bull Dog Brass trumpet players, the Hartwick Trio and Festival Jazz Ensemble performing at the Bellayre Music Festival, the two-week residency of the Girls Choir of Harlem, the Swiss Youth Orchestra concert, the masterclasses, Brass Spectacular Concert, and concertos with our performing ensembles with the principal brass players of the New York Philharmonic and Fred Mills; the masterclasses of Jeffrey Kahner of the Philadelphia Orchestra, Lorna Myers of the Metropolitan Opera, and Howard Aibel of New York Concert Review; the trip to Saratoga to hear Sarah Chang and the Philadelphia Orchestra, and hearing more works by our eminent composer-in-residence, Karel Husa.

Of course, all the weekend concerts and many recitals were very special and exhibited a high degree of musicianship by all of you! Once again, HCSMF&I has proved to consist of more than the art of making music - - in the lasting friendships made among students, counselors, and faculty.

To all who have taken part in the 1997 Hartwick College Summer Music Festival & Institute program, I offer my sincere congratulations and best wishes for a productive year.

Sincerely,

Steven T Zvengrowski

Steven T. Zvengrowski, Director

You are now entering.....the incredible, magnificent, remarkable, insulated HCSMF&I 1997 Hi-Note! Hurrah! This has been a great year for the Festival, as we enjoyed some exciting opportunities for workshops, concerts and master-classes with many impressive visiting artists, such as Erez Ofer, the New York Philharmonic Brass members, and of course, FRED MILLS, FORMER FIRST TRUMPET WITH THE CANADIAN BRASS!!!!!!!! We trust that this edition of the Hi-Note will not only surpass in quality all former editions, but inspire undiscovered creativity for all who wish to return next summer (and we hope you do). We, the staff of the Hi-Note, would like to thank everyone for their cooperation, and for making this one a fabulous summer. 1997 has been, without a doubt, the Year of the Bulldog!
Enjoy!

Sincerely,
Your Hi-Note editors,
Susannah Stayter- Chief Advisor

Beginning Theory
with Ian Hendrickson-Smith
by Isaac Bauer
(and the rest of Beginning Theory)

"Let me put on my sun-glasses so I can see what I'm doin'," said Ian Anderson as he walked into the classroom, several minutes late. So began a typical day in Beginning Theory. Often accompanied by the (somewhat poetic) rantings of Adam Sobel ("Wouldn't it be funny if...?"), and a shortage of manuscript paper ("Can I borrow a piece of your paper?" "Only if you give it back when you're done."), class plodded on through dictations of both sorts (melodic and rythmic), the types of minor scales (natural, harmonic, and.... uhhh....), and seventh chord inversions. While all were humbled by Jacob Buck-Mallarsky and his brand-name clothes and brand-name talk (word), each had his or her moment of glory, whether it was writing on the chalkboard or telling stories. All were entertained by the descending/ascending projector screen. Dougnnut day was always a letdown becase (1) D-day came only once a session, and (2) there were never any glazed doughnuts. Despite these shortcomings, Ian Anderson ("Y'all are the laziest class I ever had.") made the best of it, and we all got a good laugh, if not a good education.

Improvisation Ensemble with Seneca Black
By Brian Frydenborg

It's 9 a.m. you're tired. You woke up 15 minutes ago. All you want to do is catch another hour of sleep before Festival Choir, but no- you're stuck in this first period class. Then Mr. Black comes in. He has on a sporty vest, his hair is slicked up and back, and he's full of the energy of Jazz. He starts talking about jazz in a way you've never heard ir described before. "Jazz is beauty, art, dignity, elegance, manners, respect, democracy. Jazz is... life. And improvisation is the way you express life through jazz. The Blues are happy, joyful. When you hear Louis Armstrong play the blues, that's joy. Life. You stomp away the blues by playing the blues. Jazz is a dialogue. Now speak with your instruments." He changed the way you think about jazz and the blues. Before you know it, the progression starts. You feel the groove- get into it. Someone starts speaking with their instrument. You listen. You feel what they feel. And soon, Seneca points out you to start speaking with your instrument- to join the jazz dialogue. You start playing. And something happens- suddenly you're not tired any more. You feel something swell up inside you and it comes up through your horn. You're expressing yourself. You're experiencing life. And everyone listens to you. you stop and there's a glow inside you that continues to remain while the next person plays. Soon you all get into the dialogue and you start trading fours everyone's enjoying themselves playing the blues. And all of a sudden you have to go to festival choir. But tomorrow will be different. You won't be waking up early because you have to go to ACA 212 to play jazz, feel life, and express yourself.

Vocal Chamber Ensembles

This summer, as only one group from each instrumental ensemble had an opportunity to perform each session, there was an element of anxiety in the air as to which group would make their way to the stage on the night of the ensembles concert. Of course, if you didn't make it, you could always excersise your potential in a master class hosted by the vocal chamber and vocal technique classes. During the first session, visiting artists from the Western Wind coached a master class with the selected group. The first ensemble to perform did a selection from Mozart's The Magic Flute, sung by Jen Lucia, Laura Puzio and Erica Weiss. The following session, the dainty little fairies tripped hither and thither across the stage to the music of Iolanthe by Gilbert and Sullivan. Our ensemble coaches, Aaron Kaplan, Shoshona Rahmahni, and Susannah Stayter were very helpful in bringing what each knew of vocal performance and technique to the groups, and cooridinator Alix Permut ran the whole crew with an iron fist. I'm sure most of the groups will always remember their first taste of German language, and possibly their last taste of prancing around a stage as fairies.

Festival Choir

By: Jennifer Lucia and Erica Weiss

Festival Choir, formerly known as Concert Choir, underwent a lot of changes this year. First of all, instead of performing weekly, we performed only once per session. We only had a half an hour to rehearse every day with 10 minutes for announcements. Our conductors included Mr. Sean Wallace (1st session), Mr. Kenneth Freise (2nd session) and Dr. Robert Swift (3rd session). Each brought their own unique methods of choral conducting to the group to make each session's performance interesting. Mr. Wallace may have introduced us to the festival theme song with "Sing Dem Herrn", taught us how to love and respect our pencils and helped us with our consanants every morning. Mr. Friese brought us an eclectic mix of sacred music and we were also visited by a variety of student conductors. Dr. Swift (aka Dr.Bob), had a very different style of conducting rehearsals. He has been with the festival for longer than anyone else, and really knows how to put the fun back into Festival Choir. With him we sang selections from "The Creation" and finished off the 51st season with an arrangement of the spiritual, "Kumbaya". Dr. Bob never failed to amuse us with his "bumper stickers" and "Oh look who it is, ladies!" (which they fell for every time....) Overall, the quality of music performed in Festival Choir this season was above and beyond the usual standards. Thanks to all of our conductors for making this a greta summer.

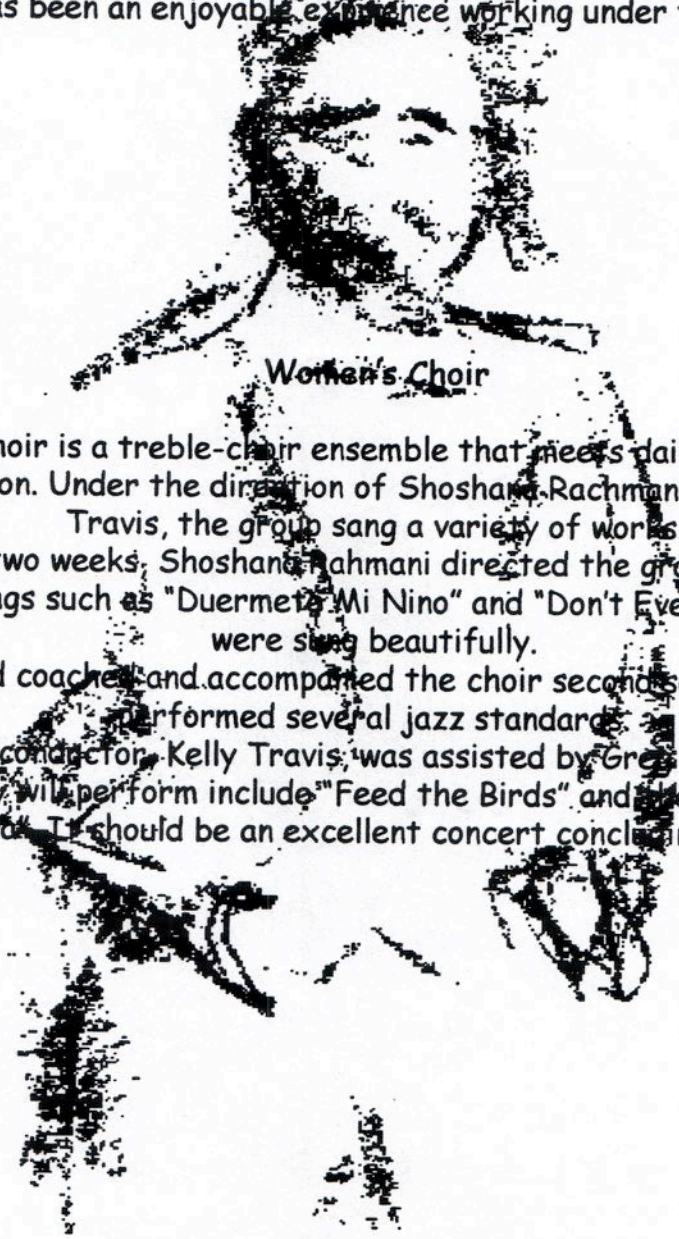

Festival Orchestra has been a challenge all summer. The first two weeks we were under the direction of Maestro Charles Schneider. Festival Orchestra players could be heard singing Mahler's Symphony No. 4 all around campus. Week 2 brought Sibelius' Symphony No. 2. Recieving a standing ovation was a fitting was to thank Maestro Scheider for a wonderful two weeks. Second session brought us a conductor with a wonderful accent, Maetro Alisdair Mitchell. He showed us the charm of the Brahms' Variations on a theme by Haydn, and the power of Glazinov, Symphony no. 5. Also during the second session, we had the opportunity to accompany the principal brass section of the New York Philharmonic. The performance of Peaslee's Night Songs and Strauss's Horn Concerto in E flat will not soon be forgotten. Weeks 5 and 6 brought us Maestro Salemno. The challenge of Tchaikovsky's fourth brought us satisfaction when we recieved yet another standing ovation. Crowning the 51st season. the performance of Dvorak's New World Symphony swept the audience to its feet for a final standing O.

Institute Madrigal Ensemble
By Shoshana Rahmani

The Institute Madrigel Ensemble performed a variety of works this summer. The first session, Sean Wallace conducted the group. The pieces that the ensemble performed included "Sweet, False Love, I Care Not" and "Fa Una Canzona". He took a new approach to inspiring the group: promising to do a cartwheel for a job well done. To the delight of all the onlookers, he delivered.

Weeks 3-4 brought along Ken Friese, and Brian Wilson's contemporary work, "Landscapes", a musical setting of poetry by T.S. Elliot. Two words sum up this expirence- The Seagull.

The last session, the ensemble performed "Four Folksongs" by Johannes Brahms. It has been an enjoyable experience working under these conductors.

Women's Choir

Women's choir is a treble-choir ensemble that meets daily and performs at the end of each session. Under the direction of Shoshana Rachmani, Rima Fand, and Kelly Travis, the group sang a variety of works.

The first two weeks, Shoshana Rahmani directed the group. With HaNa Chang at the piano, songs such as "Duermete Mi Nino" and "Don't Ever Squeeze a Weasel" were sung beautifully.

Rima Fand coached and accompanied the choir second session. The ensemble performed several jazz standards.

The final conductor, Kelly Travis, was assisted by Greg DeTurk at the piano. The pieces they will perform include "Feed the Birds" and the Canadian folk tune "Song for the Mira". It should be an excellent concert concluding a beautiful summer.

Movement for Actors

By: David Abrams

This class was different from all the others. It always started the day right. Wheather it was Randy Messing, Rima Fand, or Cindy Donaldson, Breathing was always a first priority. What was actually done was different though. With Mr. Messing, we did trust exercises, with Rima we did stage presence & expression and with Cindy we did dance and energy. All classes began with a warm-up of about 10-15 minutes which involved the back, legs, arms, neck, shoulders, and head.

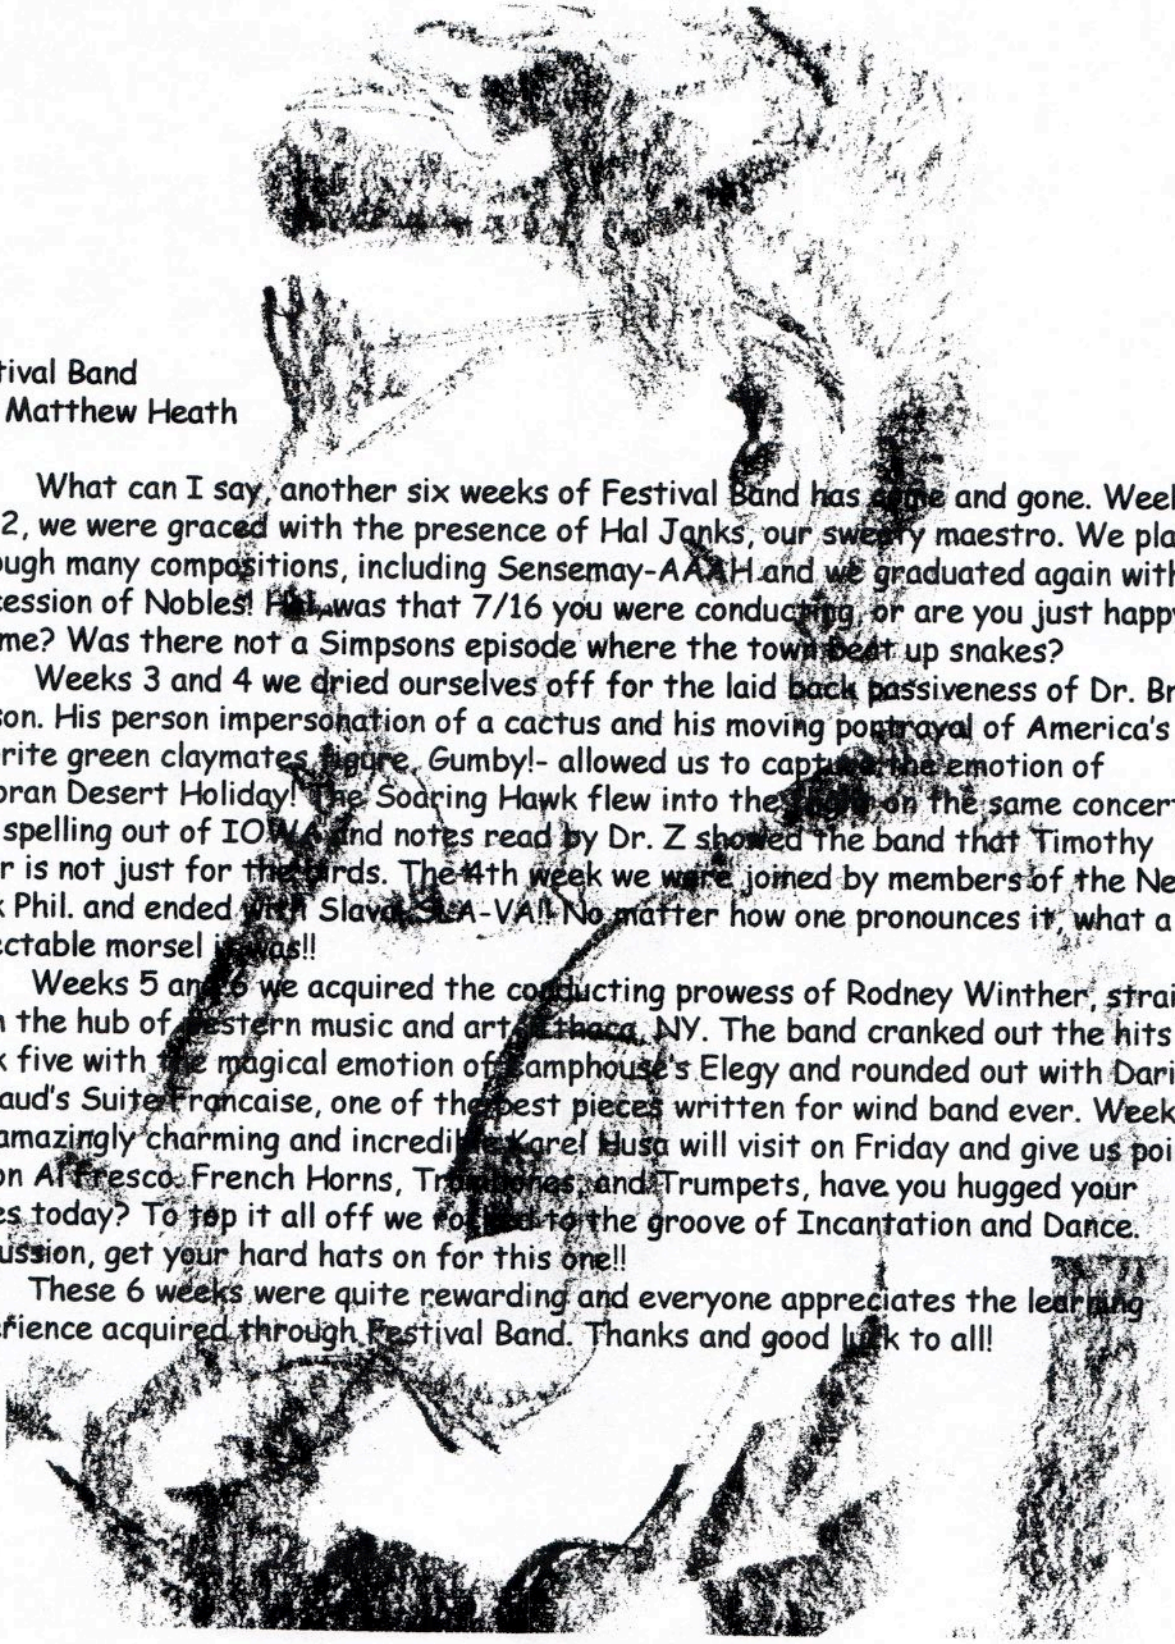

Music Theater

Continous sounds drift from the music circle every late weekday afternoon. From Pippin to Fiddler on the Roof, to the Kiss of the Spider Woman, music theater ensembles diligently worked.

The first session was led by Randy Messing and the music theater coaches, Shoshana Rahmani, Ryan Darling, Susannah Stayter, and Lisa Grimmer. Shoshana provided much of the staging for the large group numbers, while Susannah and Ryan worked with the smaller groups. Lisa busily taught the group dance step after dance step. Ryan provided for a basic story line with revolved around various different numbers from musicals. The skit tracked the progress of a student through HCSMF&I.

Second session Rima Fand entered the scene, and with her she brought her wonderful music. Alice Through the Looking Glass was her newest composition. Alice encountered Humpty Dumpty, a twisted "Dee" duo, talking flowers, and a sultry red queen.

For the third session, Cyndi Donaldson and the coaches are again taking on a broadway review. This time the featured shows are Me and My Girl, Fiddler on the Roof, and Guys and Dolls, all shows that Cyndi went on tour with.

Festival Band
by Matthew Heath

What can I say, another six weeks of Festival Band has come and gone. Weeks 1 and 2, we were graced with the presence of Hal Janks, our sweaty maestro. We played through many compositions, including Sensemay-AAAH and we graduated again with Procession of Nobles! Hal, was that 7/16 you were conducting, or are you just happy to see me? Was there not a Simpsons episode where the town beat up snakes?

Weeks 3 and 4 we dried ourselves off for the laid back passiveness of Dr. Brian Wilson. His person impersonation of a cactus and his moving portrayal of America's favorite green claymates figure, Gumby!- allowed us to capture the emotion of Sonoran Desert Holiday! The Soaring Hawk flew into the night on the same concert. The spelling out of IOWA and notes read by Dr. Z showed the band that Timothy Mahr is not just for the birds. The 4th week we were joined by members of the New York Phil. and ended with Slava, SLA-VA! No matter how one pronounces it, what a detectable morsel it was!!

Weeks 5 and 6 we acquired the conducting prowess of Rodney Winther, straight from the hub of western music and art, Ithaca, NY. The band cranked out the hits week five with the magical emotion of Camphouse's Elegy and rounded out with Darius Milhaud's Suite Francaise, one of the best pieces written for wind band ever. Week 6 the amazingly charming and incredible Karel Husa will visit on Friday and give us pointers on Al Fresco French Horns, Trombones, and Trumpets, have you hugged your mutes today? To top it all off we rocked to the groove of Incantation and Dance. Percussion, get your hard hats on for this one!!

These 6 weeks were quite rewarding and everyone appreciates the learning experience acquired through Festival Band. Thanks and good luck to all!

The Battle of the Ensembles

Each day the piano players began their search. With five different coaches leading the troops, each group had their intent: to find and capture the practice room of choice. Waging against various string players, carelessly tossing those cellos into the hallway, they proved that no expense was too great for the sake of the piano ensembles rehersals. Being one of the only ensembles to have master classes every week, they had good reason to be strong in their pursuits.

Because pianists managed to gain control of the choice practice rooms, the string ensembles were often forced to spend their practice time in hallways, outdoors, and even in stairwells. However, under the close watch of Sang Eun Han and Robert Cafaro, the strings coaches helped their campers to overcome these adverse conditions.

As the strings players battled the odds against their environment in Anderson, a different type of battle was being waged in ensembles rehearsals on third floor Yager. A hierarchy was quickly established within the various clarinet ensembles.

Kings and queens abounded and always created a certain unrest amoung the higher ups.

Down the hill a bit, the flute players have sought out an alternate to the battles waged down in Anderson. Safe amoung the castle walls of Alumni, Denise Cohen led her valiant crew through their preparations. Secure within the deserted dorm rooms and empty lounges, the flute players prepare.

Nesteled too amoungst the kingdom of Hartwick, were many more of the villages of ensembles. Percussion, woodwind, saxaphones, brass and their galliant bulldogs. Even the vocalists played their part. Yet both serfs and kings could been seen, loveingly tossing aside their practice room competitions, to perform side by side in the short and enjoyable ensembles concert, quite often referred to as the most looked forward to concerts of the session. And so peace streches throughout the rolling hills of the peaceful Oneonta, and all is well, that is until of, the piano players come looking...

The Festival Jazz Ensemble

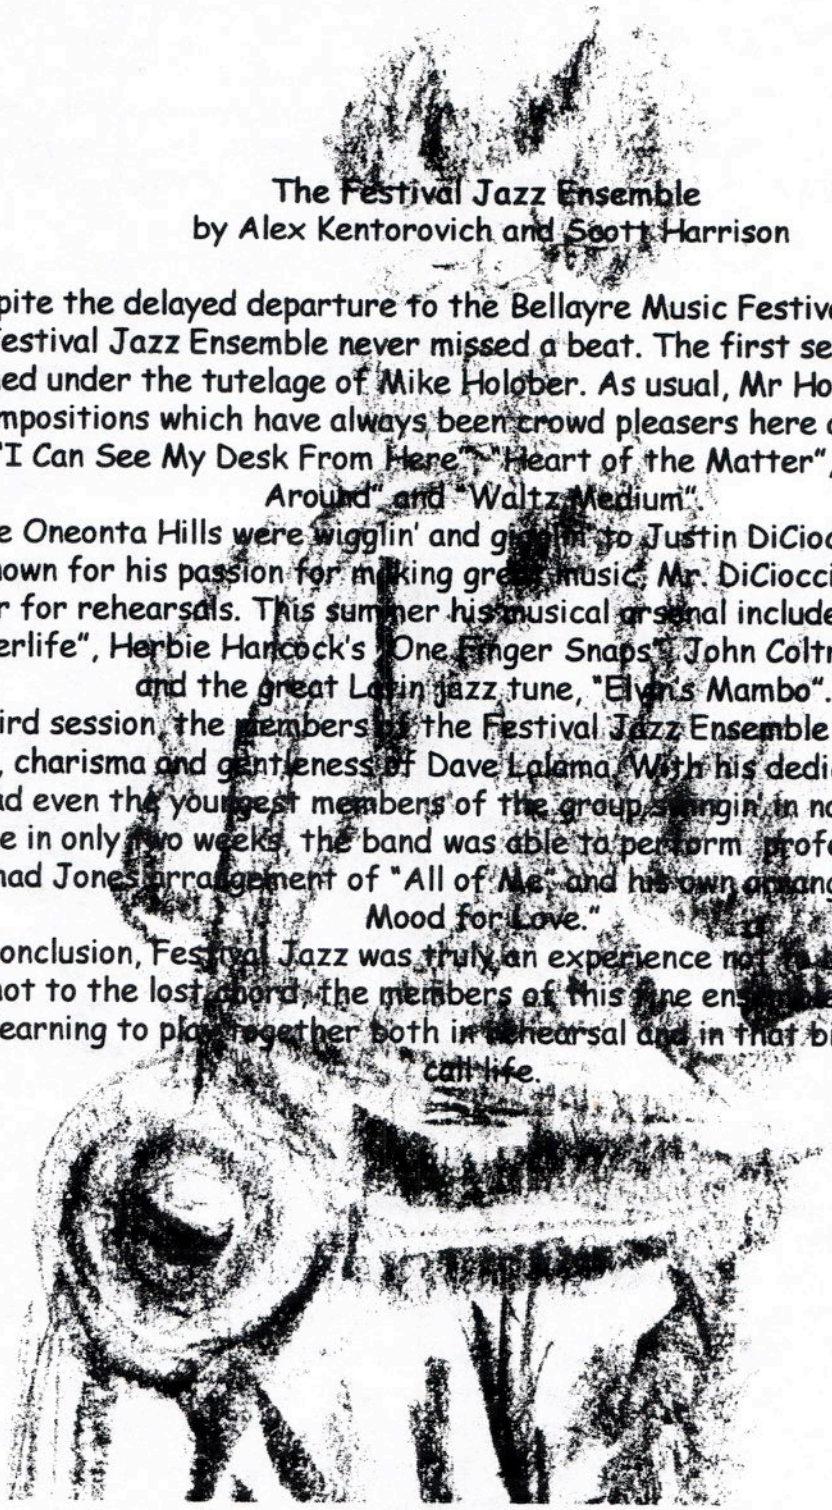

by Alex Kentorovich and Scott Harrison

Despite the delayed departure to the Bellayre Music Festival one Sunday morning, the Festival Jazz Ensemble never missed a beat. The first session, the big band performed under the tutelage of Mike Holober. As usual, Mr Holober brought his original compositions which have always been crowd pleasers here at HCSMF&I. These included "I Can See My Desk From Here", "Heart of the Matter", "Jump Down, Spin Around" and "Waltz, Medium".

The Oneonta Hills were wigglin' and gigglin' to Justin DiCioccio's beat weeks 3 and 4. Known for his passion for making great music, Mr. DiCioccio even fills up the theater for rehearsals. This summer his musical arsenal included Bob Mintzer's "Runferyerlife", Herbie Hancock's "One Finger Snaps", John Coltrane's, "Lazy Bird", and the great Latin jazz tune, "Elvin's Mambo".

Third session, the members of the Festival Jazz Ensemble were blessed with the charm, charisma and gentleness of Dave Lalama. With his dedication to improvisation, he had even the youngest members of the group swingin' in no time at all. Due to his patience in only two weeks, the band was able to perform professional level charts such as Thad Jones' arrangement of "All of Me" and his own arrangement of "Moody's Mood for Love."

In conclusion, Festival Jazz was truly an experience not to be missed. From the first rimshot to the lost chord, the members of this fine ensemble grew musically and socially, learning to play together both in rehearsal and in that big performance we call life.

Vocal Jazz
By Virginia Stringle

Imagine, if you will, a class where dancing is accepted, expirementation encouraged, and where swingin' is part of the everyday routine. Now imagine that class being taught by a jazzer. That, as unbelievable as it sounds, is vocal jazz, Jeremy Manasia's pet project.

First session in vocal jazz was fun, despite the fact that every class left people hungry. We sang "Soul Food", and no one could forget their "fat-back swimmin' in beans." Other songs we performed were Ira Gershwin's "This is New" and "Love Makes the World Go 'Round.

Next session, Jeremy shared with his class a few caring words of comfort: "Don't get Scared", "Don't You Worry 'bout a Thing", and "I'll be Around". Actually, those were the song titles he chose for us. We still believe he meant what he said.

Last session was exciting, as we sang, "Gimme That Wine", "Just Squeeze Me", and "Jackie", about a talking mouse. We're sure our parents would be proud.

It was no surprise that Jeremy led this class, as it was the funnest place to be this year.

Institute Conducting
By Susannah Stayter

Standing in front of a small group of groggy, young musicians, Chuck Schnieder holds his baton with a commanding sort of grace. He pays little attention to the score resting on the stand in front of him, rather, he dutifully plays through Mozart's fifteenth symphony on the poorly tuned paino in front of him. Desperate to arouse ourselves from our lifeless morning state, we make frantic attempts to keep up with the ambitious maestro, each counting our patterns closely. The first two weeks streched on, each morning providing a new technqiue, a new beat pattern, and several more measures of harmonic analysis. Mr. Schneider animated these early hours with exquisite tales of his conducting studies all around the world, each with a new and more eccentric charater added to the cast. Two weeks after the start of our conducting boot camp, we moved to the climax of conducting the Mozart in front of the Institue Wind. This piece which we had torn apart and embedded into the grey matter, was now under our baton. And so the pattern began. Kenneth Friese picked up where Chuck had left, and directed us towards the choral side of conducting. Under his direction, we mastered not only technique, by many a quality Julia Childs impression. Fearlessly we siezed the Festival Choir, (well, perhaps not completely without fear, but that was the intended impression), or, for the more daring, a few imfameous Seagulls. The baton was then passed on to Rodney Winther. (how could I leave out that pun??? Come on guys!) He brought us back to a more structured conducting pattern, while encouraging us to reach into our softer side. Soon these mornings were adorned with rich poetry which always captured the true agnst of the Elgar. (yes Pickles and Precious Moments have been known to do that). So now, this groggy morning class has survived our bootcamp, or so that is hoped, from keeping your butt tucked in to Julia Childs, we will bring with us all that is important when considering conducting.

SAVE THE C.I.T.'S

Every day, thousands of C.I.T.'s are forced into slave labor. STOP THE INSANITY!!! For just pennies per day, you could keep a poor, innocent C.I.T. off the streets and help them get the shots they so desperately need.

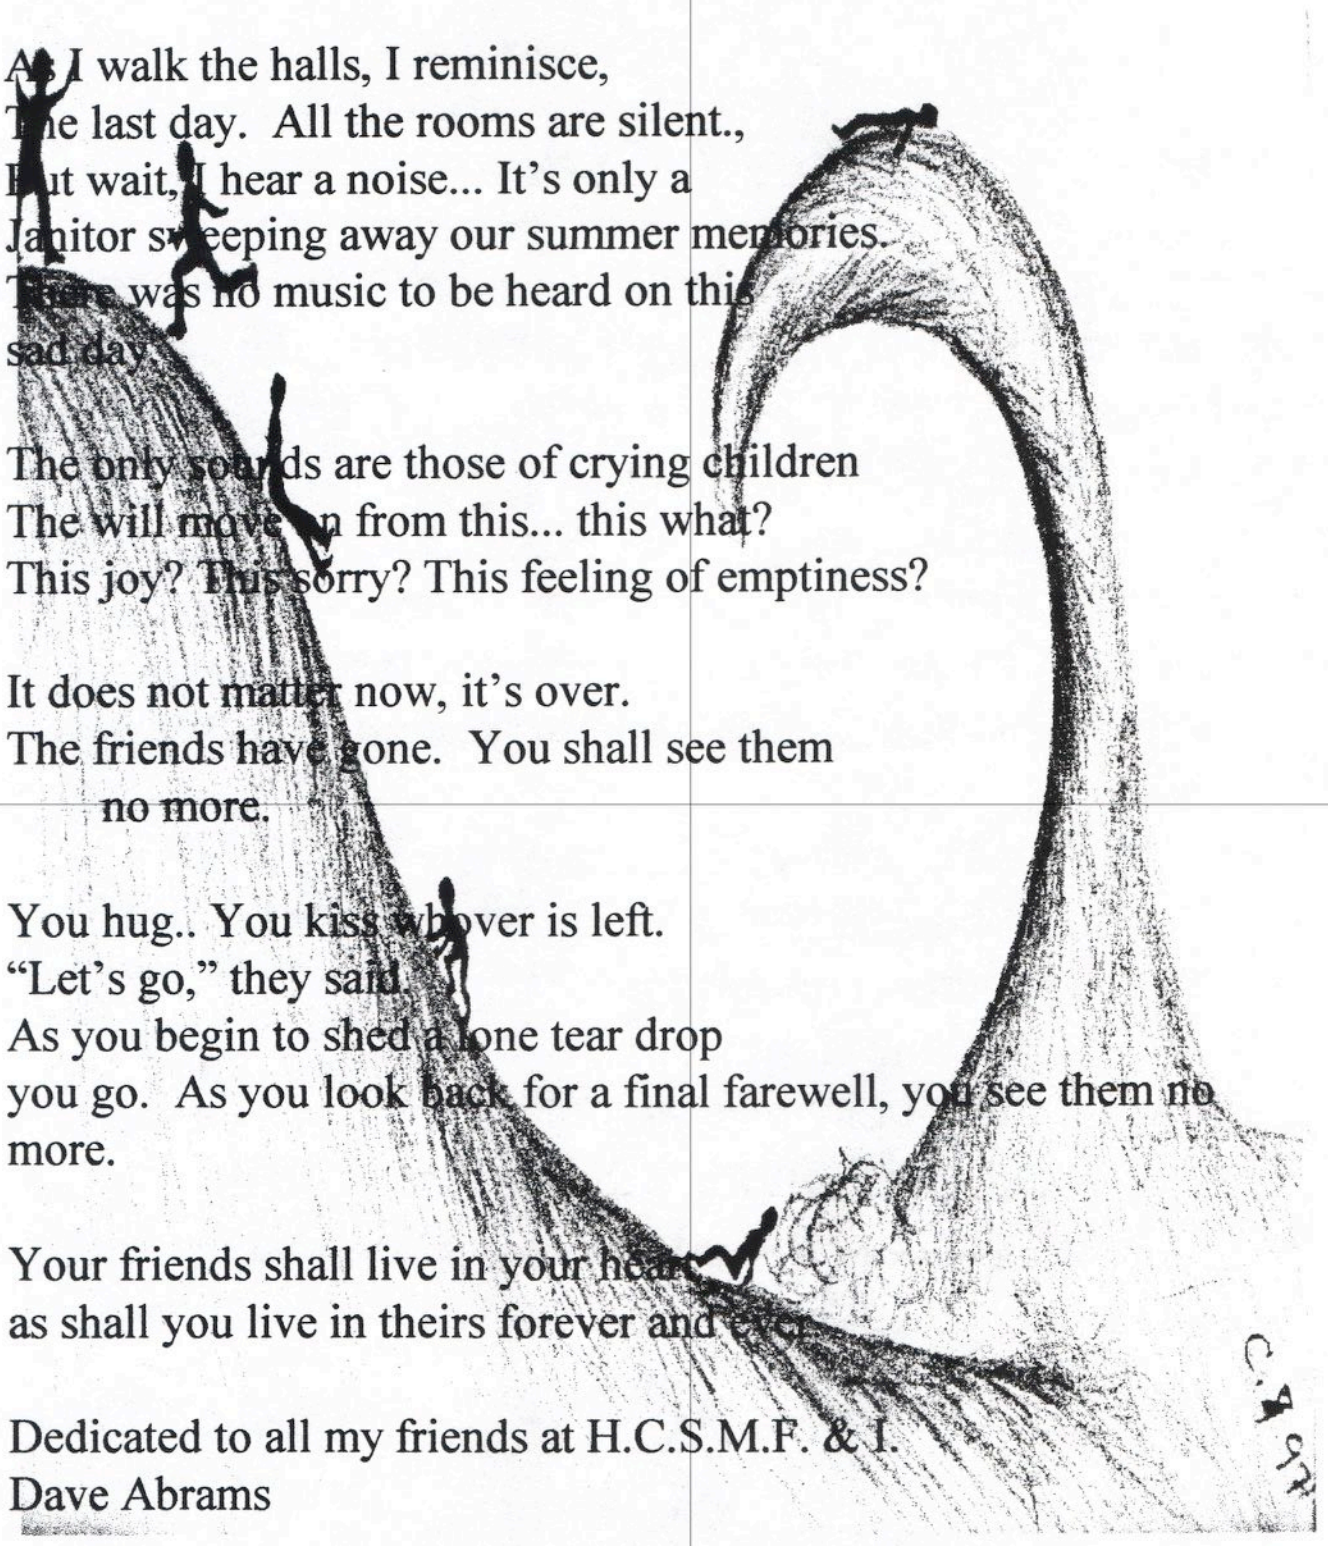

For your donation of just 5 cents per day, you will receive a letter, vital information about your C.I.T. and a Chia C.I.T. TM complete with attachable attitude.

Remember, act now, because every day we are forced to send poor C.I.T.'s back into the wild, because we don't have enough kennel space.

Please send your donations to Anderson room 343. If you have questions, see the dorm office between 12:00 midnight and 5:00 am. Thank you!

" A Final Farewell"

As I walk the halls, I reminisce,
The last day. All the rooms are silent.,
But wait, I hear a noise... It's only a Janitor sweeping away our summer memories.
There was no music to be heard on this sad day.

The only sounds are those of crying children
The will move on from this... this what?
This joy? This sorry? This feeling of emptiness?

It does not matter now, it's over.
The friends have gone. You shall see them no more.

You hug.. You kiss whoever is left.
"Let's go," they said.
As you begin to shed a lone tear drop you go. As you look back for a final farewell, you see them no more.

Your friends shall live in your heart as shall you live in theirs forever and ever.

Dedicated to all my friends at H.C.S.M.F. & I.

Poem

by Dadan Chavis

Why do I feel so humble?

I'm face to with the mountains, they surround me every which way. I don't feel that I have existed ever before. In the city, where I'm used to, I could hide myself behind the tall high-rise buildings. I feel so un-prepared to face a real life , a life where one really lives, learning the history of the people that lived befored them and their ancestors. It all seems so over-whelming to me.

The mountains are so open yet so cracked powerful, so beautiful. Who with their great names could even con- quer the mountains? It is not a matter of climb- ing to the top. You cannot even see climbers clinging to their lives, leaving their lives to the invincible mountains. But yet I must coexist with them. It is not a matter of winning. I must be let into their secret. The secret to remain through history so gigantic and proud, how can one not bend down on his knees and drop tears on their cold blanket?

Give me the strength , I'm alone and I'm strongest. Let the strength rise within me-It shall be my only life long companion.

2nd Floor Men
(Anatomy)
By:David Abrams

With counselors Hugh Ash, Paul Musser, Aaron Kaplan, Phil Ostrander, Gabe Struck, Ryan Darling, and C.I.T.=s Alex Kontorovich, Eric Leen, and Chris Mooney, our floor couldn=t be any more exciting. Bonding consisted of frisbee, or food and floor time couldn=t have been any shorter. Running by counselor standard time, with Phil leading the pack, the time really flew by.

3rd Floor Van Ess
by Scott Harrison and Jeff Dudzick

As one may or may not know, the floor theme of the third floor boys this summer was Star Wars. This fact could be confirmed with just a quick peek at the hall, which was covered from end to end with various posters, quotes, persons, places, and things from Star Wars. As part of the effort to bring Star Wars to life on the third floor, each counselor and CIT was assigned a character from one of the movies in the trilogy. Dan Block, known for his heroism and boldness, was assigned the role of Han Solo. Mike Van Buren became Luke Skywalker. Brett Goertemoeller assumed the role of the droids R2D2 and C3PO. Darth Vader was portrayed by senior counselor Jerry Sam, while Matt Heath hunted for bounties as Boba Fett. The big, hairy, walking carpet known as Chewbacca was Steve Cooley. Jeff Dudzick lived up to his part as the cute, lovable, wise Jedi Master: Yoda. And, the smooth, charming and dapper Lando Calrissian was portrayed by, of course, Scott Harrison. Dave Rothenberg and Dr. Z were appointed Obi-Wan Kenobi and The Emperor, respectively. The campers, the Ewoks, had the honor of being able to vote for a Princess Leia each week as there were no girls on the floor to fill that position, unfortunately.

May the Force be with you. . .

FIRST FLOOR GIRLS

By Liz M., Beth L., Meredith H-T.

The Goddesses of the 1st floor could be found bonding by ways of water balloon fights, stupid games, and folk dancing. Floor time was chaos as all campers refused to obey rules. Laughter, live guitar music, blaring stereos, loud burps, and the smell of burned popcorn could all be found on floor #1. Senior counselor Alix Permit along with Joanna Schwartz and Susan Kenderdine added to our atmosphere of happiness and made us feel at home. A new home was found for many campers on the first floor of Alumni. It was a summer that will never be forgotten.

The Second Floor Girls

by Margaret O=Kada

The Second Floor Girls was the Sesame Street Floor. Floor bondage on the second floor was always fun (sundae making). In spirit of being the Second Floor Girls, an Elmo was elected every so often. This Elmo embodied cuteness. Elmos include Colin and Dillon. Just to clear up a horrible rumor I have been hearing, the Second Floor Girls are not giant puppets. But on a similar note, when I was about 5 years old I was wearing plastic armor and standing on the roof of my porch. Given the fact that I was wearing plasic armor, I felt that I was invincible and, feeling thus, I jumped off of the roof. That=s why my entire jaw is fake- the product of fine plastic surgery. While lying in my hospital bed, I watched dozens of taped episodes of Sesame Street and thus learned how to count. Why is this important you may ask? Well y=see, I like stories. When I was a wee lass, my older sister convinced my that I would be a super-hero if I ran around in nothing but a towel, flashed people, and called myself SuperNude. So one night I ran out after my bath and flashed my parents. My dad looked up from his paper, said Athat=s nice,@ and kept on reading. And that=s why the second floor girls are great. That is all.

4th Floor Alumni

by Gretchen Sommer and Kathy Dorritie

The fourt floor safari began with an expedition through the hills of Oneonta to I.K. We also kicked off the Days of Our Lives fan club from 1 to 2 PM with those who weren't involved in any classes. The safari included a sleep-over and a mattress detour through the bathroom. The 2nd session brought with it many new faces and names to learn. We ventured into the realm of Jerry Maguire and continued our safari through the hills of Cooperstown to the Glimmerglass Opera. The 2nd session came to a close with a memorable late-night serenade by a very admirable trumpet player. The final two weeks of our safari were shared with a very energetic group of campers. We went on an excursion to Friendly's that ended in many laughs. Although our safari resulted in many injuries, it turned out to be a memorable and enjoyable adventure.

The Breast Ladder
a brief poetic muse

by Isaac Bauer
(with a little help from my friends)

Breast ladder, o breast ladder,
a silent sentinel,
standing vigilant
in the Anderson lobby with your deadly gun turrets, tell us your meaning.

Why do you lack two bosoms?
Where did they go?
Why is there a congregation of breasts
at the foot?
What is it at the top for which they strive?
A brasserie?
But what size?
32A? B? C? D?

The depth of your existence surpasses mortal understanding.

Last Will and Testaments

I Sarah Corrigan leave my undying love and affection forever to all of my beloved friends. TO Luci- thanks for putting up with my disgusting messiness on the right side of your room. I have left behind home baked cookies, alarm clocks that never go off, fifteen minutes before class, a lifetime supply of nail polish remover to kill those invincible crunchy bugs, Trojan women, a chipmunk, and a shoulder if you ever need a good cry. To Angie- darling hunny thanks for letting me stay in your room so late, so many times. I leave you an extra bunny, a yummy date, being mean after 12 o'clock, friendship forever and all the other memories we shall share. To Eun Joo- my Korean uni, my other hunny, Princess Leia, thank you for always being there for me, letting me meet a certain person, those late night letter reading sessions, calling guys at 11:30 and my love forever and ever. To Christina- may you marry the president of a company that distributes fat free food, and may that man be Vinny. I love you baby! To Kate- my friend, I love you dearly and will never forget that you left me nor will I forget our slumber unto the land of Dave Matthews in the stairwell or long talks about random stuff, not will I forget to eat. To Leeza- you are my sunshine, my only sunshine, you make me happy when sky's are grey. I leave you a violin, and a severe neck beating and a song, do do do do do do, I love you and may you light up my cloudy days forever. To Robert- what can I say, you were meant for me, need I say more except don't ever forget Rachmaninoff Prelude in C# minor or how to hold a fork. To Greg- you have made this summer so much more pleasureable and fun, especially with your electrifying performances. May you have a bright future ahead of you filled with beautiful women, hopefully on of them being me, I leave you my love and friendship for years to come. To anyone I may have forgotten, and there are many, know that I love you with all my heart and will never forget your hugs, KISSES, humorous mannerisms (MONK) and you are what made my summer. I love you all to death and will never ever forget any of you. Now James, can I please play the Woody Cock?

I Ali Klaren leave... Liz Miller- postcards for your bullentin board, Isaac- a backstage pass to one of my shows, Conrad- admission to Vassar College, Crawford- a smooch and a shower, Liz Monk- a jam session, my blue hat, a Boyd Tinsley (DMG) solo to learn. Beth- my patio time skills. Alex- a warm Latino greeting- kiss, kiss, hug, a search party for our real parents. Rachel- a Jetson walkway to speed up my pace, an explosion between the two upper thighs. Virginia- a vine for window not delivery. Chiara- a Jansport "back" as, a mixed cafeteria, permission to use the "g" word but not the "l" word, ziplock bags with exactly 20 pretzels in them, a book on American politics and history, gold Nikes (like Michael Johnson), a bottle of Tommy, a plane ticket to D.C., a cure for foot phobia, a beautiful, loving other, dinner for 4 at me and you know who's house, a decent apple, a carefree walk after dinner, a bunch of adjectives by no nouns, a book on Mommying (you did a great job). Tyson Beckford-Ino, (wait me and J.R. are better) my D.J. pants, an all expense paid trip to the Health Center for ice, medication, t.r. and more. Meredith- a tape recorder that records.

This is the last will and testament of Susan Dodge. To Julie Zentmaier- I leave you our wonderful wall murals even though M.N. can draw wonderful mermaids- NOT! Don't ever forget all of our long talks at night, then Meaghan waking us up at obscene hours in the morning! All of the diet cranberry raspberry Snapple in the world, also Doug even though...well we won't get into that, also Seneca and Stephen from Swtizerland, a kick-ass party,a phat blunt, Pringles (all over the floor) Dr.Z in a purple speedo and lots of soda cans to put all over your room, conducting talents, munch 'ems and last but not least- one of the best friendships ever. To Kara Nostrand- I leave you Dave and Evan and the phattest blunt you can find along with a successful body shot, a ticket to the H.O.R.D.E fest, long nights talkin to Ricky a beautifully fixed Ricky ring, wonderful conducting talkents, my "short skirts" a bra without duck tape, the boob dance, a non-pissed off operator so what if we caller her 20 million times, all the hemp in the world, a flute ensemble and a fast forward remote for the concerts unless there are hotties. And a big hug with lots of sweetness and happiness forever along with a great friendship. To Meaghan Nelsen- I leave Gavin and lessons on how to give a "nice" backrub, a salad without cigarette ashes and some real food besides cerel and grilled cheese. I leave you all of my "presents" and the ability to take a dump, a swimming pool, a read conducter besides the plumber, oh I forgot about Chris, all the conducting talens in the world, a bowl with phat blunts and a few shots of Aftershock! the ability to sleep in for a change, a good ensemble and friendship that will last forever. TO Amanda Reul- I leave food besides cerel, rice crispy trats, hair dye, belly button ring, an ATM card of your own, a beau nesides Salvario, a roommate besides Meaghan who won't wake up at 8am when you have a class at 1pm, a hemp necklace, a dryer that works so you wouldn't have to put all your stuff on Meaghan's dryer rack and the kindness of the world and friends forever. To Danah Albaum- I leave you Brian and his wonderful red hair and geeky ways. I also leave you 30 ounds you need to gain "a little" weight. I leave you health food and oreos with Chinease noodles. To Juliette Wallack- I leave you all the health food in the world and Brian I also leave you an up to the standard computer to do your tracks on and a violin audition that goes perfect and last but not least I leave you all the ants in my room. That would suck. I leave you Dr. Zven at the gorilla in his purple speedo and late nights in each other's rooms. To David Wong- You need no good looks cause you already have all you need. I leave you every hug and kiss and best wishes forever.

Cara Schweller's will: Upon leaving Hartwick, I leave the following items: to my roomate Sarah, I leave one movie ticket, one stolen horn, 5 condoms, 1,000 walks to Tim's house, 1 vitamin from my many, 15 laps around the track, and one fine trombone player whose name shall go unstated but I believe it rhymes with "Phil"adelphia. To Elizabeth I leave an annoying chamber choir singer, three Bebops, 10 fake nails, a toasted bagel, and a scat solo. I leave a really bad sightsinging class to Alisa, but I steal her perfect pitch. To Alicia I leave a really cheesy "rumor" and a blank video. To Dave, Tim, Sus, Virginia, and Alex, I leave an exciting jazz arrangment by Kirby Shaw. For Susannah, I return 20 borrowed CD's. To Sabrinia and Emiliy I leave a sex pamphlet for old memories. To Kim I leave a pair of jean shorts and high heels, a clumsy bow accompanied by a fall down the isle. To Shoshana I leave my finally cleaned room and finally to Ayako I leave a happy Hi.

Virginia Stringle's Will Here's how it goes... Dave Abrams- knowing the true meaning of jazz. Margaret- Praisin' the Lord. Melinda- Corey...no, wait... I want Corey! Dan Jacoby- the answer to "who;s is this whoopass zither?" Eggbert- "uh,uh--hahahahaha!" Susannah- The Alamo on the hill, if I can have the person inside it. Jocelyn- the Hartwick Rap. Elizabeth- back and forth bum dancing. Patricia-Mario. Lord knows I didn't want him. Dave Wong- a good bass solo. Ali- a place in MY band. Eric- hangin' out time. Rich- the nerds in my lungs. Matt- real skater clothes. Emilie- un chanson d'amour de ton "boyfriend". Sabrinia- a guy you deserve. Bearmon- a balcony and a star crossed lover. Lisa- Mexican power. Jacob- "Sid" so you can see it exists. Isaac- Seneca's obnoxious held-out notes. Conrad- a spot on the steo team. Joe- nights at the window. Jesse- an Autumn sandwich and some baby-talk. Dave Ropport- a skonkia floor and "two-tone" shoes. Jordanna- "why" "I do", "you do?" "moo". Rachel M.- all the guys who deserve you. Alex Alexiou- a circle into parallel universes. Zach- I haven't decided... a day of learning to skank? Marsha- free cha cha lessons. Marissa- 2 young-uns for the both of us. Jen Lucia- some "woo-woo" People I missed- Members of my harem of good-looking men, regardless of young sex. Couselors and faculty- you can guess for yourselves. "Jazzers"- everything and anything, and money enough for the latter. Dr. Z- my soul...can I come back as a CIT? All my love and energy.

Last Will and Testament- Kate Stluka. This summer has been made unforgettable thnks to all of the wonderful people who decided to come to Hartwick. It seems as though one day here is equal to one whole week at home. As a result we have all shared so many memories in such a short time. Unfortunatly I have to leave beautiful Hartwick. However, I have decided to leave some of my belongings and memories to some special people. I leave... Angela (Minnie): My apple (because I wasn't hungry), no Digity, Monday nights with Beverly Hills, a "napkin" and "bathroom", endless memories and lots of hugs... bunny... Eun Joo (trendy Mama)L sugar packets, stomach musles, midnight letter reading sessions, even more memories and lots of hugs... bunny. Sarah- food!! a tray, a bandaid for your silly blister. Christina (tig)- fat free everything, tighter hugs. Greg- ice-cream, logic problems, ou fetticini alfredo, can I have you sweater (jik). Robert (bobert)- my fork, sarcasim, my beautiful cello piece. Susannah- my saltines for midnight gossip sessions, the cha-cha, "sweetie" everything. Anna- my flipflops to wear in the shower instead of your clogs. Hi Holly- my room decorations. Amy- my "set" cards. Liz M- the "stairwell". Eric- a smile! Chris- confusing jazz sessions. Gabe- shoulder pads. Heather- mad mags. Cecilia- the homework sone. mrs. DeTurck- A flats. Alex- dark socks. Dave- a pillow to hig instead of Angela. Without Angela's smiles, Eun-Joo's hugs, Greg's talents, Roberts sarcasim, Sarah's annemia, and Susannah's gossip listening, I don't know what I would have done. Without all of you I wouldn't be able to make any decisions. I don't know what I am going to do when I go home and noone is there to tell me if I am hungry! Thanks again for making this summer so great, especially my bunnies! I leave to everyone my hugs and of course my stupid fitted sheet!

To all my sisters on the 4th floor I leave my sad songs to cry over and vivid memories of guest lights out. -Mim Readling.

First and foremost to my roomate Cara, may all your walks without me in the future contain as much excitment as they did with me here at Hartwick, I mean who'd have thunk that a walk would lead to a guitar, a cute guy, and an almost successful trip to the book store? Seriously though, always remember to bring protection against any unexpected rainstorm when you go walking. Always remember the breasticises. Also, I leave you a pencil and some tinfoil surprizingly good substitutes to eating utensils as we have figured it out. Jackie- I leave you pepto bismal, mouth piece cleanser and a "how to" book on getting rid of a Long Island accent. Miss Liza Minnelli, your voice is better than the real thing. Also, I leave you hair extensions, head bands, scrunchies, ect. Alisa, I leave you a guide to mingling and conversation starters. Jeanine, who'd have thought that the trombone could be so interesting- to a violinist? I leave you a round trip ticket to the Philharmonic! Kim, to you I leave better food, 10 pizzas, chill pills (you're so hyper) long hours of practice time and a scissor in case you think your hairs should be cut so its length isn't that of a skunk's! Sabrina, I leave a thank you for the short talk with Cara and I on, well, you know, on that oh so wonderful subject! Rachel, I leave you all my best in trying to calm down every so often.

I, Natalia Doris, leave the following things to these very special people. Carolyn- a little handy German dictionary for all those need-to-know words. Jessica- my love. You are so sweet, don't let anyone change you. (If you want, I can leave you some matches to burn your viola) Hillary S.- the hug that Seneca gave me! Bruce- "You are benar plant!" (she's right... RA's have that special power...) Kathy- the awesome roomate award thanks for covering my butt more than once. Matt (aka "Air Heath" or "Don Juan de Hartwick) my snarfing out in front of Van Ess over popcorn and coke, discussions over Alex, my love and status as a "hero", some really good "George" music at patio time, a month off. James- my utmost respect. You tell it like it is and that's the sign of a great person! a shooting star and the woody cock and the reenactment of the Civil War. Stage Crew- you guys are the bomb! You all deserve a month off without the worry of nightmaresque of stand molesting. Studzick- remember. I'm here for you! The stairwell, "friendly fire" Alex's impression of ...(of my God) Alex's directions at lunch (the traumatizing napkin). Alex my love and friendship. You're my hero! Without you, my summer would have been hell., organic ice cream, repugnaunce day, the motorcycle theory and who could forget crocodile mile? Long talks and shopping, little girl repellent, "Oh, the..." chats in the office, sneakers and running shops and you can be just like... Angel-you are the sweetest person and friend so smart and can read people like a book, a leash for Alex, and library chats.

Kimberly Stagg's Will- To all those I'll forget and everyone else, keep being the best you can be. Jesus loves youi! Ann- thanks for everything. You've been a great help and encouragment. Jessica- dustballs and bedtime hugs. Lisa- my first picture! You're so sweet, I'll miss you. Melinda- punching the stand, xx-the-man, your brother look just like you! Food, I'll miss you. Sarah- to practice or nto to practice? spying... literally. Sesame Street Girls- Cha, cha, cha! Shoshana- keep that smile. WOnderful things come in small packages. Thanks for all the hugs andfor all your support through everything. You've been a great couselor, I'll miss you. Susannah- Anthem by Ayn Rand. My first picture! Where's my hug? You're an awesome person and couselor. I'll miss you. Vanessa- Awesome hugs! You Rock!

I, Raphey Holmes, leave Alan- that sock that he stole, Amir-his Klesmer music, Annie- our wonderful budship, Dan- more mom jokes and that word we love, Indira- her incredible strength, Juliet- her amazing comprehension and mastery of my name, Justine- that cool ring, Kat- thank you so much for everything, I'll give you good voodoo stuff, Kara- her ear-blessing voice, Julie- her equally ear-blessing voice and duets, Manoj- a cow that is turning in circles, Hillary- my amazing comprehension and mastery of her name, Paul- mu button clothes, Min- her cool name, Sam- Seneca, everyone who I've forgot- something humorous yet touching, Steve- the crash test dummies.

I, N.I. leave the wedge to Y.S., nail polish to K.P. underpants to J.S., heart to hearts to A.C. and shuffling to everyone else and movies to D.J.

In final will and testament: I Leeza Tandy, the brown eyes, soft hair, sunshine, BAT! leave the followers: Liz Haines- I am your sunshine... always your untouchable face, brown eyed girl, hypocrites (they're always there), burp ratings (me zo) late night joyndes, McDonalds! trees, and boys are bad thros rocks.. boulders ect..at them. Love you dear! xoox Sunshine. Kate MO an address by the stapus, cool pants, Rent, gay boys, knock, knock! a swinging key (ouch) um, that cool sound? (spit). Ajay- my sweet prince, we meet again, a bite to you land an attack on the neck! Long nails (scratch) cute sneezes, window kisses and tummy giggles. Showers are good, chin scratches "gee" Always a cutie! Miss you lots (forever) smooches and lick love the violin girl, Leeza. ALL CITS_ Best of times, me laying in a ball anywhere on my "welcome mat", K-Mart, camping, Polar Bear can roller coaster rides, soap operas and midnight star gazing! Look for a shooting star, think of me and there I'll be. _-Goodbye.

K I Cabray Haines, on my final departure from HCSMF&I, bequeath the following : to Penny, organic odor, neutralizer, a clear lead in crisis, and many thanks, to Shoshana and Lisa, the "waitress from hell", Alix- choir fun with "the aorta", Paul- my voice, Phil, Steve, Hugh- more free time (ha!), Dan Block-Cobra Commander, good seating and over all-time favorite passage from Prokofiev! To Jocelyn, Trish, ect.- Frankie memories, dance parties, and forever rainbow whip, to the 4th floor girls- I leave all my pre-concert changes of clothes, hourly shuttle service to the ER, and of course, Seneca! To Steve- Birkenstocks and a course in sultry eating of phallic foods, to Dave- a smooch from Steve, "es fantastico", the seagull, victimization, hot dog subjectivity and my 14-year-old gash, to Liz and Beth- late night visits (oops) homely homies, woman legs, the art of rye, the demon barber of fleet... street! And of yeah, remember concentration is better than penetration, to James Wong, my role model in narcolepsy- I leave another 3 pack of tank tops (of course) fub and fo, crosswalk confrontation, a dress and a bra, and late night conversation, and to my girls, Joanna, Vanessa, and Susan, I leave this grabag of goodies- valley fog, yogurt, the end of the week, a love of Fritos, "I feel you, Joanna!" the trio, the "Amish people" Susan Tenderloin, Ace Ventura, "the best movie alive" "easy there killer," the g, alleges lesbianism, a swig of chicken cherry cola, manavu, mayim, "salt the dog" and all the rest you guys really wang some j and I love you so much! To everyone, I leave this place, whacked out as it is. As I write this, I can't imagine being anywhere else. Yet in a few weeks, I'll be used to not being here. We will be spread out over the world never to be brought back together in the same way again. So in the years to come I'm depending on all of you to remind me of the times when we all crammed into Slade and made a little magic.

I Lydia Keating, do hearby leave the following to a few very special people. To ADam- I leave my favortie silver chocker that somehow ended up going home with you. I'll be writing for my three a.m. call. Doug- what can I leave you but the memories and expirences disillusioned as they may be. Crawford- Gold Bond, 'nuff said. Domingos Robinson- wherever you are, leave you a big hug and an early morning smile. For Erica- I leave the rainbows, unicorns and other girlie things that sometimes get shoved away in the quest for maturity and guys. Brian Conolly- a lot could happen in the next week, but nomatter what you still get a hug and a kiss, and my adress (hint hint). Because every Irishman should have a lucky charm, my lucky safety pin goes to James O'Sullivan. Take care of it! Jerry Sam- I give you sun 'cuz heaven knows when we'll see it in Rochester. Coolio, I leave you my score of 43 and a smile because you can never beat that. To Alex my running buddy. I offer a pair of track shorts (think Z) and a kiss on the cheek because you are the coolest. Dave- my ska loving friend, I'm leaving you a lifetime supply of pajama pants so you can be trendy wherever you go. Joe- I want you to keep the memories of our conversation that always ended in "oh God..." I'll visit, I promise. Ajay- If I could, I would leave you all of the jazz trumpet solos in the world. As it is, all I can give you is Robin's tune. (It's in the mail). Jackie- I didn't forget you. You get a set of wheels for your case and as much food as you can carry so you don't get hungry on the way to those mealtimes. Kara- I'm leaving you our late night discussions and early morning grunts. To my stand partner Rachel- I leave a sneeze and spit gaurd and several notes for band. Remember "strong like bull, dumb like ox". And last but not least, Robin Mitchell and his family. TO them I leave my heart. Youmade me feel like a part of your family and for that I would give you the world. Write soon. Well everyone, this is the endo f my last session of my fist year. There are so many people I will miss. Please write me or email me at Lydia_Marie@juno.com . I wish I could come back next year, but I will be in Spain. However, I will be back in two years so I shall see many of you then. I love you all. Buh-bye now.

I, Jane Eleanor Dickson, leave the following to- Michelle- a hug, a "I an not a loser", "shirt" and tons of edicine. Ahsley- all the white flowers on Hartwick campus and a knife, cutting board and paper, Jordan. Margaret- a BIG thankyou for all the patience and concern. Amy- bright red suspenders. Emma- a million laughs, funny faces and smiles. THanks for the paper snowflakes. Personal space. Meredith- big black shadow monsters, tons of chocolate, tubs of Noxema, an alarm clock with a dream bar, and the nightly conclusions on the pic of the night. Eric- a GOOD joke book. Matt- a free season at the Yoga Center for the Arts. RIch- nails and a hammer for your feet in those jazz solos. Ally- Every Dave Matthews bumper sticker shirt album sung, hat, key chain, and Dave himself. Joe- tons of pencils and my watch. Dave- an unbelievable trumpet solo by me, to prove what an awesom teacher he is. Melissa- my adress in heaven so you can send me all your recital clothes, I love them. Paul. I mean Pawwl, 3rd trumpet bonding. Tom- water, candy corn.

I would like to thank you all for 6 wonderful summers. Hartwick has become a part of my life, and I have grown so much in my years here. This palve has given me many invaluable expirences and helped me along on my career path. I have learned a great deal by working iwth you all and I thank everyone-I love you all. In particular, I would like to thank HaNa Chang and the Women's Choir for makin gmy first teaching expirence so great. I would also like to thank my counselors, CITS, and 2nd floor campers for being so fantastic. Special appreciation to Carla- you truly touched my heart with your letter and inspired me more than you know. Thank you. To Kim- the concert master's bow, and the word is WOW! To Susannah- thank you for your friendship. You are a beautiful person whom I really look up to. HaNa- you have helped me so much this summer. I could not have done it without you. TO everyone here- I have had some of the best times in my life here. I thank you for the joy that you have given me, and all that you have taught me. May you always know happiness and be strong. G-d bless you all. - Shoshana Rahmani

I Julie Zeritmaier leave Meaghan- a back rub, a prime view in Festival Choir of your latest hottie, soda to work on those belches, cushioned clothes to protect you when everyone sits on you, pot and cigarettes, a recording of you saying mother f---er so you don't have to waste your breath saying it all the time, an obese mermaid, 6 broken, 12 slaps in the arm, and a bash in the head. Kara- Crash! Susan's yearbook, late night phone calls to Ricki, a ring destroyer, a wooden head joint, chalk, a BRA, the Horde Fest, more hemp to make up for all that I took, a night of (sort of) playing duets, a closet ventilator for those long hours in the closet, "Can I fart in your bed?", the day you cleaned your stuff out at our room, and friendship 4-ever. Susan- late night chats, "lights out (HA!)", a slightly louder vacuum, wet paper towels, our extraordinary artistic skills which are shown in our murals, and all the late nights we spent on it, chalk, chalk, and more chalk, our jointly made hemp necklace, the ever addictive Pringle's, "PUT YOUR SHIRT ON!", a view of the night sky from your bed, the Horde Fest, a slightly shorter (and tighter) skirt, endless Coke cans and a great friendship forever. Amanda- endless Doritos and Pringles, Sam's club Coke cans, a Woodstock Live CD, late nights in our room, "what I can't see won't hurt me." Grace- a funky wooden key chain, a trip to Walmart, a chair in the hallway while you wait for us for dinner, anda pulley from 407 to 103. Juliette- a spider, "assignments" to keep yourself busy, shoes (I think I've borrowed every pair you have!) Danah- Brian (I know you like him), my black pants, late night chats and 10 lbs.

I, Christine Lester leave Lauren Miller- Our best friend ("Yeah, like, and then the monkey came after them!"), all the yummy reused lettuce and noodles from the commons, "How badly do you want this?" Nicole Lequerica- a louder voice so that everybody can enjoy your beautiful singing voice, a stripper (HA!), a long stare when you're singing. Bethany Einschlag- Nsa Nio!, all the fun we had in our trio. Virginia Stringel- Scat girl! (thanks for your support!) Meredith Hoffman-Thompson- My quilt/rug, a maid (to help you keep your half of the room clean), Best wishes in all you do in the future. Katie- All of my dress clothes, cans of Coke and Sprite (to make up for those I stole from your fridge), a huge hug- you're the best!

Greg DeTurck's Will: I'd like to start off by thanking Maestro Charles Schnieder for conducting the Prokofiev Concerto- it will undoubtedly be the most special memory I take from Hartwick. On that matter, I leave Eun-Joo Ahn- number 31, along with the Rachmaninoff Prelude, and more importantly a pretty cool b-day present. Kate Stlukes-Stlukes, Baby (who's so hot), no butterscotch ice cream, only vanilla. Next time I see you you can wear THE sweater that you loved so much. I even left you that logic problem. Angela Fenwick- all the electricity you could possibly handle! I hope that you all remember that Dr. DeTurck says I'm "too fing tall". Robert Jacobs- all the pizza and fries Imanaged to mooch off of you in 6 weeks. Tom Larsen- My address and directions so you can take me to that VIP club. Sarah Corrigan- a flashlight so you can always see frogs, wildanimals, and couples that walk into the woods, never to be seen again. Everyone else- an assurance that I'll keep in touch and that these most interesting six weeks wouldn't have been the same without you.

I, Danah "Fred" Albaum, leave Megan- a bloated mosquito, extra screws for your discman, clothing that matches,samajap, goldfish.
Liz- monk, monk, monk! hyperness during ensembles. Meaghan- an Old Navy store, a coke that doesn't fizz, eating utensils, animal imitations, HOUSEKEEPING, don't worry, my head is o.k... Julie- your closet, Pringles, popcorn. Sydney- important information concerning the mating paterns of Smurfs, my mesh pants, a viola solo (those are rare), dyed hair, Shostakovich, clean laundry to fold, laundry buddy! Alisson- the seagull?, dyed hair, 3rd floor bonding. Eun-Joo- my buddy! lots of hugs, subtle hints. Greg- Fred "Fred Mills" Mills in Germany. Angela- Angie! giggles during cello class. Lara-PIZZA, we're twins, right?, matching wardrobes, a Jewish nose. Penny- Chinese tea party, a new bassoon. Hillary- has the mailcome yet?, punk jeans. Robert- you fool, you eat too much. Why are you so fat? My hat from baby GAP and red hair. Lisa- perfect harmonies, obvious stares in a certain direction, discussions about philosophy. Susan- duct tape, HOUSEKEEPING, your closet. Kara- poof hair, funky football. Juliette- frookies, James and the Giant Peach?, cool hat, wheat thins. Steph-Abercrombie, foot fungus. Ashley- kow! circular walks during patio time. Kelly- foot fungus, nail polish remover (here, have a whiff). Jen- look, it's Fred Mills!, died hair. Coffee ice cream, peace, love, happiness, and hugs to everyone.

Emerald Lin's Will: Hannah- shampoo, our talks. Alisa- being almost late for everything, orchestras. Ayako- more English lessons. Anna- piano ensembles. Holly- piano ensembles. Danielle- you know who, Festival Orchestra, conducting. Kiran- quintet, stress. Sydney, Greg, Danah, Maureen, Manoj, Hillary- quintet. Orian- our talks, soccer campers. Cecilia Kwak- piano ensembles. Eun-Joo- Festival and Chamber Orchestra, a safety net in case you fall again. Angela- recital stress.

I, Robin Lipkin, leave Kelly- a room for you and Brad, a slip for your dress, can't go without it,"I'm your elf, I'm your dream", cheese whiz, the bus ride to SPAC, Meagan and you, all my love...

Hillary Scott-- To WKAK, I leave my "are you homesick?" clothes. To Catherine I do not leave "the moon" but I'll share him with you. To Tracy, I leave keys to a certain BMW. To Justine and Mim, I leave the memories of the best trumpet player (and the hottest one). To my fourth floor friends, remember being serenaded by Seneca. To Annie, Catherine, Tracy, Mim and Indira I leave out song, "Truly, Madly, Deeply." To Seneca Black, I leave my heart.

Jon Lopez's Will-- I hereby would like to leave the following items to the following people in the quests to becoming better people: Shayna, take a wild guess, I'll sell it to you for...ummm...$250 dollars, maybe. Sam and Dan, umm, well, my pocket lint and my discman- yeah right. Brian-stuff. Cary- a teasy outfit nd a recorded tape of my playing Floyd on my awesome guitar. Caroline- Sibelius, just kidding, the video tape of the music theater performance for a good laugh and a list of pet peeves. Bethany, a robot that runs with you. Bret, Garth Brooks, just kidding, I know, I know, Appalichian music, not country. Margaret, ummm... you know that stuff that like comes out of your...well... you know. Bo- everything of, related to, or having to do with Phish. ALex, the deep throat, a tape ofme babbling on about theological ramifications. Katelin, what can I say, ccm.virgina- my brother. Alicia, hearth and soul. Kady, Fivel the Mouse. Everyone, a picture of me because I am so good looking and a Young Chang piano.

I Janie K. Grover leave the following to my dearest friends: My tounge to Andy Weber. Running with Dr. Z to Jessica Ziedb. Something up my nose, something to wear, and all the Primes she can use and a Russian Snob to Vanessa. Yuk and thirty years to Alex Evans. An open invitation to Burlington to Boram Lee. A big piece of pork and best counseler award to Brett. A Happy Haunaka to Holly Althouse. A big thank you to all of the friendly female counselers and CITs who walked me to the health center at night. A bunch of stupid girls to Matt. A good laugh and a decent meal to Vin, Adam, and Ben.

I Jessica Brill of debatably sound mind and body, leave the following items to the following people: Amy S. the fond yet somewhat embarrassing memories of "M" and "S", water fountains and stairs, ice cream- even if you did have alterier motives. I have so many memories, but I shouldn't write an essay. You better keep in touch, we have to get together before next summer. I miss you already! Hey Amy, why are you so tired at night? Sara F: the memory of that 1st horrible tennis match and the thought of the hike all the way up to the courts, and mint chocolate chip ice cream. I'm really glad I got to know you this summer. Let's keep in touch! Alicia D: many fond guitar memories- need I say more? You're really, really, a sweet person, don't ever change. You know what? Whenever I see Opus, I'll think of you. You better write me. Jeff G. 88 bowls of chocolate pudding, the knowledge that I'll work on my forte playing, and a roll of scotch tape. (ya know, for your shirt) You were a great ensemble partner, you better keep in touch! "forever and ever" Richard V. a tremendous amount of guilt (i hope) over the disgraceful manner with which you treat your clarinet. But then, maybe you "city folks" from the big "metropolis" don't have an understanding of what "careful" means. Don't worry, I'll try to cut down on the amount of mixing of food that I do. I'm gonna work on my non-existant improv skills this year- I promise! Let's keep in touch. Becky S- a baseball cao, the memory of our LIFE game and coffee. Thanks, I guess, for having the nerve concerning a certain person when I didn't. Please keep in touch. James R- the superior title of the "concert master". Guess what? I moved up to principal second in symphonic band. Big deal, right? I'm still not as good as you- I know what you are thinking. Bethany E. your Jewl CD since I already have it memorized, and a nice big, juicy, veggie burger. Write to me. Steve S- a big bowl of cherrios and my amazement concerning your musical ability. You're a terrific piano player. If you get a chance, write to me. Christina F. all the joy we had learning Varations on a Korean Folk Song Now I'm principal second in symphonic band. Aren't you proud of me? ya know, it was your influence that caused my technique to improve. Lara M your Suffolk County Police sweatshirt. Yeah. Next summer, bring your raquet. Consider yourself challenged to another match. Raphey- the meaning of my name after all it took to remember it, you better not have forgotten already! Always remember the "sad food" at Hartwick. Eric S- the knowledge taht you are, and always will be, my superior when it comes to playing cards. The memory of the duck will live on in my heart forever. We should keep in touch. Patty G- to your own cheating resources (spit) Always remember conducting class! Trust me- you're an excelllent concert mistress. You deserve the title, keep in touch. Shelia C- 88 troughs of ketchup, a gallon of Blueberry Honey Grahm ice cream, a wad of green gum on a fork, and a specific instrumentalist including his goofy glasses and his mouthpiece! Anne S. -A certain member of a certain crew of a certain festival located in Oneonta, NY. I promise I'll try and get info for you, and mail it to ya! Andrew D. -a brand new oboe, free from the fingerprints of criminals, and a brand new swab, guarenteed not to get stuck in any size, shape, or type of instrument. Also, congrats on being the 1st jazz oboeist at Hartwick. May the tradition live on.

I Anneliese Seitz leave to Rachel, cracking up in Symphonic Band, all those times we said we would practice and never did. I don't think we were in tune and were you playing? To Margeret and Isaac, counting rest in symphonic band. To Bethany, I want to get off, and eating lunch together. To Domingos, your story about about the stuck C, backflips onto the stage and your incredible ability to open doors in Anderson. TO Katie, running to get the bari, being interviewed by A Swiss journalist. Playing cards in the red chairs covered with pillows, getting up at 5:30, and midnight swimming. To everyone in Ian's sax ensemble, our first attempt at a funeral march, and walking up to the town houses. TO Hartwick, a bari that doesn't break. To Lucy, a cute trumpet player. To Brian, are Megan and I really sisters? To Alex, an easier way to carry a bari and more free time. To Paul the trombone player, the perfect amount of space between your chair and a certain someone in front of you. To Perry a new deck of cards. To Jacob, the winning bottle cap to Coca Cola. To Alexiou more time to talk to you.

Alisa Seavey's Will- I leave Emerald "dahn, da da dahn, da da dahn!" I leave Ayako all my bilingual abilities. I leave Kiran a surgically implanted key in her foot, so she doesn't forget hers anywhere! I leave Sydney more quartet and quintet smiles. I leave Hannah Lee I leave another foot of hair and some chapstick. To Greg DeTurk, Andy Ho, Syndy Solow, Danah Albaum, my quintet, I leave some more fun quintet experinces, where everything goes our way. To Eun-Joo Ahn I leave a stage where she won't fall off of and more smiles.

I, Benjamin Montgomery now heading into the giant circle of life, would like to evenly distribute my possessions, forst for those closest to my heart, the conselers, for Gave, James, and the rest of the first floor repressors/tyrants/dictators, I leave my persistant difiance and my baby bottle and blanky and noght light and crib and everything I need to go to bed with at 10 o'clock.Next, for one my newest heros, Seneca, I leave my straw hat so he can really be be cool. For my roomate Vinny, I leave the song of a poet who died in a gutter and an umbrella to stay out of the rain thats gonna fall. For my other roomate, John Travolta, I leave the soul of the radiator in the pad of the infamous E.C.P. and food he can play with much to the delight of...well anyway... I'll leave Adam my bedsheets because he already destroyed them. I'll leave Evan a message from 20 of my finest experts. I leave Ajay the power to rock the party that rocks the party for the sole reason that he rocks the party. And those are all the peopel whose names I know. For everyone else, I just leave you my words, "Find peace and you will rock the party that rocks the party."

I, Lauren Miller, leave my possessions to the following- to my roomate Allison- our inside joke wall (has the banana shown up?) Our neat room and out "extended" lights out, I leave our colorful door, too. You're the coolest. To Christine (How badly do you want to read this?) Lots of fun in movement for Actors, our exciting roles in music theater. THe delcious salads with a new ingrediant each and every day. (Hmm... broccoli in a salad with no brocoli. I need to investigate make a note of it. Flunk your students for me!) To Nicole, I leave killer dances (get it?) and elbow problems. And I leave starin at our sweeties 24/7. To the fourth floor girls- solo guitar rocks! Stay cool. Seneca's hot!!

The last will of Kara Nostrand- To Julis Zentmaier I leave a loving friendship, a clean room with none of my stuff lying around, beautiful duets with our all the giggles even though that would suck! A kick in Doug's butt! All of out classes and out beautiful composing talents on these basic computer programs, ah! All the sweetness in the world and a ticket with Susan and I to the HORDE. A beautiful Seneca all for yourself and a nap. A night without me on the phone and a beautiful new flute. And last but not least, a huge bad of shrimp chips. Smile sweetie! To Susan Dodge I leave the beautiful James Wong forever, a long one with John but only until Joel pops in. A great Spanish accent for those operations and a pizza box of ants. A long friendship with Brooke Sweetie. A very short skirt and lots of duct tape in all the places. A long party, tons of paraphanalica and a sucessful body shot. A toliet at all times. A chance to know the "real" Ricky and of course his banged up ring. THe talent to jiggle your boobs. No more screwed up pinkys and a ticket to the HORDE. And all my love and a friend that you "knew your whole life". To Meaghan Nelsen I leave a phat blunt and a couple skills and the coursge to take off your bra. An elbow in the back and a "nice" back rub. All the confidence in the world and GAVIN. My afro and a nice long hit to calm your nerves. And a meal card to pop things with. A friend and the gift of simplisity in life. To juliette Wallack yet another year in music camp. Dr. Zven at the Gorilla. THE GORILLA! All dressed up in a rodeo, oh that Gorilla! Our late night talks at the window in the rain. A new pair of shoes, non-wooden! I leave to you a Peave Treaty and of course a lasting friendship. To Evan Cabb a sweet hug and a kiss that I wish I gave you. To our part-time conducting class for session 2, weeks 3 and 4, 16 more verses to Aura Lee. To HCSMF&I all the brightness and "when you get confused listen to the music play." "Sometimes you get shown the light in the strangest of places if you look at it right." Let it shine.

Every time I think about America, I smile and think about how your faces light up whenever I say "out and about", or whenever I talk about "bags" of milk. I'll never forget the memories that I've had here. To all those that I have known, hugged, or shared a smile with, I wish you all the happiness, laughs and bright futures. To those that have comforted me in ttimes of needs, those who have tolerated my crazy laughing spurts, and those that have helped me and inspired me to learn I leave my sincerest thanks. To my bunnies, hunnies, the electrifier,

Charles Peter, my huggable twins, teachers, studs, no-smilers, tig, late-night talkers, my American boy, phats, my baby, monk, my trio pals, sexy mamas, girls mentioned in songs, my little brothers and sisters, and the whole second floor I leave my love. "We cannot see tomorrow for it lies around the bend, but we can make today more precious when we share it with our friends." I love you all. Angela Fenwick

I, Tamara Finn, will not be leaving the traditional old shoes and messy rooms. THose of you who are my friends, and you know who you are, meant too much to me to do that. We've shared a lifetime together, not only this summer, but in the previous four years. Until our paths cross again, I'd like to say thank you. Thank you for all of the crazy days and wild nights. THank you for the shoulders to cry on. THank you for the laughter, and just being there. Thank you for listening. THank you for trying to save me from my mistakes. THnak you for sticking around after I've hurt you. Thank you for smiles and hugs. But, most of all, thankd you for your friendship. I am truly lucky to have friends as wonderful as all of you. No matter where life takes us, I wish you all luck, success, love, and happiness. Never stop making music and never stop being yourself. I love all of you and will keep the memories you've given me close to my heart forever.

To my loved ones here at HCSMF&I, In the summer of 1997, a little Philadelphian journeyed to Oneonta to see a new part of the world. Being here in Oneonta, I've expirenced some of the world's finest treasures- in musicians, mentors, leaders, friends, and stiff like that. There were days when we cried, screamed, laughe, slept, and shared out love- we shared lots of laughs bowls of french fries, inside jokes, trips to the ice cream cooler, beautiful dorm rooms, hours of just chillin'. We shared our love and our hopes and perhaps we even dicovered some new shining dreams. I have a wonderful summer. Words do absolutely no justice as to how much I've enjoyed this place, the people, the activities, everything. From bunnies, pseudo-buniies, Freds, woodchucks, Phats and hunnies to "bold boys:, stallers, wild stand partners and the GREAT ones, we've felt a lot of loving here. Without all of that loving, I would have most likely left after 1st session. I know this "will" is all kinds of general, but I don't want to forget anyone at all. You've all been so grrrrreat- and I can't wait until we met again. Remember stargazing nights- CIT outings, Friendly's, mini-golfinf, Polar Bear, Dunkin' Donuts, cold fields high up, birthday parties, sleepovers, kimbon and kimchee, binged,' nicknames at dinner (buddy/the edge, Tig, Minnie, Stlucks) fitted sheets, sexy mama dresses, complaining about lost wallets and wrong new cars, goofy faces and sunny smiles in orchestra, late nite reading sessions, no Diggietie, Send Me On My Way, Kissing You, trendy mama style (all of themP college a capella music, Apple Boy and Fork Boy, "All Night Long"s, 4 people on the couch in Yagar, Lemonheads and chewy peaches, smiles, hugs, kisses and ultimate happiness. You've all made this summer incredible, not only through you music, but through your wisdom, friendship, support, ideals and fun thoughts. For tolerating my more yucky days, I deeply thank you. And to our teachers- I thank you all so much for what you've taught me in these brief summer weeks alone. *To my oh-so-hot-girls: we've snagged the world's Charles Peter, Charlies conquered the electrifiers, created the best 6 weeks possible. You've brought me great hugs, words of wisdom, hours of entertainment and relaxation, comfortable shoulders to cry on, hopes for future dinner parties together, more stars to wish upon. Together we created our own bunny cult (according to the great Conrad) and healed out Sarah's silly eating habits :). What a way to bring us together! I love you all and hope your years treat you well. Cheers to merry days and let your true selves shine through always!

Since we are limited to 250 words this year, HaNa is making this will short by not stating who gets what. Colleen Clarke- Gavy and Leonardo DiCaprio. Virginia Gae- a growth spurt. Marissa Puia- endless soap operas. Gretchen Somner- a happy and true ending to all soap operas.

I, Karin Glaizer, leave: Rebecca H.- the rest of the summer with Jackie (what was that about roommate requests?! [I'm joking, Jackie!]), Gap clothes, cereal for breakfast, lunch and dinner, "I'll meet you by the bathroom...!" I'll miss you! Jackie H.- pixie sticks, Ridillin, duct tape, size 0, small hands, bad hair days ("Not like yesterday...!"), trips to the bank, your hollow head, "I love your shoes!", strutting around in your...what?!, beginning piano class, and brushing your teeth 2 minutes before concerts! I'll miss it all! Sarah Z.- what else but the Aztecs and the Mayans?!, we don't need to be politically correct!, dancing (and dancer boy), the salsa, RENT!!, we're in the asthma club!, "See, he's looking at you!", wall hangings ("But it's see-through!"), that dress was NOT too low!, if I can do it, you can, even if it's just one syllable- "Hey!" I'll miss you! Gru- the name in itself! If they're hot, nice, and single, they're gay!, let's see... hat boy (mine!), Pinky and the Brain, Cherokee (Go me! I've got the power! I've rid myself of the bondage!), Tuba...no, Muscleman (we can share him if only the stupid thing gets out of our view!), and last but definitely not least, the STAGE CREW!!! "I hate Anne! Well, not really! We're happy for her, right?!" Combat chicks! Chinese food really reeks! POTTY TIME!!! Swiss cheese guys are definitely cool! You're loose- 9 guys on the bus!, KINKY!, "I don't think the lunch (breakfast, dinner, etc.) food's edible!" Gavin without his shirt on, NOBODY gets to eat in my room, you're a varsity loser! "What kind of a moron gets on an elevator at this ungodly hour?!" The answer lies before us! I'll miss you tons, wacko! I hope my chocolate covered cherry cheered you up! We'll go combat shopping, right?! You've got the power, too, trust me! Anne K- Anne with an "e", you were the best roommate ever! Our special (musical) bond, "He was looking at you, I swear!", WICKED!!- it was HOW cool?, is your neck tight?! My hat boy - I still say he's your Pinky!, my depressions and long phone calls at night, thank you a million times for your comforting and consoling, which leads me to the infamous Cherokee - it was all that I wanted and I can't believe I did it! I've got the power - with your help, that is! Am I obsessed?!, blue bras and white shirts, ("Oh my G*d!"), "We were NOT watching him, we were already looking out the window!", NOBODY is eating in our room ever again!, who's that little annoying kid in musical theatre?, dancing and dancer boy ("Can I tell him he f*d up your shoulder?"), Swiss cheese basses (and drummers!), "I fell asleep to Glycerine!", "Guess who I ran into?!", we definitely need a broom to respond to these odd noises coming from upstairs!, remember to think before you speak, potty time, "There's sugar on my bed!", who looked better - me or the Volkswagon?, I'd better clean my room before I get another yellow!, you're a varsity loser! It's been too much fun. I'm gonna cry - I know it! I'll miss you soooo much, but we'll keep in touch and hang out, okay? Always remember it wasn't your fault and that you're the sweetest, nicest, goodest (but not TOO good, right?) person I know! I'll make sure to tell you the next time I hear guys at 1:45 in the morning! I'll miss everyone - thanks for giving me such a great time! The jazz was great, the pizza was good! The Chinese wasn't. For future references, Volkswagons always seem to be cool and nice in the beginning, but just wait, they'll turn out to be a royal pain in the neck! I'VE GOT THE POWER!

Daniel Davidson hereby bequeaths the following: To Kady F, James, a hot chocolate machine to take home with her, an Exederin PM addiction, a coffee addiction. To Sari Bank, a couple more of those "Grateful Dead CD's," an honorary degree in ringing church bells, a boyfriend who isn't "taken," "the talk," a message chair, someone who believes that "he's not my boyfriend." To Rachel Evans, a ten-yeaer-old whose mature enough. To Jonathan Brooks, the ability to wake up the first time the alarm goes off. To Borahm Lee, Dank via air mail. To Matt Bejune, lots of pink hair gel. To Adam S and friends, free protection. To James Wong, someone to laugh at after I'm gone. To Erica Warner, lotsa hugs, a better knee than Sari.

I, Alicia DeTraglia, would first like to thank everyone who helped me feel better and made my summer camp experience a whole lot better. Rachel Diamond, we had our good times and we had our bad times but in any case we made it through. You are a great friend and I hope we always stay in touch and always be friends. I know you will be okay. Megan L., singing, soccer, talking. I'm glad we became friends this year. Hope we always stay in touch. Thanks for being there for me, too. Steve Singer, perfect tone guy. I can't believe how good you are on the piano. Well, always stay as musical and nice as you are. Keep in touch. Matt B., leader of our quartet, thanks for being as nice and sweet and funny as you are. I hope to see you next year. Thanks for also making the quartet a great success. Shana D., I think you're in love with John's guitar. Anyway, I'm glad we met this year. I hope to see you again. Keep in touch. Alex A., hey Mack Daddy King Alex. Sorry for being crazy at times but I'm happy we got to know each other. You're a great musician. Jesse Chertow, the little French horn boy who knows everything. You are a very hyper kid but I'm glad we met this year. Bethany Einschlag, hey babe. It's great we stayed friends. I'll definitely write to you on-line. Thanks for also helping me out. Erin Fehn, running girl, just kidding. Hope you had a fun time at camp this summer. Always stay in touch. Alissa Kleinman, guess who?! I'm really glad we stayed friends. We have to keep in touch. Thanks for being a friend. Jeff Greenbaum, I feel like running, how about you? Anyway, I'm glad I got to meet you this year. You're a really nice guy. Write to me on-line. Sheila Cullen, you know ... Rice Krispes for breakfast are not really nutricious. I'm glad we got to be friends this year. Always stay as fun and loveable as you are. Jessica Brill, its been fun. Thanks for being a great friend this year. Always stay in touch. It was fun watching you singing and dancing in Music Theater. Always be as sweet and as nice as you are. Amy Spindel, sweet, sweet Amy. Camp was fun. Thanks for being there whenever I needed help. Keep in touch.

Sara Fazlulahi's Last Will and Testaments

Dearest Erin Fehn, You were a great roommate and friend. I leave to you the joys of rummaging through my stuff that was on my dresser. Hehe just kidding honey. You were one of my greatest yookles, and what does Boobala mean? Dear Amy Spindel, I probably spent the bulk of my time with you. You are a great friend and musician. You know I love ya!!! You better keep in touch!! Well, at least now I won't be sleep walking into your room in the morning! Dear Jackie H., MOOOOOOOOOOO, you will always be my cow!! I luv ya! Dear Megan, Monica, and Leah, Our singing rituals from conducting to choir were fun. I think we are gonna give Jerry a nervous break down!! Hehe I love all of you guys!! Dear Lara Mones, Why did you have to move up in Gemini?! Be sure to come and visit me in the orchestra!!! Dear Alissa K., You made my first days here easier along with the help of Erin and Lara. THANK YOU!! Dear Bethany E., I can't believe people think that we are sisters!!! It's cool with me though. Sorry for walking into you room all those mornings!! You were cool about it, though! Hehe, make sure you are decent though, BEFORE you say "come in." Dear Sheila Cullen, WOW!!! You are SUCH A GOOD musician, I hate you for that! But I love you! Don't forget to write! Poor, Poor, Jerry, hehe, we are gonna give him a break down. Dear Linsy, We definitely have perfect pitch!! Not really, but SHHHHH don't tell anyone!! Dear Jeff Greenbaum, I don't think that I can sleep in Van Ess tonight with ya!! Hehe, poor Joe...I think I scared him. Well it was funk knowing ya! Our stories about Joe and Erin were funny, hehe. And I know that your room number is 218!! "Nooo, nooo, you definitely can't do that, yeah you definitely can't." Dear Alex (Albert), That is pretty cool that we know the same people on L.I. Keep in touch and I might see ya when out on your end of the island! And Suffolk is better than Nassau! Dear Alicia D., We shared some rough times, but we got through them together. I love you and remember that! K.I.T. Dear Jessica Brill, Well, you have to live up here in Oneonta, but come down to L.I. sometime, you can sleep over. Dear Nicolo, Hi honey, sorry that you went home early, I love ya! Dear Evan, You definitely are the cutest flue player that I've ever met!! Stay just the way that you are! Dear Jerry (conducting & computer teacher), Well you got thrown into the job...and you did a fine job. Just remember to relax and TAKE A VACATION!!!! You are way to stressed! Dear Steve Singer, HEY! You are a great pianist and y our concerto was wonderful!! Luv ya!

The Will of April Galletly: Liz- a lifetime supply of Surge... don't get too hyper!, "Oi Io", art lessons, "master of the House" and my flannel pants. Elenor- 13 pieces of pizza, my Garcia Beanie Baby, and next time you go to the ER you'll have Dr. Ross. Marcia- Will Smith! Also my "Oi-oi"necklace and my sesame street band-aids. Lauren - "I am a monk...", a lighter instrument case and lots of laughs! Jessie- all those monk jokes, joint letters and your "Perfect Man". Young In- "Gullah Gullah Island" episodes, "3 weeks" of piano, and "saving" Giga pets. Rachel- All the Dr. Pepper you can drink, music theater memories...."and one".... OI! Meghan- my "short" shorts. Danah- all the little blue men you want! (Smurfs that is!). Risa- tons of orange sherbert cooler's from Friendly's! Anna- think teeter-totter.. And octupi. Sam- anything from "Les Miserables!" Michelle- all my Gavin Ros ssdale pictures. Emma- our piano playing memories, my Emma Saunders book and the hat. Margaret- whatever you want of my stuff I'm not taking any chances!! And to all the 4th floor girls I leave great health insurance.... you know we all need it!

I, Jeffrey Greenbaum leave Bethany, the best ensembles coach, "what's a mistress?," jacassing in the pool/track, our Jersey accents, Symphonic Band (w/ Norris) jokes, massage competitions, "you're so immature," "go converse," and Chris B's adorableness, tank tops, massage, and crown. Sheila, the founder of the monarchy, forehead muscles, the Yager hill, the bra burning hippie days of wild sex behind the glass by the gun game, the library home, 2:30 AM adventures, my red notebook, the flag, Phil Smith and Seneka, "Institute AOL forever (ch) and ever (ch)" (with hands up and shaking fingers), my secrets/ friendship, and Brendan's book. Sara Marie, my lover, mad x during the night in Rm. 218, no...no...no...definitely not, eh-eh eh-eh, "Lenoa is ok," our late night chats/walks, advice, Maria, "can you hit the ball?," and the Hallelujah chorus. Amy, the spy, all that improv. soloing, batteries, Sara walking into your room, people breaking into the library, and the Yager light on at night. Patty, the cheating concert mistress, the gossip that you always wanted to hear, rolling down the hill, volleyball, squares, diagnols, and all of those funky shapes, card games, the JERSEY (correct) way. Jessica, the o' so famous Jessica Brill, vocal/lab jazz, and Symphonic solos, and that solo G in ensembles, and our dropping ensemble and those ensemble perfomances. Christina, my frisbee mentor, Toccata (pronunciation) and Fugue, free throws, tennis lessons for frisbee lessons, HEY (with a big jump and an arm wave), a festival band week 1 sectional. Joe, a great roommate (even all we had our problem), "You're the neat freak, not me" (check plusES), morning notes, noisy blinds, floor bondings, my disgustingness, gossip, lots of sleep and energy, and a potential check minus (my music stand). Anne, our queen, a volleyball, "...can't go to Walmart," 2nd session registration, Florie's smile (2x), 4th week CIT meeting, prinicpal librarian, ND, and DB&Mel. Beckie, my Juliet, being serenaded/ reciting Shakespeare lines and then nearly falling down the long hill, my Sunday tears, and the Bulldog Brass (you know which ones). Alicia, the hyperist person that I know, pixi sticks, a happy 4th, my shyness, and sudden runs. Jessica, the practiceworm, cheering me up on those Sundays (you're sincerity will always be greatly appreciated). Alex, my story telling victim, a sax embouchure, James O'Sullivan and the Spice Girls Theme, getting "intimidated," e-mails, my Jersey gossip, my rooming stories, and all of my other adventures that I told you about and your reactions. Gretchen, our ball girl, dorming Anne, a marching band packet, Florie's mirror, and Jon. Megan, the hesitant recitalist, sore legs, Hal Janks, walking with James, jammin' by the gorilla, and singing/conducting songs. Sai, the other runner, waking up one early morning to run 2 miles, and "Wild America." James, my running partner, the mornings and my accent before our runs, your jokes, a race (I'm the better distance runner and you know it), and Sara's short-term memory. Jesse, my tennis partner, our 4 mile run, finally nearly completing a best of 5 set match, and being overwhelmed by meeting my friends. Kathy, the 1st female in festival jazz 1997, Seneka, Erica, Bryan's q's, Natalia and her dress stealing, and a pound of ice cream. Richard (Rrrricarrdo), the Italian with the Conn, Jess's solos, and those clarinet audtions. Eric, my wake-up call, a tennis ball. Erin Fehn, my fellow distance runner, mud from a Wed. morning run, a (serious) poem , my adoration, and you are a great person/runner, never forget that...I hope to keep in touch. Florie, our connections, UNSMOKED cigarette paper, running to wk.1's festival band concert, our sectionals, erratic/confusing beat patterns, and deciding the 2nd session performing ensemble. Dan, the peasant, "play louder, darn it" (with a jump in the air), Scherzo's ending, music, and a pencil. Tammy, the sleeper, your night off and music. Dr. Z, our running leader, flies on your hat from the mud run, and running club. 2nd floor Van Ess, 2nd sessions guest lights out, our theme, the bus ride to the opera, and crazy LIGHTS OUT in 1/2048 of a second. To the Week 2 Clarinet Monarchy - You guys are they greatest people/musicians, and I will never forget any of you. I leave you our sectionals, festival music (fun/difficulty of wk.1), a poster (..waiting for Sheila to mail me a piece of the puzzle so that we can hopefully put it back together next year), Hal Jank's humor, and Dr. Wilson's "interesting" conducting patterns. And last but not least, to my dinner table, my "social" meals, my stories, my full trays (with hard food), diet coke vs. root beer, sculptures, and finally my love for each and everyone of you, as I will miss you when I depart, so e-mail me frequently (find out the address if you don't know it). I will definitely miss you all and think about the fun times that we had frequently.

I, Scott Harrison, being of sound mind and body, bequeath all my worldly goods to the Hartwick College Summer Music Festival and Institute so that campers for years to come will appreciate and prosper from the man, the myth, the legend that is the essence of my life, my reason for for being, my purpose as a musician and a person who laughs and cries like all others who have taken a walk on a misty morning through a path that leads nowhere, yet every-where and always ends up in the same place: the hearts of those who have experienced the meaning of this yearning to be one with the environment surrounding all of us as we become warriors in the truest sense, ready to battle anyone who may challenge our right to live, to breathe, to exist, to create and to be the best people we can possibly be in the eyes of thosewho have met danger, looked it in the eye, and then, as true men, passed it by and let go of the feeling that captured their whole lives in a wave of hysteria that would only end when true enlightenment was achieved by the dreamers dreaming of a time when they could live peacefully among the peoples of this world and say, as extended family: Amen.

I, Alissa Kleinman, being of sound mind and body, hereby give: Karen- the hummed version of "You're a Grand Old Flag...", all those groups with funny names from England, friends who are pathological liars, a trio that has all their instruments intact and no greasy hair and all those late night discussions. Lara- J.K., the hand thing over the face, air freshener for smelly rooms, the Popcorn Factory's number on speed dial, a singing career with the Metropolitan Opera, every trumpet player with a receding hair line, bags of barking dogs (you know what breed!), a trip to Georgia, near Russia, saltines, peaches, pears, pineapples, raisin bagels, my long line of guys waiting to talk to me. Erin- An extra shirt or two to change into after an ice cream spill, your imitation of the Tig Ten, bowls of granola to top your ice cream, a ticket to the playoff game between the Mets and Braves! Joe- a B-nametag, your mom's goldfish, air that makes you drunk, cork grease, the 5 elements of music. Alicia- an extra two weeks! Emily- clean shirts after a meal and the ability to hold onto your wallet. Amanda- show tunes, not classical music.

I, Sari Bank, leave the following: Daniel Davidson - talks after 10:00, the bells every hour, our tree, the stair and security guards, a razor not on strike, your "better half," the contents in your Grateful Dead CD, more medicine, Mr T-armani 10% off, gelatin poptarts, more cheese, my favorite grey sweatshirt, pink lemonade, a 12 course meal; Kady Fleckenstein - a room on the first floor, her own key to room 105, her own clothing, team cheerios, tuba man, J.S. and a fan club, threesome, a calling card that works, your aw-wful, a dry erase board with a good message, hypocrite, a sleepover, a funky accent, passing notes; Erica Warner - a neater room, more cleaning supplies, Bernstein, express and limited, the right pair of shoes, more detergent, a good knee during a fire drill, a senior bedtime, 11:01 talks, bed by midnight, a mirror that sticks, Mr Goodbars, a mom apron, a fridge that smells nice; Rachel Evans - a mature boy, an older sister, a castle on a cloud, ice cream; Heather Daniels - a gossip column, a plainview girl, nice jappy bag, a voice that is distinct; Alix - a face without black and blue marks, a vocal technique lesson -J/k, a personal thrift shop, gossip about the men, the 3rd and 4th floor, more facial expressions, a bike with a warning sign, the health center and their diagrams

Tim Fallon, of flawless physique and mind, body, and soul, leaves Margaret - "HONK!", "nice dress," walks (you know where), ABC game, one Irish Jew, Hava Naghila, fixing of dress during concert, laughing, laughing, laughing, Sal Rosenburg, O'Kada, Aw Yeah, It's Raining Men banjo style, one night at Glimmerglass (awe yeah baby!), praise worthy religious dances, rubber duck squeak, uncontrollable laughter, lunch with Justin, Ricola!, the rolling of the bowl, $5.75 fried rice (oh my God, that's some good rice!), Oy, Mazel Tov!, Eskimo kisses; Madeline - moments in the library (you know), telephone booth, the piano bench (all the possibilities!), my sharpie spiders, biting!, Girlie Stuff!, Mazel Tov!, a pinch (you know); Dave A. - "walks"; Conrad and Isaac - Tem Faellon, "Freeze," seersucker, transformers (watch out for the toaster and your car), peanut butter and jelly, gay men eat lots of ice cream; Virginia - the jazzers, a Chinese take-out box, tardiness to rehearsal, purple hair dye, Nature Boy; Doug - trippy music (spank me), moments in the library, the apple, Dougie Fresh and the Sunshine Band; Erika - "kookiness," Alex, and love; Elisa, Deena, and Jeanine - many happy meals in the cafeteria; Marie - walks, ABC game and many frenulums; Cory - whips and chains!; Evan and Ajay - thanks for the not so great hide out spot; Flying Tiger - pair of striped pants, one pair of plaid shorts, aloe plant, thanks for being the gosh darn best roommate!; (1) Jocelyn and (2) Jocelyne (but really #1 in my book) - improv class, the lady in the office, McLean Principal, low budget films, Austin Powers; Elizabeth Z. - Do, La, Fa, Re, Skat, R&B sister, a lot of laughs.

Having spent so many hours poring over my will (and typing other people's) that I am no longer of sound mind or body, I, Maureen Hurtgen, leave to Alissa - relief from the long lines of guys waiting to talk to you, a patent for your famous venom, Billy Joel, nauseating public displays of affection at lunch!, frequent visits to a certain dog-inhabited Georgia town, patio time (just kidding), pizza night, doing laundry; Emily - interesting conversations, little-known racing facts on a Bugles box; Amanda - pizza night, doing laundry, a fawn (good job!); Karen - reed-making, the conspiracy against Alissa's successor; Christina - doors that actually keep people out, "Summertime," Swiss guys or any hot guy with an accent, a second wardrobe so you don't have to wait for people to return all your clothes, a lock of hair from your roommate's stand partner, evening trumpet serenades; Kate - nice shoes that fit, another 2 weeks at camp so youu don't have to say goodbye; Heather - an adorable personality - oh wait, you already have that; Hannah - intimidating quartet rehearsals, cool tattoos; Emerald - intonation, Rachmaninoff; Kiran - anxiety about the quintet, where in Pennsylvania we live; Greg, Eun-Joo and Angela - hugs; Robert - your own pencil, cookies in chamber orchestra; Danah - a belt, enough polish for 4 toenails, coffee ice cream, Mozart - you know he's the best!, falling asleep in chamber orchestra; Lisa - exploding soda bottles, inappropriate noises while playing, Young Changs, your pick of the male counselors; Felicitas - Ich Liebedich (is that right?); Jocelyne - dances on the steps, the ability to write in French, an outfit to wear your blue flip flops with; Christina, Asher, and Beth - rehearsing of our own free will over a weekend!; Sang Eun - being my ensemble coach 3 times, keeping a straight face while playing with pencils, the constipated quartet; HaNa - a Southern accent so you can say "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" the right way; Kelly - soap operas, one quirky/attractive jazz man; Alex - cool hair, one awesome quartet, and my reverence!; Lara - begging to be dorned, the flirty musical tourist (there's room for a mistress in every relationship), a strategically placed chair on a risor, mandatory patio time, wanna sack?, the soprano solo, lame middle-aged pickup lines, raisin bread and saltines, receding hairlines, markers that look like toasters, "Gus! What the hell are you doing?", beautiful people, the reason last is the best chair, thanks for tolerating my minor obsessions and retardedness; the cello section - the ability to juggle and play standing up.

The last will and testament of Lisabeth Miller doth hereby bequeath: Marissa B - dryer schmutz, an accompanist (whatevuh) SI Power! Fantastic! you are a Jazz Haven! YES YOUR HAIR IS CURLED UNDER; Sarah W - you stole all of Little Bo Peep's sheep - don't you "no wayyy" me you cool cooky dude; Solveiiv - real NY hot pretzels; Kerry W - "sticky hands," chamber choir REGULATORS; Joe R - a pig, a penny and a bottle of Gold Bond; Ali K - the pear I brought to the infirmary but was somehow prevented from giving you; Alex B - red Jell-O, many future cow-tipping adventures; Aaron K - baby powder; Grace M - someone to "tawk" to; Alison J - a lifetime supply of Surge; Alex A - two points toward intonation; Erica W - a voice - redeemable next time you lose yours; Asher W - "All girls travel in packs," wait, someone has to come with me to get the pizza;
Chiara S - dryer sheets, a picture of a white guy; Eric - a pink shirt; Rachel G - jazz violin, no way!;
Elizabeth Z - a sober guy for my sis with the same name as me

I, Lila Nordstrom, leave these things to the following people: Jill Schweitzer - Trix cereal to remind you of cheerios, life hammer free, everything that Emily left you; Emily Porch - life Serena free, life hammer free, a key flippy-thingie dewey; Carolyn Rutenberg - good luck with Andrew, some HUGS so that you can give them to me; Erika Mitry - some crutches just in case you have another dancing accident, all the Grease stuff I can find; Joanna Koslowsky - a bigger fridge filled with candy, life hammer free for this life and your next, shoes that don't stain your feet; Cassie Stephenson - tons of soccer balls and tons of people to play soccer with, footscrub and sneakers so you won't have to use the footscrub that often; Sarah Friedman - a lightweight hard cello case, something to cure the dammage your old case did; Shayna Dulberger - good luck for your career in music (we know you'll be famous), lots of meal cards; Virginia Gao - a growth spurt and a big hug; Celia Landgren - a really nice violin to make practicing more enjoyable.

I, Emily Porch, leave the following things to the following people: Celia Landgren - a book on flirting; Shayna Dulberger - a never-ending supply of meal cards; Carolyn Rutenberg - a LOUD alarm clock, and Andrew, telling your own BS; Sarah Friedman - a schedule that doesn't involve waking up early; Erika Mitry - a string attached to the back of your head that extends your whole body, PUSH & PULL, James impression; Cassie Stephenson - soap for feet, raisins; Joanna Kowslowsky - Grease CD, tissues, a well deserved spot in the student recital, all the 3 Musketeers we ate, UNO cards, sledgehammer; Jill Schweitzer - the flat of your back flat on the floor, Trix cereal, my white shoes, hammer and nail, Serena free life; Lila Nordstrom - clothes that fit, small of my back, untapered jeans, sledgehammer, cheerios, ice cream, "What the hell," tank tops with shirts under them for Greta, a cure for your paranoia, November 13, 1983, and a permanent spot sitting next to Joanna in choir

Megan Lemley's Last Will and Testaments

To Steve Cooley - my practice room with the piano (even thought you don't play it). To James O'Sullivan - my coordination so you might be able to sing AND walk in time during madrigals. To Mr. Wallace - my thanks for your cheerfulness every morning and for your continual understanding, and my name so you might remember that it's not Meredith. To Kate Roberts - Tanglewood and a certain guy who shall remain nameless. To Becky Stewart - many fun nights stargazing on the hill. To Saiko Ono - many attractive decorations for your windows. To Josh Hauser - intelligent blonds so you know that we're not all dumb. To Mr. Janks - the flickering lights of Slade that made our snake hunt all the more fun.

Steve-"Beef", all of the Pearl Jam you can listen to, "Ya Baby", and your own personal "Perfect Swinger" award.Madeline-a piano bench, the 'library expirience', spiders, fun times while saying "hi ya", and flawless preformance of "The Opening Chourus of Faires"Brian-The Warped Weable Wobbles, "Do you find me sexy", your giant egg, Ween and Dweezle Zoppa, and "Broadway Boy".Conrad and Issac-" Doug E. Fresh", A Tribe Collad Quest, the 'library expirience', peanut butter, "Gui-Cut Conrad", and endless hours getting enjoyment out of Amdam's sick and twisted thoughts/ideas.Jordanna-a break from what you got dragged into,"Sba-Girl", and a chance to see Lollapalooza, The Warped Tour, Haide, etc. Tofer-a lesson on how to truthfully tell your age, all the girls you can get, basketball. Sydney-all the advice you ever need, and my best wishes to you and your family in times to come. Dan- fun on the internet, Liz.And finally, to Lydia and Erica, I leave hours of glorious fun in the library, sorry for being such a pig.

Eric Fuhrman's will: I would first like to leave something to my good friend Teal Shorts. To him I would like to leave a big breast from the latter; preferably the one that Isaac shoved in his face and applied to the chest of teal shorts. I leave to Larissa the fact that the speed limit is 30mph in downtown Oneonta. Larissa I'm also giving you everything, all the joy you bring; yes I swear. To Lynne, I give Evan for the lack of something significant. TO James Wong, I give Evan's twizzlers and "5 guys in one month, not bad, eh?". To Evan I give nothing but my ties.

And speaking of clothing I give Danielle my lucky redsand shirt (yup) and the sweater to go around my neck. Jeanine I give back the cigars that you never got around to giving me. I leave Dave and Amit my presence on "walks". And I give Margaret my thanks for keeping everything together. To Rachel, Marissa and Sarah, "I'm very proud of ya." I would just like to tell Matt H. and Dave T. That they stay up to late. To Ariel I leave and order for The World is Yours, and to Joe I leave a course in learning to speak slowly. I give to Virginia from Evan, the book, "Growing Up: when you're too old to act like a child", his bed sheets (for new dresses), his garbage bag (for a new purse), and anything else trendy. Personally I give Virginia some pork friend rice to go with her keys and such. To Dave Rothenberg, Evan and I both give thanks for not kicking us out of camp.

I, Rachel Gore leave the following things to the following people: To Allison Stein, one of my best friends in the world- it was cool! I hope you continue to date Guilford guys, wear your sunglasses, spill on your shirts, over-use Q-tips and hug people you haven't seen in like an hour. Hopefully, ths year you will do as well in New Haven as you did here. To Sarah Winger, dude you are a kook. Everywhere I go with you, a swarm of guys follows. No-I'm kidding, we have to meet in Norwalk soon. I'll bring my brother if you bring yours. You are a cool gal, I'll miss you. To Alex, the coolest guy here- thanks for being ym date to Saratoga Springs. I hope you continue to wear matching socks and shirts. To Kerry- my roommate, we had such a decorated room. The stars were the best part. Good luck with Tom and swim well. Thanks for putting up with my music and waking me up every day. To Stephanie, my ensembles buddy, we had fun going to townhouses every da. There are a lot of things I want to write, but I don't feel like sharing it with the entire camp. I think you know what I'm talking about. To Christina, it was cool to meet you, after hearing so much about you from Allison. If you visit her, contact me too! To Marissa, good luck with your younger men. You are the mack! Its been fun!

I, Anee Kearns, leave: Karin G.- the best two weeks as a roommate, Cherokee, the hat boys, frowns to smiles, napkins. Rachel W.- tense shoulders, dancing, potty time and don't forget to have more great 5 minutes on golf buses. Jackie H.- pixie sticks and walking around in your undergarments. Sarah Z.- the Aztecs, Mayans, and Incas, wall hangings, the salsa, spontaneous hugs and anee mishmesh of mishmesh. Rebecca H.- gap commercials. To anyone who understands I leave back massages, pain in the neck volkswagons, Pinky and the Brain, the swiss double basses are mine and dancers.

I, Beth Kessler, give Big J two tickets to Rent: one for you and one for the guy you'll pick up on the subway on the way there. Rachel, take what you want (you need all the help you can get). Katie, some binoculars to see me and Rachel with some facial hair to match my drawing. Anna, some decaf. Sam, all the peace and quiet you've been having nightmares about. Kelly, some wall paper. Risa, a good steady job as an elevator operator. Jeff, your own TV show starring you and your co-host, Clive Anderson. Verly, a good thunderstorm to play in. Alicia, a nice long nap and a huge bucket of ice-cream for me to make you eat. Brian, $5.50 fora box of pizza and some stories about a big horny dog to tell you while you eat it. Jen, dress up clothes and make-up go nuts! And last but not least that guy whose name I don't know, a door that's, how far away from you? Two inches?

I, Katie Lester, am leaving. But as I do, I leave these precious memories to you, my dear friends: Miss Tiffany-It's been fun getting to know you. Remember nerubnav, wearing all my jewelry, de da ne de ne, and albatross. HaNa-Wanna hold my hand? Party Mamas! I'm glad we're friends. I love you, man, even more than CAESENATY or the salvation army. Jeff D- You are the stud, never forget that! Remember that all of us have insecurities, P.C. isn't all that bad! Dan B- You are the Danimal! Upon your request I leave you sawdust(?). Gabe S- When the cookie speaks, you must listen. Except when it's a chocolate chip cookie telling me to give it to you! Matt H- Hey, baby! You are the epitome of a P.F.I. Matt B-Thank you for listening, and for our late-night chats. By the way, are those space pants you're wearing??? To everyone- Thank you for all the good times we've shared, I will never forget them. Please keep in touch. I love you all. "Do not stand at my grave and weep..."

I, Anna Peterson, am leaving the following things to my roommate Ashley: Large, flying insects, Beatles pictures, Jelly Belly, my key(in case you lose yours again), and crayola crayons. To April, I leave the P. Game, Smurfs, and the park. To Meagan Linzey I leave my clothes, so maybe she wont have to borrow other people's, funky charms, and my french horn. To Lauren, I leave boring band rehersals, certain dumb boys(wink wink), and cool pillows. To Jessica I leave cool nail polish. To Risa I leave that hideous gold dress and Lingera. To Sam I leave Badgammon. To Jeff I leave my beginning piano books so he can finally learn how to read music!, boring concerts and bright shirts. To Elizabeth, I leave my sandals(you know which ones) and boring Symphony Orchestra rehersals. Finally, To Marcia I leave cool braids, octop's and smurfs.

I, Gretchen Sommer, hereby leave Anne S.- "Col. Mustard", Powerade amd Power bars, a new left contact, my green jacket, chocolate cereal bars, a bad romance novel, $ for apologizing, serbet, and a hammer and nail. Kathy D- Jello, serbet, a pad lock, Frosted Cheerios, small bills, purple shorts, big shoes that wont stay on for long, and long legs.

Topher's will: First year rules! I had lots of fun and met a lot of cool people. Best times were hangin out. Hope to see you all next year! Kayte- I leave you my pains and black eyes. Dave- Don't get brought up on charges. Karen- I wish I could practice like you. Meredith- Nice 8,000$ Bassoon. Keep singing, you have one of those voices that everyone's envious of. Jen- the first year was great. Thanks for all the good times. Allison- Good things come in small packages, in your case exceptionally small(Just kidding!). Alex B- You're still the man, and I'm truly sorry! Gavin- what?, tthird floor. It's cool you're still 16. Doug E. Fresh-Girls are so confusing. I guess you'd know that best. Lydia-You're a great athlete and I wish to see you on the USA soccer team. Sydney- Dress appropriately for patio time. Rebecca-Happy birthday, 15 year old! Maybe I'll meet you someday in Poughkeepsie. Dan- Stud, watch out with the ladies. Glen- Perfect pitch, you're gonna be a great musician. Phil- awsome counselor along with Alex, Chris M. And Eric. Erica-I now know white lies are better than no lies at all. Or is it the other way around?Alan- Cool roommate, I enjoyed the talks at night. Heather-Queen Gossip, and me liking gossip, I enjoyed our little conversations and your encouragement. Amanda- What's your dream man like? Broadway Boy-What's up? Wait till Broadway gets a hold of you now, SMARTEES kid! Jordanna- Aye, Princess Leia, stop seducing the 3rd floor guys. Erica W- Red Queen, stop looking so good. Last but not least, Kristina- Dave Mathews' Band Rules! Crash into me!

To all those who have come to mean so much to me:

"When you part from a friend you grieve not. For that which you love most in his ways will be clear in his absence as mountains to the climber are clearer from the plane." -Kahill Gibrom
To my devoted and wonderful friends:

In two weeks you have entered my life and have found a place in my heart. I will love you always. You have taught me so much and I've hand an incredible time. I will never forget a single one of you. I hope you never do something that you don't believe in. You're all so special.
Love always
Alison Stein

Rich- I leave you our walk to Wilbur and someone to bash 24/7. Matt- I leave you all the out of date rap songs and interesting dinner combinations. Dave- I leave you a walk down Lambeth Way. Lynne- I leave you our personalized spoons, eight of everything, a vegetable, a tree (just in case anyone feels the need to climb it), a scoop of ice cream in my hand, laughing till our stomachs hurt, someone else to say "like so totally," the swing at Wilbur, "embrace me my sheet...," "an even pace" on our way to CVS, the townies, no eye makeup, a compact, a cow, lactose intolerant, "If I fall will you catch me?," Hu-llo!, our matching red ponytail holders, together we are a healing bruise, your whistle, Mike and Ikes, and Oy Oy!

To anyone I may have forgotten- I am very sorry, and I love you all!

I, Mike Van Buren (Luke Skywalker) leave a variety of goodies. I leave the 3rd Floor Boys the "Force", Jerry a $3 part for his euphonium, My. Young Chang an extra set of legs, Penny the fastest copy machine ever made, Jeff D. The next chapter in the "book of life", Dan B. a number 2 value meal with hamburgers instead of cheeseburgers, Katie the meal which I owe you, Tiffany all the first, second, and third horn parts that you want, Gabe a book of cool poems, and Lisa I leave you a symphony.. Also, I leave everyone overalls.

Margaret Okada's Last Will and Testament:
To all these people I leave my love and thanks plus the following things"

Rachel "Ox" Diamond- Bath music, Justin, your beautiful black dress, a bunch of laughs, a game of Cames, a bagel with cream cheese, pizza with no sauce, and a great friend forever. James "Jimothy" Rosen- a game of Cames ("are you eating healthy?"), your tickle sopt, the word "diphalic," and forever speaking perversely. Tim Fallon- Those winks- "Clink!," It's raining men (banjo style), the hyperactive religious dance, "Ah yeah!," biting, eskimo kisses, uncontrollable laughter, my squeaking, rubber duck, those ricola horns and a rolling bowl, "Mazel Tov!," all of this and more from your favorite Irish Jew for Jesus. Dave Abrams-O'Kada - Irish Jew, The "quotations" which make "everything" so "suggestive," lots and lots of hugs and kisses, our long walks, lots of laughs, who is Pete Mitchell?, your shrink forever, and the best of luck in everything. Marie- long walks, biting your finger at something naughty, my clothes, and dirty pictures with Evan. Madeline- my painful but cool hoes, spiders, a good cry, all your men and lots of hugs. Virginia Stringel-"my favorite Spice Girl"- Room 206, our watered down coffee, slut dances, all your boy toys, and lots of junk food. Ariel Templeton- Our strenuous move to room 204, many boxes of Goldfish, dancing the cha-cha and the mambo, solutions to all your problems, a long walk for a Chaconne, and lots of love. Jeannine- lots of Goldfish, a big thanks for a great piercing job, talking to people outside your window, Wallace and Grommit dolls, pizza, and all the solutions to your problems with guys. Danielle- lots of Goldfish, two magazines for your room, trashy novels, our oral fixations, the alto flute, one day at lab jazz and a great piercing job. Elissa- Chinese food, Snapple and water from your fridge and all my love. Corey- dirty pictures with Evan, a quick walk after lunch, a real piercing job, and lots of laughs and fun with Marie. Isaac- a cool cleaning cloth, "beep!," me as your shrink, lots of hugs, a noisy beginning theory class, compulsive cleaning during band, a noisy piccolo, and a bunch of laughs. To all the walking people, and you know who you are- I leave lots of love and luck in the future, and thanks for the laughs. To all the people I might have left out- I leave my love and thanks for a great summer.

Final Will and Testament-
I, Penny Anne Shima, after seven summers here, leave with many beautiful memories. Each moment here has been special- all have taught me and caused me to grow. Of all things I will miss most I must inculde the beauty, joy, love and the music that exist in this special place. Thank you for being here, for being part of my memories. It is these that I shall always share with you. Vous me manquerez - may the road rise to meet you, may the wind always be at your back, the sun shine warm upon your face, the rain fall soft upon your fields. And until we meet again, may God hold you in the palm of his hand.

I, Jordana Rock-Garden, will to the following people in no particular order: Allison-the loose change stuck to my thigh, the personalized label in Conrad's shirt, the late night talks and laughs, all your food that I ate, a coffee maker that likes you, talking in you sleep, spitting toothpaste out the window Lisa-the beige minivan, a 7-up machine with a hot maintenance man, a dorky guy, a once-a-round, fun in the bushes Sydney-a TCA meeting (Tasty Cakes Anonymous), "Err, fellow person!", big pants, Virginia-Miss Otis, a jazzer, purple, dangerous dresses, a smoking toaster, thanx for all your help! Karen-an elevator ride, long depressing talks, The Squirrel Nut Zippers, "What do you think they'd do if we jumped?", the cutest guy in the world Dave R.-skankin' at Patio Time, a Toasters concert, "Ew, you're a PT head!?!" Isaac-orgasmic chicken, a groovy dainty chick (it's hard to find one),

I'm the REAL Fred Mills! Brian-Truth, "Don't touch that! It's art!",The Suicide Corner, a basson player, thanx for staying, you're awesome! Doug-"I'm not a rude girl!," a life free of psychos, yet another good-bye, Do you mind me yet? Dave A.-a back massage and a hug, Steve-a jam session in Slade, Op Ivy, see you around Pough-town, Good Luck! Elisabeth-tight-arse jeans, a bottle of Neutrogena B 3rd Floor Girls-a hair-dye fest, 3rd Floor Guys-you don't know a good Princess Leia when you see one! To Everyone-thanx for the times!!

I, Rachel Jeanne Waldron, leave the following to these people:
Dena- four weeks of being roomates, knishes, conducting (na na na flale flale), "J+ATD" over and over, "Blues Traveler," nights that we don't play music, the night we went to the park (forget him), and evesdropping. Thank you for helping me when I was homesick and for being there to complain to! Anne- something that can be done in an elevator, back of a bus, or on a chaperone's bed, stories and complaints about ex-boyfriends (if you fix my necklace, I'll harm you), messages, Dancer Boy, Dr. Pepper, bagels and cereal, guys for friends, riding up and down in the glass elevator 21 scillion times in a row, and by the way, aren't you a voldswagons wickea annoying? Thanks for being such a good friend and we'll keep in touch. (weren't you just about to say that?!) Karin and Cherokee- asking a certain someone for advice about him, calling Dan, naked Adam (does he play football or basket ball?) ---- out the window at vkw, plans to go see __ With Dan, townhouses, "my he's mighty, mighty tall, My he's mighty, mighty fine," black pants that fit you better, getting brave, and don't worry, there's grass! We were too much alike. We'll get together and go see Cherokee this year. Sarah- the Mayans, Incas, and Aztecs, wall hangings, your concerto, kicking the wall, tap dance (in Morse Code), the Mambo, Dave's "Rent," an ending to the play you're writing, oh, and they both like you! You're "wicked!" Anne and friends (you know who you are)- Indians (Cherokee, Mayans, Incas, and Aztecs), yes, I know I'm not p.c. Sarah!, the dance studio, swing, "Grease," voldswagons, glass elevators, and it's not wicked anything! It's casual! (potty time) Jackie- a belt of your own, pixie stix, and something (anything) to calm you down, "Wacky!" Rebecca- you made me lose that card game, taking that picture on my camera Analise- being stand partners, a stuck C, a solo, and surprising me at patio time! (The ability to spell your name so incredibly wrong-or write?!) Rachel (the oboe player- my name, but you can only borrow it, when you die you have to give it back, and the pleasure of sitting next to me in orchestra (just kidding!)Rachel- older guys, dance stretches with your butt in his face! Lydia- too much candy, 3rd session symphonic band 2nd session ensemble- our trio, Cookie Crisp, and rude soccer people. Margaret- 21 basillion measures rest in Symphonic Band Alicia- the hot guy in your picture, who's the nasty girl with him-wait-that's you!, guy watching-guys, guy, and more cute guys! (Cheez-its!) Jillian- do you spell your name with a cork, sparkly nail polish, and a hot guy from your yearbook that's not an idiot. Isaac- strange notes on my music that will confuse the next person who gets it, exaggerated dynamics, high notes (that blasted piccolo!), dinosaur pencils and ties (if you hadn't worn that everyhthing woulda' been find!), a tapestry, and calling Sarah. Conrad- thanks for tuning me everyday in orchestra, it saved me from not playing well and being out of tune! (Well, at least I wasn't out of tune.) Brett- a mooched pizza, poker, and a polka. West Point rocks! Steve- what can I say besides I finally found out your name so I could put you in my will. My name's Rachel, even if you didn't ask! Andrew- an oboe that you can always find Kelley- thans for helping me and talking to me when I needed to. Don't watch too many soaps. Erica(the Queen)- I almost quite theatre when I first heard you sing 'cause you were so much better than me, remember?

I, Sydney L. Solow, leave the following to these beautiful people whom I adore with all of my heart...
To Elizabeth Ziman- heavier covers for your bed, or some extra room in mine, your own private dance studio, and the loads of memories we made while being roommates. To Allison Ewoldt- the knowledge to realize what a beautiful, special, talented person you are to me and a hair straightening iron so we can find out just how long your hair actually is. To Jordanna Rock-Garden- to recognition that your last name is the most awesome one I've ever heard, and that you'll always be Princess Leia. To Jen Lucia- permanent hair dye (dark brown), a new hair dryer since I'll probably steal yours, and a handsome gentlemen to love you always. To Larissa Piemonte- a Delia's catalogue, some more shoes, and the special friendship that only violists can share. To Erica Weissi- a role in a broadway show (starring you of course), and a plane tickey back to Hartwick for next years season. To Becca Tulkoff- a bathing suit (that fits you the way you like it), goggles that don't leak, and jeans so that you don't have to wear Jen's all of the time. To Dena Klein- your very own vintage clothing store. To Heather Daniels- the appreciation I feel for being able to talk to you baout an upsetting topic and feeling that you really understood. To Lisa Tandy- a klicky toy To Danah Albaum- $1.50 for the washer and dryer, and a razor and shaving cream for our weekly shaving parties. To Gabrielle Kopf- thanks for being the most understanding and loving counselorthat I have ever had, and for taking me to McDonald's when I really needed it. To Eun-Joo, Christine, Sarah, and Angela- I leave many hours and comfortable beds so that you may take all of the naps you'd ever need. And finally to Isaac Bauer- a whole bunch of pork fried rice and thousands of hugs.

I, Rebecca Tulkoff, of unsound mind and cuteness, leave the following people the following things: Laura P.-my man,blue mascara, the end seat, splashing in the puddles, a guy she doesn't flirt with, Jen-my mascara, the plastic fruit, silverware, I want your clothes, don't stop the elevator in the middle, sleepovers in your room! Laura C.-STOP, Z for Zachariah, my dollhouse cup, not letting the elevator close, Wait for me! Or i'll turn back, Come to Virginia, Joe D.-its red and orange, Kate-money to buy a clue, Greg-the pacifier, i'm not 2 people,Emily Fong-u better come back, the triple, the sweetest person on earth, Margaret & Virginia-cherry pizza, sneaking in when u were dormed, Margaret-a tongue long enough to touch your nose, all 6 weeks of Beginning Theory, Virginia-the Jazzers-even the newer ones, dancing fingers, front row seat, hand motions-especially the snake Gabe Villa-the stand, yes master, festival orchestra-u have to turn Gabe, Rob-my skill in Hearts, my smartness, the answer to what that thing is on Fiona's door (I say it's a screwdriver) Laura P, Jen, & Erica-1st session Guest Lights Out! Heather-her secret admirer, our 'ensembles' time, Gabe repellant, a clean room Allison-you know "someone", all the Cup of Soups I ate, lots of hugs, Strawberry Puddles Forever!!, deer, grass, porta-pottys, the loud metal bar next to the mats, our walk, choking makes me so much more attractive!, Sydney-swimming, another day u dress like a whore->including makeup, millions of laps!, Gabrielle K.-the health center and my stomach, rice cakes, and my company Gaby K., Dena K., & David W.-our dance, the triplets and eigth notes being together for once, Isaac-my bellybutton-EEE!, Dena K-fatty food, practise time without me!, Adam-Brook-e, Erica- Passion & Xephus, my eyes & face, GUARDIAN SPERM!, an air-conditioner, Friendlys, Nerds-plus lots of other food, all my water, silverware, those hot summer nights, food, Enya, wall of eyes & lips, unbreakabl glasses, George Clooney is the 4th Beatle!, a bigger bed, always remember my rapes, i'm a man-no i'm just Becca!, a new way of wearing a bra 3rd floor women-my wacked out self, jellybeans, hair dye, a clean/bug-free bathroom Beginning Theory-a line maker thing, more doughnuts To Everyone -my cuteness (especially to Allison) Everyone better come visit me in Virgina, Call me if u r in D.C!! To Whoever I Have Forgotten-i leave u the stuff and memories that I have obviously forgotten, I shall be humble forever!

I, Sheila Cullen, do hearby leave the following memories of camp to these folks:
To the Festival Clarinet Monarchy (and Lee!) I leave my royal tuner, flutter tounging, as well as "the room" - and I'm taking the poster for myself, so HA! To Mack-Daddy King Alex, I hearby leave to you Bethany's shoe, Toccata, Fetes, nights after ON-YOUR-FLOORS, the first sectional (hehehee!), and of course, the great "break-in." Remember, don't let people who thrivr on arguments win-the only way they do is if you let them, okay? Thanx for being there for me! Write me, or else! To Queen Anne. I hearby leave to you all those people who die (and are born) on full moons, games and games of Hearts (or was it...What was that title again?) my Wal-Mart dress, Hangin' w/ colleen, all of my pizza crusts, and of course, the favorite game! I'm so glad we got to know eachother, Anne, and I'll miss you dearly! Can I have the beach ball?! To Dutchess Alissa - why would I want to leave you anything?! Hehehee - I must say that if it weren't for you, I wouldn't have gotten to meet any of these crazy folks! I love you, man! Thank you so much! To Duke Bobby Joe, I must leave you sensamaYA - and of course, OPERATION RED DOT! Also, I must leave you the loss of every other card game I ever play, my hole in the dress, GEORGIA Shoes, rolling down the hill, and of course my purple bra! Heehee...will you dance with me Joe? To Mistress Bestany - you should've thrown Alex a note out your window! I'll leave you that funny picture of him eating the pizza, Heehee! Remember that little chat we had on 3rd floor of Yager? You must know now that every word I said was true - and by the way, can I have your shoe? To our "entertainer" Patty, I must leave Concertino- I wish I could've gotten to hear you play it - I'm sure it was wonderful - I hope you've found found out a secret way into the library, because I wish I had! To Christina - Why did you have to leave? We miss you so much - I know I left to Monarchy the tuner, but you have ultimate use of it.To Vanessa - you're so lucky, being in Festival Jazz w/ all them! You must know who I'm talking about! I must leave you the "circles" in the Menuetto of Mozart XV - aaaack! Ta-ta-ta Ta Ta! To Dear Chauffer/Jack you know Jeff-er-ee, what can I leave you? I Brett Goertemoeller do hereby bequeath the following; TO Matt Thibault, 24 hours non-stop disco fever and a cranky room mate. In addition I leave a Hartwick football hat and lots of exploding golf balls. To flying tiger, lots of one point landings and a box of tail gunners. "I think we need another Tummy!" To the 3rd floor guys first session,a big bagel with a jitterbug lure and some Frihofers craked corn wheat top bread. To Lynn, a curtain Jazz artist with a big ring, and lots of ice cream and toppings. To the whole camp, gratitude for the ninth great summer at camp.

Last Will and Testement of Grace Macek: Grace leaves Allison J a bunch of pretty flowers, and unlimited supply of nice fattening food (because it's good to eat), a tarot reading, a box of glow in the dark crayons, and plenty of time just to hide in her room and use them. Grace leaves Liz Miller the memories of Vocal Technique and Musical Thetre (I know you always wanted to be a tree!)

I, Vanessa Olica Fay Reynolds, wish to thank my rockin' HCSMF&I friends for the following memories: The Stage Crew: clearing the stage to the tune of three very effeminate boys singing a song with no words- the "break it down" section especially, Pine Lake, Stage Crew Olympics, minor injuries, sitting shotgun, T9 drag races, "What rock?", the gong, a piano leg or two, elicit harpsichord activity, "official business" and, of course, BACON; James: a pitcher of Ol' Slugger and following through with your two-touch process; Huge: more of your skin than I ever aksed to see and a plea for waterless swimming; Gavi: a double eyed wink; Paul (aka "Lucky" or "Mr. Smooth"): your faulty tool, the guy with the shirt who refused to remain upright, the Anderson lighting booth during Student Recitals and Ensembles Concerts and what this Festival (because we truly have become a Festical) is REALLY about; Lizard: some Reese's Pieces, a lighter and your missed presence; Lisa: your willing ear and hugs; Susannah: a cha-cha, a mambo walk and a calling card that is accepted by more that just the Pope; Shoshana: say anything- the period ones and "a nice boy"; Steve: my salad; Dave: my fourteen year old gash; Joanna, Cabray and Susan: my room, folk dancing-especially salting the dog, wang some J, 90210 in Alix's room, the "G", tenderloin, well intentioned chamber music battempts, NPR and the "the end of the week"- okay, the end of the summer with a detour; The Jazzers: good food, good times and good music; Florie: a Christmas plant, I believe phaikouce; Lizzie: car trouble ("you'll have to ask the boss about that") one of my shoes during rehearsals, Italian sodas at Elena's, creative lessons, bruch with what's his name and singing sappy totally '80s love songs in my cat during a terrencial downpour. If you think we've had fun this summer... just wait. You are my mentor and my big sister as well as my guardian angel and I love you more than you could possibly comprehend. Everyone, I hope these words will bring a smile to your face. They have done so for me.

I, Andy Weber, bequeth to the following people the following items. TO Matt Heath, Gumby, the Chicago blackhawks, a sescent team in Binghampton, Punk Rock, a good Hockey stick and a case of hockey balls. TO Tammy Finn- a wakeup call, early lights out, a day off and a hug. To Penny Shima- I leave a massuose, a new Bike, an assignment on the first floor and a new Bassoon. To the counselors and CIT's on the second floor, a watch that runs on real time, a painless lights out, food and another game of ultimate. TO Phil Ostrander, an early lights out and well, you know. TO Jerry Sam, I leave an alarm clock, weights in your room, a decent brass company, an ensemble that gets into the concert, black power. To HaNa, you go semi-sweet. TO all my CIT's and anybody else I accidently left out: Thanks for a great summer- I love you all! I'll hopefully see you all next year!

Will - Ajay Chaudnary
I wake up around 4am to the bizzare sound of either a passing train or brass warming up, and this is not a joke, for the chord I hear is beautiful and harmonious but also quite loud. I creep out of my room as silently as possible because both of my roommates whether they wirld an awfully nice stereo or a cable-ready TV, are not morning people. I pull a grey shirt over my head to keep out the cold, and I wander out into the morning mist. I find my way to a purple bed in a strange room where I sat for a while, until my rest is disturbed by a quiet and dark girl, with dark hair, who is darkly brooding over a six bar melody written by a virtuos sax player with a soothing accent. And so I sit and talk with her until I am accousted by two blond haired girls, one tall and one short. One begins to dance and slide about the room, as the other simply talks and talks and talks. I laugh a great deal, but, at length, they move on their way, finishing each others sentences. Once again, I am bored and lonely, so I wander off on a walk and find a pile of children hanging from walls and stairs and polls, between buildings, and who loathe the smellof fresh air. On my way back down I run into a pile of old faces. Two sisters who are each others exact opposites and two brothers who are each other's mirror. I see too their blond lyre friend who speaks the only truly civilized language, and I see the enchanting and strangely adorned girl, who barely speakes my language at all. I see a tall well dressed and quite tan girl, with the easiest of demenaours and impecable dining manners, and off in the distance lazily strolling across the green, I see a scruffy, and very familiar boy slightly stooped as he carries his soft leather bag. I call out to him and he smiles, remarks quickly, laughs, and continues on his way. I travel further down these seemingly bottomless stairs where I find three boys seated. One is large and doofy, yet is sometimes strangely smarter than he looks. The next one has both hair which extreme. The last is singing and strumming a simple tune, for the simple fact that he simply rocks the party that rocks the party. Suddenly, I realize that these stairs down which I climb are not as bottomless as I had thought they were and I know that there are some many others to find and see. I become sad for I know that these days which are filled with beauty, (oppression!), and the occaiional euphoric epiphanies which, for some of us, is what music brings, would end and I collapse upon the grass from my sense of loss. Just then I see a person whose clothes are perfectly matched, and whose hair has never been anything but. She sits down and says something witty and comforting, and she sneezes and al the extra holes in her head bob up and down. I lay down and close my eyes and the sweetest of choruses passes through my mind and I know that somethings will always be there. Sciasnequoes?

I, Christopher Mooney, leave to the following people:
Eric- San Antonio U, NY, Pittsburgh U, Detroit, RRII, pizza crusts, soda cans, sweet escapes, 1 ice cold can of Dr. Pepper, Milanos, french bread, lox, nesteas, a light on at 2am, so I can read, "Get awf of me" "I'm gonna hit choo so hard!" (I still owe you b-day punches), a lost wallet, lost sunglasses, lost watch, etc. It's been fun, but another week together and I'd probably murder you. c-ya around!
Alex- all of the above pluse your open CDs collecting dust, pizza on your lesson plans, changing your sheets for anyone even touching your bed, an open top drawer, your long? hair, your early rehearsals for every special schedule, 2-5-1, nightly beatings of Eric, out of toilet paper, 5 on the AP, late arrival from jamming with Seneca, strawberry fields forever, suck it, nice stint with Vocal jazz and on the drums, but stick with the sax. That's a hit!
Ryan: the love room, speed, rock, harrison's hilarious mannerism in our room, back of the truck, watermelon, rent, NBA jam 24/7
Gabe: NBA Jam and plenty of grubbed food
Hugh: sorry about keeping you awake
Dan: AOL and some nice intellectual discussions
Matt: rides to Wal-Mart thanks bud
James O: a severe beating from Jungeon
Harrison: food and women
Dudzick: the Eb from the van
Lucy: an introduction to the real world
Lisa: some nice pavement to lie on, along with some rubbing oil
Liz: a return of the respect you have always given me I missed you!
Angela: breakfast during any of my 9 o'clock classes
Eun-Joo: awwww!
Meredith: Dear One, 10 o'clock bedtime, brad memories, purity test, NY Times every day, she will be Queen!
Sarah: Take me! Take ME!
Lynn: It's a party! Good luck with JM
Larissa: my little sis! IT just wasn't the same w/out Pete
Virginia: a Lo Mein box with a metal chain
JOcelyn- see you at UVA save my spot!
For anyone I left out, my somcere apologies. It's been a great 6 weeks and I'll see you all soon!
"Thus out of small beginnings greater things have been produced!"
-John Winthrop

I, Alicia DeTraglia, would first like to thank everyone who helped me feel better and made my summer camp experience a whole lot better. Rachel Diamon, we had our good times and had our bad times but in any case, we

Virginia- the Mexican power, the Hartwick rap, and the "hoochie dance."
Leliveit- the ability to figure out people's ages, high voices and bus sweeping.
To All- I leave music, a bridge to many friendships and opportunites.

Last will and testament

by: Lucille Johnson

To Emma C.- I leave you a tennis racket, motivation, and Tom
To Holly A.- I leave you Brad, he's too much man for me to handle
To Elisa- I leave you the "FU" song to listen to whenever guy give you problems, and a frisbee.
To Lisa T.-I leave you purple mud masks, my turtle shell, a blanket so you can hide in the back of cars, and lastly I leave you one of my teddy bears for all of those times you need something to hug.
To Sarah - I leave you my food so you'll have something to eat late at night, purple mud masks, nail polish remover, and my shoulder to cry on whenever you need it.
To Heather - I leave you the alphabet
To Chris - I leave you my huge pillow, and a skunk.

Now that the unmentionable time has finally come it is only moral that I Elizabeth Ziman should pay respect to those who have graced me with their presence in this musically satisfying environment. I give Sydney - a thousand fairy tales, a blow dryer, appreciation for the sexiest nose around, and a very nice boy.
Patricia (my favorite Ursula!) I love you despite your pants being too tight for me... now eat your ice cream.
Jocelyn my stepqueen- Frankie Wong and a pair of daisy dukes.
Sabrina - a succesful modeling career and all the food you desire.
Allison Ewoldt - love that B flat! Butts are beautiful!
Virginia - a nightclub and a sexy sequin dress for you to sing your heart out in Cara - I'm all "I love your eyes", I leave you a scatting contest
Larissa - any of my clothes you ever desire and a position on the step team
Lynn - with your laugh, you've got it all!
Dina, my long legged beauty -I leave you a smoothing iron!
Bryan - what a smile! A record deal for your ingenious compositions!
Allison - recognition for the "car dance"
Evan (the unknown talent)- I return to you a million hugs
Jen - love those gumbi pants! An honest good-looking guy.
Isaak - buckets of mint ice cream, a million rounds of "freeze"
David (you cool cat) some bandaids for the finger and jamming session on my stairway
Christina - bright sequin dresses and occations to wear them.

Sarah Winger's will
Rachel: what do ya think ice cream or no ice cream? Well, we ran today! Yeah! Anyway, that shirt? Slut? Naaaah! Dude, civilization. Anyway, I give you all the vests in the world, and lots and lots of real food.
Marissa: Dude, no way? Way! Wait macin' it to who? Way! I told you!! Anyway, I give you the essentials; m&m's and sprite. (next time try not to wail me at the wall)
Solvejg: a boat, tank tops, real Americans, an unlimited supply of NY bagels
