From Your Hi-Note Staff

You are now entering……the incredible, magnificent, remarkable, insulated, unattainable HCSMF&I Hi-Note! This has been a great year for the Festival! We have enjoyed exciting opportunities for workshops, concerts, and master-classes with many impressive visiting artists, such as Skitch Henderson, Peter Wiley, Sarah Chang, Peter Bond, Timothy Cobb, Victor Danchenko, Hugh Sung, Craig Mumm, Aaron Rosand, Judith Mendenhall, Ida Kavafian, Steven Tenenbom, Sara Caswell, and David Finlayson. We trust that this edition of the Hi-Note will inspire undiscovered creativity for all the students who attended this summer who wish to return next summer, (and we hope you do). The staff of the Hi-Note, would like to thank everyone for their contributions, making this summer fabulous.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Goldberg

Poems

Clouded Spring
By Linnea Perelli-Minetti

As fond memories of childhood,
Flooded my mind,
There we sidled,
In and out of time.

Of clover necklace braiding,
Smelling sweet spring air
That time is tucked away now
Deep in warm summer's care

Laughing, getting freckled
While we sipped lemonade
Wondering on summer's end
And when fall would parade.

Rustling in the musty leaves
Waiting for the sign
When another frozen winter
Would ramble into time

Caressing fallen ice queens
We tumbled and fell down
Just hoping for that last spring to come around

A quiet mist settles on the mountains
Gentle and crisp
The moon dances behind its candlelight façade
To the song of the sunset echoing in the mountains
Touching every home, every heart
The trees are still,
Their branches tiptoe on the wind
And they hold their breath
To hear the lingering melody
of intertwined hearts and minds

My Search for a Profession

My first job was working in an orange juice factory,
But I got canned…..couldn't concentrate.
Then I worked in the woods as a lumberjack,
But I couldn't hack it, so they gave me the ax.
After that I tried to be a tailor,
But I just wasn't suited for it…. an old sew & sew.
Next I tried working in a muffler factory,
But that was exhausting.
Next was a job in a shoe factory:
I tried hard enough, but I just didn't fit in.
I became a professional fisherman,
but discovered I couldn't live on my net income.
I managed to get a good job working for a pool maintenance company,
But the work was just too draining.
So I then got a job in a gymnasium,
But they said I wasn't fit for the job.
I finally got a job as a historian until I realized
There was no future in it.
So I retired, and I found I am a perfect fit for the job!

You Know You're at Band

Camp When...

- You need something to write on and all you have is staff paper.
- The oboes start to sound in tune.
- You pick out the notes played by church bells.
- You identify people by their instrument because you don't know their name.
- The audience finds a clarinet solo humorous, such as Dancing Solo by Libby Larsen.
- You remember the title and composer of a clarinet solo you found humorous.
- You make a xylophone out of cafeteria glasses, and it sounds cool.
- You miss a concert to go and practice.
- The fire alarm goes off unexpectedly and people run out with their instruments.
- People start harmonizing while singing happy birthday.
- People are excited to be at an opera.
- You're threatening to hurt someone with their reed knife in a jokingly sort of way.
- You and your friends are all going to a double-reed party, and having fun at it.
- You're listening to Queen being played by a French Horn Ensemble.
- You're listening to Metalica being played by a String Quartet.
- You're up late at night half a sleep while attempting your conducting class homework.
- Double tonguing is appropriate.
- There is only one big sporting event every 2 weeks.

The Babcock Formula

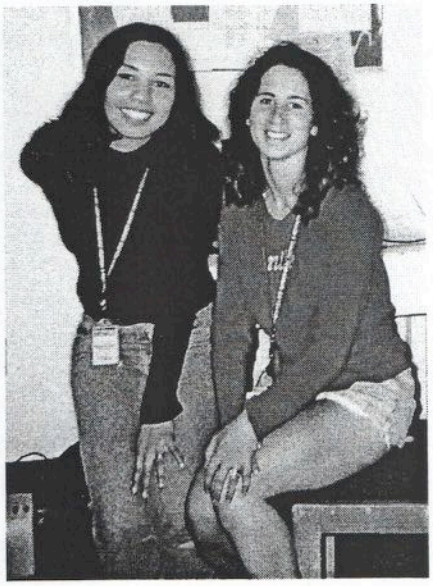

By Anon.

I have been going to this camp for three years and this summer, a suspicion that has been growing ever since my first day of festival choir has been confirmed. Those who were new this year or who have never been here for first session may not realize this, but it is no obvious to me that the music we sing in Festival Choir under the direction of Dr. Babcock is not selected based on the merits of the pieces alone. No, my friends, we sing these songs because each one happens to fit into one of four specific niches that, according to the calculating mind of Dr. Babcock, once combined, comprised the ultimate choir performance.
The four categories are:

1. The typical-sounding, Latin, upbeat, choral piece that usually opens the concert. This year we sang "Festival Sanctus" ('03). Previous years' selections include "Jubilate Deo" ('01). See? Even the names sound happy.
2. The African (or at least foreign/ethnic), rhythmic, percussion-accompanied song. They can be identified by their repetitive lyrics that are sometimes even sung in canon. "Agnus Dei" ('03) may be a bit slower than the average piece in this group but it still fits. The non-english titles are usually a dead giveaway such as in the cases of "Oremi" ('02) and "Dee Day Ta Deo" ('01). So if you don't know what the titles mean and there aren't more than 15 individual words throughout the entire song, feel safe to file it in this category.
3. The (semi-) rugged American piece. Made in America, by Americans, for Americans. You know, the kind that makes you feel all warm and fuzzy and proud to be an American. "Ching-a-ring-chaw" ('03) just sneaks into the group since it was composed by Copland but it is the reason I added the "semi" before the "rugged." In past years we've had more toughed-up songs like "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" ('01), "Goin' Up to Glory" ('02) and of course, "The Star Spangled Banner."
4. Lastly, we have the long, meaningful, pretty ballad. The closing piece of the final concert of first session, "Make our Garden Grow" ('03), is a perfect example. They are meant to promote deep thoughts and are often angst-filled, questioning, or insightful; giving the audience sage advice or bemoaning some tragic personal suffering in search of sympathy or forgiveness. Who could forget the sad Scottish love song, "My Bonnie Dune." ('02), or the worldly, "Songs Eternity" ('01).

So, as you can now see, there is a definite pattern of Dr. Babcock's programs. But there is nothing to be done. All we can do is wait and see what new songs he pulls out of this four-drawer filing cabinet for us to sing in the summer of 2004.

Dan's my faithful husband,
He can be really rude;
And ever since we got here,
He's had an attitude!

Dan Forbes: (in response)

What are you talking about?!
My attitude's just fine.
I just have to make sure,
That my kids stay in line.

Sometimes they act up,
And my temper gets lit.
I get so sick and tired,
Of dealing with their $* (stuff)!

Katie it's good that no one made you crush the chalk with your head. Solbong and Sidney rule!!

Gillian Bialer's Last Will:

So these are my last (festival appropriate) words to everyone at Hartwick. What's there to say? Well, shout outs to Mere, my roommate and best friend. Brooke: We must go to the mall sometime. Yesul: You are truly crazy. Everyone else: You know who you are. Anyway, my last words: chewing gum, shiny hair, down the drain, Orange Julius, staircase dances, high knee runs, tiger, TROGDOR the burninator, sharing food, KYRIE, fun run, meal cards, five headed broadway star, Long Island, Greg the Abercrombie Model, morals and values, Reese's hat, interesting conversations at jazz combos, and finally, Canada. And that's it Thanks for a great two weeks. Later.

Elena Blyskal's Last Will:

Everyone who made this experience possible: Thank you for giving us this opportunity and privilege to be exposed to some of the most talented musicians and their valuable insight. The very best of luck and love to all of my friends (how cool are my braids?)...To my roommate Katie: I leave Chinese food that will be eaten in the next 24 hours and an intelligent, secure, hot guy who knows the correct title of Harper Lee's bestseller. Christina and Sharon: I give a guaranteed publishing license for The Art of Food Creation, Vol. I. Sharon: I leave the door always unlocked (if not, then a window open!). Christina and Alex: I give a lifetime supply of Dr. Pepper (we all know what you can do with that!). Maggie: I leave the memory of a refreshing lake, the warmth of the sun, and romantic novels/movies to curl up to and compare. And, of course, who could forget our Zulu food chant? Sophia: I leave the proof, in writing, that Henry Higgins will always be better than Freddy. I grant Diana: full co-ownership of Brandenburg (because we do own it!) and the inalienable right to bang. Jackie: A life-lasting fluency in French, plus a one-day shot at perfect pitch (you see how you like it!). Jaimie: Enough big hugs to last until next year! Katie C: Many more happy years singing. I give the cafeteria ladies the opportunity to be on the other side of that register...just for one day...grrr... Finally, I give my teachers: (especially Glandorf, Miyamoto, and Moscarello) my most heartfelt thanks for being such unforgettable inspirations.

Allison Bourquin's Last Will:

Shasha: A copy of Billy Madison, the ring, and shared custody of Pinky, some cheese for your mouse, and all the cheese Danishes in the world. I'll always give you my red and purple skittles, as long as you help me make my bed. You can have all the Billy Joel, U2, John Mayer, and Goo Goo Dolls CD's in the world. I'll give you some quarters and "laundry pellets" so we can do our wash. We love Java, BM, String Bean, and most of all BB! I promise I'll buy more hairspray. You are my young prodigy flute player, but always my favorite basso clarinetto! But just remember you can dress as flashy till you spend a lotta money!! Best friends first, cousin's second (P.S. I.O.U. $20) Meghan: We love Uncle Lou! Stop looking at me Swan!! Thank goodness the coon got the boot!! It's coming! Hide me! Let's ride the vater! Thanks for telling me to borrow your clothes. Lauren: Some people should just wanna play B.S.? I leave you a million packs of cards, that makes 52 million cards. We owe you a good job, necklace, cause you rock! Forget X-Men!

I, Sara Brandt, being sound of mind and body (ish), hereby state my last will and testament. To James, I leave the 8:30 swing dance lessons as well as the dollar he gave me after "Finding Nemo." To Kenyon I leave the seagulls who say "Mine!" and the sea monkey, who has my money. To Danielle I also leave the swing dance lessons. To Katie, I leave that fine echo. To Emily, I leave the coffee nerves. To Rachel, Siobhan, Mair I leave the best floor I could ask for. To Bridgit, Christine, Allison, Emily and all the rest I leave Die Maldau, because while the flute may seem like a dainty instrument, it can rock. To Liz, I leave the band camp dances. And finally, to my roomie Jen I leave Roman names and proclamations, the toga walk, the yak-yak-yak-yak, the tell-me-somethings, the bottles of water, the drawers full of candy, the earth saving light switches, Basil Rathbone, the sparkly leopard top, oboes that go wrrmpprumph, a short love story, Dr. Babcock, Dr. Babcock, the ugly spider man-woman thing, nails that are never short enough, the assumption that you are too stupid to understand, the picture of her eating lunch, her inability to wash her face, room 419 if I fall, a practice room that's always free, a practice room with a drum set, and an amazing summer! Love you, Jen!!!

Sam Budin's Last Will and Testament:

So, Frank, it has finally come to this. Very well then; I leave the following things to the following people: to J-Rod, I leave a case of fresh Pollyanna Filters. Mahats gets leftist propaganda and a jury of his peers. We wish him luck at his law farm. Stephanie gets a clarinet; Johandas Gandhi gets a French horn. (These are to be played with at your leisure.) Johan also gets an eternity of Jeff Bucklies. Valer E. Lee gets her ancestor, the Civil War general. Jae gets a box of fingerless opera gloves, and the fingers of the people they came from. And an early Lent. Lily gets many shiny round things (that they may distract her) P.D.Q. and all other good music, and an eternity of Jeff Bucklies. Caitlin gets a trumpet-playing twin and a note from the Wixom. To everyone who tried to convert me this summer, I leave crescent moons, stars of David, yin yangs, and various emblems of other peoples' religions. You need some variation in your lives. Bob Sabin: www.m-base.org/sounds.html. (The shrine of Steve Coleman.) Bret: an imaginary technique class. And a turkey sandwich. G. Cash and B. Phil 3: your new nicknames. Rachel: a good ophthalmologist and a trip to Wal-Mart. To everyone who marched this past year, I leave my undying appreciation. The bass section, in all its incarnations, gets lots more space. (Aaah; now I can breathe again.) Han-Yuan: special-order Chinese food. Bumblebee: 10,000 cans of Tuba Fish. (Chicken of the Orchestra!) Catfood!)

Well, I guess we were Wrong about Dan last year. Welcome back, Dan, and cheers.

These are my eight extra words. Enjoy them.

Sara Chasse's Last Will:

Nathan Warner: the greatest trumpet sound ever imagined for inspiring me to imagine. Alex Krossen: I leave beautiful horse pictures. Celeste: I leave the most awesome oboe reed and time to make more. Everyone who made a difference in my life this summer: I leave a million thank you's and my email address so we can stay in touch: saratrumpet@yahoo.com.

Rachel Chi's Last Will:

Linda: What?!?!?! Cherry: The walk Lesley: knocking on our door! Cherry: choice milk Linda: monkey Lesley: I'll give you a book, Laura: going down Julia and Laura: I'm Rachel, no I'm Linda. Patrick: the soap opera and an acting career Christine: Hi and anh young.

The Last Will and Testament of Eric Glickman

I, Eric Glickman, leave Adam-someone to wake him up @ 7am every morning, and a roommate without a cell hpne. Patrick-someone to do his summer reading for him. Noag-a roommate(so you can suffer like the rest of us). Michelle Anderson-A kiss, my love. Michelle R.-a piano duet partner who can actually play piano. Erik-perfect pitch. Jae-a very awkward question (without offending you), cereal without the red and orange pieces. Daniele-your name spelled correctly, building, and dance lessons. Nicole-Pudding-what else? Mary-The question: "Where is Ursula." Anna-The pizza dance. Demelza-a book with every single English bad word, the word "asian", a laser pointer, and the correct meaning of "periscope" and "submarine". Adam-a book on the Socratic method. See you all next year!

I, Liz Goldberg, being of sound mind and ridiculously hot body hereby bequeath—
I give my soul back to myself. But hold on this is supposed to be about other people. To Rotella: I give you your first name back and a down payment on some lessons. To the Tubas, the woodwind quintet of course, I leave an hour video tape of me making faces at and making fun of Brian for your own personal enjoyment because its just that good; and my contact info if you ever wish to market the name "lock into Lizzie." Speaking of Brian—It's just not the same without NimNim and I'm calm OK? I'M CALM. I'm totally calm. Focus, Liz, focus. To my loverly horn ladies, and Chris too, I leave you some damn good whole notes for no good reason as well as my full out Mauricio impression. Speaking of impressions. Becky, I leave you a really long sermon, a Diet Coke factory, and maybe something for the poor children too. But then again....To Corinne, Amy, Leah, Neeta: I'm giving you some Elmo gummy snacks so you can give them back to me. Feed me. Did you think it would be anything else? To the Musical Theater casts: I give you myself because according to Solbong I'm the best. To Jen: I leave more time to kvetch, motha effa, and some real hors d'oeuvres—all shall be meaty, none shall be fruity. Q.E.D. To Ethan Green I leave the meaning of Q.E.D. and the Solbong shuffle. To Rodriguez: I leave an extra minute at the Albany Dunkin Donuts, my incomparable lyric writing ability to "Everybody Hurts," and Brian. To Alexandra I leave you any stand partner John gives you. To Heather I leave you my superb anger management skills...ha. To Mary, I leave you nothing because you thought I was uptight. Does me caring about that make me....nevermind. To all my little motha effas, I mean fourth floor girls. Wait, that's the whole joke. To Hartwick I leave the peace of mind that dwindles in the morning fog, but in just a second imbibes your senses with calm and serenity. Unfortunately, I'm not a morning person so I never get to see it.

Katie-May Gordon's Last Will:

Solbong Kim: Sidney the linemaker, the entire 18th century, and the greatest sir chocolate. James: 500 scrunchies. Kenyon: Laughing gas (tons), right wing of the 2nd floor, your own Orlando Bloom, and Tom Felton far clubs. Kaitlyn: A squeaky chair from Slade. Sarah: A robot that cleans, 50 forks (tuna), and all the Care Bears. Perri, Molleye, Sam, Sarah, Diana, Emily: All the ice cream in the cafeteria. Katie Cohen: All the chocolate chip cookies. Christie: Cough Cough Anything to get rid SARS. Molleye: Oh My Gawd! It's free stuff! Allison: A free period during the day so you can (finally) relax. Tiffany: The game Outburst, those yummy mustard and onion things. Mike: The sky when it's pink and blue. Chris: Everything else.

Sarah Gottlieb's Last Will:

To my dear roomate Katie-May: I leave my spotless half of the room, John's pants, conversations with those RYLA people (Oswald = cheese), the Care Bears (a Care Bear state just for you!) and my firends on the wall. To Peri, Diana, Mollye, Emily and Scott: I leave a fifty cents it (was it cheesy?). Petegeritgee: I leave you your prom dress, virgin, ice cream, D batteries, and "Get out of my house." To my sister, Katie: I leave Konishiwa (the boat, the flower, and the penguin) and the "Harpsicord Player." Katie and Jen: You guys are my sisters forever! Love you guys! To Mike: I leave an origami flower Good luck to Andreas with his modeling career. Ethan: I hope to see you at Clearwater next year! Gee-off-Suen's German Eats, and a CD player that works. Thanks for the music! To all my second floor sisters: I leave Orlando Blood, Tom Felton, and all the other hot guys out there. Sam and Katie: You caught my disease! Shea: I give you my heart completely, forever. I love you! Thanks to everyone for an awesome two weeks.

Alfie Hadinger's Last Will and Testament

Upon my departure, I hereby bestow to James: my laser pointer. Mike and Mark: Constant advice on dealing with girls. Monkey: Deoderant and "37" slurpies. Jonah: A laptop computer and the frequent reminders of the PDA rules. Everyone who hung out in Van Ess 303: Neverending free pizza and games of Tribes. Every guy from Session II: Multiple "Arrrrs" during Festival Choir

Jessica Katz's Last Will:

I, Jessica Katz, being of sound mind, and body, do hereby leave the following stuff: Pam: a permanent seat next to me in festival choir, and a double bass so you could be with "you know who". James: a book of all the card games in existence and infinite jokes about Rich's mom. Jonah: a private tree for you and Steph so no one could bother you. Danielle B.: Every CD of Billy Joel. Rich V: A hundred dollars to stop polishing your bass clarinet every time someone touches it, and a thousand dollars to never ever put your mouthpiece cap in your mouth the way you did again. Christina C: the possibility that we could be sitting next to each other again. Mark: Unlimited access to video games. I am thankful that I have met you all and I will see you next summer!

The Last Will and Testament of Julia Kim

Shout outz to all you hotties, but first...my first week here at Hartwick. I thank you all for the wonderful time (sadly short) I had for these past two weeks. You overturned my initial expectation of Hartwick. Laughter and comfort…I attribute it to you guys. This is written in no specific order, you know I love you all equally. Jenny-My naïve and immature friend. I'll miss your childish voice and endless whining, hehe, nah you're such a great friend. I'll cherish the memories and fun we shared-alligator in the lake, dish washing, endless boy talks, "all-in", etc…oh and the camals "aisheen", much love and KIT. Seo-Young-I can describe you in one words: FABULOUS. You were a big sister I never had, and such a great entertainer too. I never stopped laughing when was with you I cannot wait to see you every Saturdays at MSM. Madd luvz to my hunnie. Others-I am certain I would have had just as much fun with you had I gotten to know you better. Some of you I'll continue to see, some of you I'll probably not ☹ but I'll always remember you. THANKS FOR MAKING MY SUMMER GREAT!

Jen Koffs Last Will:

To my dear friend and roommate Sara, I leave a lifetime supply of gummy bears and worms, tootsie rolls, and every Elton john CD ever made. I also leave her a sparkly leopard print shirt in every color, as well as extra sparkles to replace the ones sitting in ACA. I also leave a set of environment-healthy light bulbs so she can save the earth. She should also receive the 5th Harry Potter book, sloppy firsts, second helpings, and a new set of foils. Way to go #10 j.r. Finally, I would just like to say that I'm NOT just going to assume that you are too stupid to understand what I'm telling you. ..
To Katie, I leave my Big Phat Band and Arturo Sandalval CDs. I would also like to leave a vending machine fully stocked with Strawberry and cinnamon pop tarts. I also leave an almost uneaten can of Pringles, an hours upon hours of time to practice (none of which could fall between 5:30 and 6:30 AM). She should also receive a non-disposable camera, with lots of film. Finally, I leave a copy of Blessing. To Jane the Doll, I leave a hairbrush. To Ethan, I leave the practice room. You win.

Sara Koop Last Will:

I leave to Gerdie: All the copies of Billy Madison, "The Ring," limited custody of Pinky, a mouse from Paul's computer class, all the lemon, lime, and orange skittles (after all, I only eat the red and purple ones), 100 bottles of visene so you'll stop rubbing your eyes out, I'll always make your bed if you give me my $20. I'll also send you to the eye doctor to help you get rid of that twitch, ALL THE JAVA THE WORLD, Billy Madison, BB, String Bean, X Men, and so on. Best friends first, cousins second! Ghany—Cottage cheese and fruit, "I'm sorry." "Thank you." My adoptive family. I love you guys I miss Uncle Lou. Billy Joel fan club!! Dude do you have a lazy eye or something? Who you looking at? Want some bacon with that? VAMPCOON! Are you coughin on my coffin? I'm never riding in the elevator with you again! YA YA's forever! Lauren-Advil- some people should just ____, and then some people should just _____ themselves. You fill in the blanks. I leave you many decks of cards, and we owe you a Good Job necklace! Remember; always clean your jewelry with toothpaste. Denise- "Mom- what can I say?

Duct tape shoes! Sandra: a love advice column. Isaac: the family name (McGovern!) fruit to throw at cars. Elise: a helpful advice column for problems about people three years older than you! Alexa: a Mirror/ Julia: shoe laces! Laura B.: PIZZA! Phil: a key to your room. A different girlfriend! Leander: a working printer! I had a great summer and I can't wait to come back next year.

Stephanie Madden's Last Will:

Becca: our plants, posing in the spotlight, an original composition (the sun will come out today), dancing to a cappella on, constant exhaustion and laughter. Thanks for putting up with my insanity for six weeks. We'll definitely keep in touch. Mahouts: a piccolo solo in every piece (as long as I'm at least fifty miles away), the ultimate in nerdy conversations (music, mock trial, everything and nothing). Thanks for being my friend even if you are an antisocial dirt bag. Clams: Stupid college students, a rabid raccoon locked in a bathroom pretending to be your grandfather (grammatical error is intentional), the El Nina baby, limericks, haiku's and witty stories, and a dangerous future. James: a girl your age, food fights and general immaturity. Who will you make fun of without me around? Leah: you don't exist and neither do your fashion statements. Enough said. Chandi: interpretive dance, artsy photographs, and a lifetime supply of galactic glitter glue. Nicole: Blake. Jen: ballet lessons so you can dance as well as me Lily: sing alongs in four-part harmony Jonah: You already have me, what more do you need? But anyways...thumb wars, program art, endless meaningless laughter, dancing, ice pops for a constant sugar high, climbing trees, Miller Science building, staring contests, festival choir, and a million other things that I don't have room to list. I love you weirdo. see you soon (but not soon enough.) Everyone else: the strength to survive life after music camp. Thanks for six weeks of melodies memories.

Cherry Martin's Last Will:

The time has come for me to tell you why I bear the burden of martyrdom upon my heavy-laden shoulders. No, it is not conducting class, nor is it the fact that the food here is being given a run for it's money by cardboard, it is because I do not have a violin hickey. I have been playing for nine years of practice like a maniac and it don't have the grotesque but beautiful bruise on my neck. Only violinists can understand this terrible feeling of sorrow that I must carry around with me for all of eternity. I practice as much as the big boys, but no bruise, everyone else has one, but not me. Everyone thinks I'm a failure and that I don't practice enough because I don't have a it. How I long for people to see my hickey and say "oh you must be a violinist!" Perhaps someday I will have the luck to receive a beautiful tender red/blue bruise. It's my goal in life but for now I must wallow in my self-pity as I slowly sink into the depths of despair. When my ticket is snuffed the following possessions will be given to the following people: Peri: burping potion Linda: a beeper Diana: (at the insistence of Mr. Nappi) a violin that doesn't play. Rachel: a nappa hat. Nina: a personal portable vending machine. Lesley: A house break in alarm Katie: a cold hair straightener Patrick: a melon Naomi and Chris: Marriage counseling Becky: Ramen soup and pretzels Patch: a dress Steve: a padded bra Mike: a trip to boot camp, with love.

Nathanael Miller's Last Will:

I, Nathanael Tenorio Miller, otherwise known as "Mahats" affirm that I am of eccentric, egotistical, pretentious and occasionally productive mind, and bequeath the following effects to the people mentioned herein. Isaac: sanity, patience, a translator for the morning and unlimited food, soda, and Alt F4. Steph and Jonah: a supply of my off color wit, on color wisdom and abilities to avoid detection. Chandi: happiness while performing for Rhinos, and as much of everything found in a pint as she desires. Katie: trust and long discussions about religion, philosophy and broccoli. Judith: a forty-year-old teenager for the same and different discussions. Clams: non-sequitors, double entarras, puns, and other products of a sharp mind and sharper fingers. Louise: Blue Meenie boxers and unlimited hugs Lily: a lake in Maine and all the memories of time past; may they comfort but never overwhelm her. James: a frisbee tree. Emily: Living proof that flutes rock Liz: an in-tune piccolo duet Joon: some insanity Mary: scary lunch conversations Christina: sunscreen, aloevera, the means to apply them as well as any answer she desires. Sarah: all the practice time on her dozen instruments she may require Jen: a stare down with Skitch Henderson John: two noble instruments: flute and sword. Mike: Levitians loaded with Scandanavian Girl Scouts. Rich: a tux partner for a concert Brian: a woodwind ensemble and filing cabinet Ethan: companions with above average work ethics, social skills, hygiene and aren't filled with dirt. To all faculty, especially Soo-Kyung Park: my infinite gratitude. I wish them luck in every endeavor they might face. To all CIT's Counselors, Pineys, Floutists, musicians and friends, thank you and Mabuhay.

Lauren Minisci's Last Will:
Top 10 Funny moments:
10. Playing with Pinky.
9. When Gerd said, "Now I see why you don't want to play somebody's got's ta' lose and it might as well be you."
8. Adam's telling our band that we "don't play the flute" we play "the sound of the flute"
7. Learning new viola jokes that are actually true!
6.
5. Making fun of "Nike bought Converse" (NBC)
4. Watching "fuzzy" and his crew act like playa' pimps.
3. Dr. Bob stamping his foot and clapping his hands while yelling "CIIIiiimbing up the mountain" in an Afro-American tone.
2. BP. No further explanation is needed
1. Reminiscing over funny Billy Madison lines with my Ya Ya's! One of our favorite scene's goes a little something like this...
The Academic Decathalon:

Host: Mr. Madison...what you just said is one of the most insanely, idiotic things I have ever heard. At no point in your rambling incoherent thought, were you at all close to anything that could be considered a rational thought. Everyone in this room is now dumber for having listened to it. I award you no points and my god have mercy on your soul.
Billy Madison: Okay, a simple "wrong" would have done just fine.
Thanks to all my friends for a great summer! You rock!

Alexa Modugno's Last Will:

Emily B. Rotella's Last will and testament:

Thank you to all my campers for a wonderful, exciting, amazing summer, I can't list you all, but I love you all! I leave showtunes, box-prom dresses, moo for me, the list of hot guys, head banging to heavy metal, birthday parties, a week to make up for when I was sick, peppermint patties, and black nail polish. To the campers that know me as more of a camper than a counselor, Linnea, Meg, Cassie, Judith, Liz, Emily G., Ian, Sarah, Annie, Elise, Nikki, and all the rest of you, you made this summer the best ever for me. How could I live without being able to spew everything to you guys? You all rock! To Ethan Nash I leave every word you have ever said locked into my memory, a choir to sing Laudate Dominum whenever you wish, more guest lights out evenings, "teach me how to sing!", many more game show nights to make signs for, and a wonderful wonderful wedding; you changed my life Ethan. To Matt Glandorf I leave more male singers, the same female singers, the best music EVER, and more fun talks in festival choir, the townhouses, outside of Anderson, just about anywhere, I can't wait to work with you again some time!! To Jen Judge I leave the best mutha effen day off ever! A trolly ride, a naughty lighter, complaining sessions, talking about scary roommate experiences, flute masterclasses, norah jones, being the same person, "who talks like that?", the ability to cut yourself out of other people's live journals, a force field in your door to block out campers, women's choir music that you HAVEN'T done yet, shops full of weird new-agey stuff, the latest nights ever, apple juice, laundry detergent, softener, dryer sheets, and an egg timer for doing laundry perfectly, and everything else that ever happened, Jen Judge, you are the hottest lady I know! To Liz Goldberg I leave a fake ID that says you are 21, deep conversations in which I mess up words and their meanings, pictures of hot guys on the computer, kisses at walmart, awesome nights off, and all your help with festival choir! I love you girl! To John Rodriguez I leave awesome nights off, To Brian Kaufman I leave a date at the commons that you actually make it to, a solo tuba part with Skitch Henderson, and a hoe-down that doesn't fall apart! To Becca Bruins I leave three good meals at the commons everyday, exercising at midnight, going to the weight room for two minutes only, and pounds of more 80's make-up! To Celeste DeNicuolo I leave a less competitive foosball game and a CD of our renditions of Moulin Rouge! To Rich Viglucci I leave a couple more weeks at camp, the best counselor show ever, quickie trips to walmart, tradition, and a personal planner to help you do everything you do. To Linda Hill I leave weird looks, two-dollar CDs from Amazon, Sting's Desert Rose, and a sledgehammer to take to the hallway phone! To Melany Felsen I leave spooning, extra stand lights, and the late-night chip-eating sessions in Jen's room! To Valerie Lee I leave a more responsible co-counselor, a "BACK AWAY FROM MY COMPUTER" sign, a cell phone that let's you call your parents and boyfriend whenever you want, and door tags that are perfect and never need to be switched! To Heather Sommerland I leave witty comments at dinner, a foosball table for you and Celeste, and a plane ride from Texas to Jersey anytime you want! To Mary Olenen I first of all leave my undying and devoted friendship. We go back to messy roommate days, we are the hardcore Hartwick returnees, and we have so much together—funny walmart trips (never a bad one), feeding you in the car, SURPRISE ME, bow-chica-bow, Give me my pants, shut upa yo mouth, crazy cake-eating pictures, ridiculous conversations about sex, a pile of black clothing for concerts, your TV returned to you, a day when I don't talk only about myself to you, Wendy's, McDonald's, Burger King, KFC (from before), SPORKS!, sushi, extra medicine, tissues, a longer summer, and everything else that we ever did together. We will never lose touch, I love you Mary. And lastly and most importantly, Emily, my Emily, we shared an amazing summer together: badgers, the lake, Sarah McLachlan (insert blush), help paying attention in festival choir, rocking out to the festival choir music, black tattoos, bed time stories (weapons room), my computer plug going up your..., singing to the night, behind the chapel, All Of My Love, nails, interrupted lessons, raspberry fantasy, fewer stairs or an escalator up to the commons, flirting with a purpose, phone conversations until 3 in the morning, a goth outfit that works, write-ups that were my fault, someone to clean your room for you, the wonder that is a down-comforter, poetry, the new Madonna CD and the Erotica album, any of my pajamas, there is too much to list!!!! 152 forever and ever and then some. Stay true to yourself. You are who you are, and I love who you are. To everyone at Hartwick that I know, you make my life a happier one, I love you all!!

Kathryn Rudolph's Last Will:

Caitlin Warfield's Last Will:

To everyone who was around: I leave this summer, and everything that goes along with that here at Hartwick, too bad for you. This is it, we are done now. Happy summer of 2003! Never linger yet never forget, what happens, happens. Mairead: You are the it, living without you, weirdest thing ever! Might just have to come down there and re-enact it for a couple days Sandwich! Guys, we are so antisocial, the Keebler elves are coming! And I like the 80's, I don't care whatr you think, Chinese? No, I think that it is time for Italian. If you like Pina Coladas..., Road trip cross country, and yes, we will stop in Colorado, Birdland, then underground, you will be introduced, of, and if you ask I will say it, promise. We will be what we are meant to be. Have wicked lives! Adios amigos!

Brooke Weaver's Last Will:

As I leave Hartwick, I want to thank my friends for all of the laughs, especially the ones in the middle of the concerts, and for the new memories. Yesul: When I need a good laugh I'll always come to you. Gill: Whenever I need some new clothes, or just want to go shopping, I'll see you at AE. Mer: You're the best to hang out with and just talk about everyone. Always remember brown chewing gum, three headed broadway star, Canada, orange Julius, the real world...what's that? KYRIE! "sharing" our food, the cherry, N-ron, and the solo, crashing weddings..."ask her what her name is, ask her where she is from, running to the bathroom, falling down hills, Mer breaking her butt...now she's an elite member with a plaid donut. Lacrosse? Fun run, most hair, I mean best hair, tiger, Noa's laugh- oohh, scrunching gel, the ladder, Gill giving me my mealcard, swiping meal cards, and just mealcards, Yesul - oh. VB, I love Frosted mini wheats, the mighdnight munchies, To finish, Trogdor was a man, then he was a dragon man, then he was a dragon, Trogdor! the burninator! Good bye and good luck to everyone!
