From the 2nd Floor Girls:

You Know You are At Band Camp When

- You're trying to fall asleep and you're talking about NYSSMA!
- At a dance, you hear "Dies Irae" playing and people start dancing.
- You describe a song to your friend entirely in "da da daas" and she knows what song you're talking about.
- You argue about what pitch a car horn is in with other campers!
- You hear someone yell "Welcome to Band Camp!"
- You're writing music notes and you try to make a measure.
- You actually try to tune the piccolo.
- The double reed players are cool.

What I learned at Hartwick Summer Music Festival

After attending four summers here at the Hartwick Summer Music Festival I learned more than I could possible learn in an entire year. Mainly I learned it is okay to be who I am and want to become as a person. More importantly I learned that music is meant to be enjoyable not something to be dreaded. Before I came to this camp as a camper four summers ago, I was under the misconception that it had to be strict and regimented. We are creative people at heart and no one has the right to manipulate that in any shape or form. It took me a while to realize this and being here at Hartwick helped to restore what I had lost. Being a musician is no easy task and it is a real testament to a person's strength. Please do not lose sight of what you want to do.

What do you call half of a Tuba? A one-ba!

Why are violinists' fingers like lightning? They never strike the same spot twice!

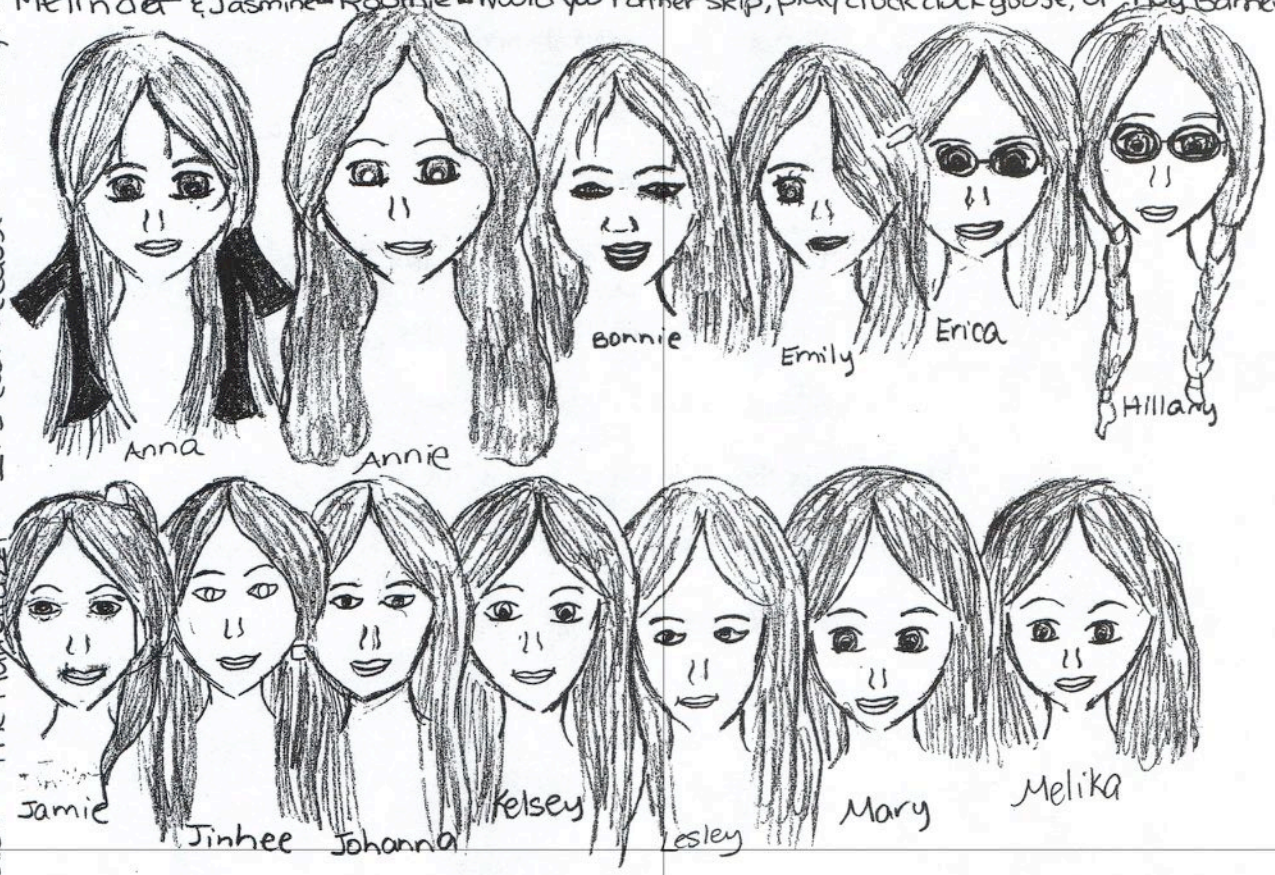

Why do bagpipers walk when they play? To get away from the noise!

What do you get when you play New Age music backwards? New Age music!

What key do you play the tightrope walker waltz in? C sharp or B flat!

3rd Floor Gals (Rebecca, Sue-jin, Meredith, Dina, Victoria, Cassie,Kris, Elena, Julia, Dominique, Emma, Michele, Charlotte, Sarah): OMJ!
Candians are so make-funable. -My Tostitos taste like a cheeseburger. My Tostitos taste like a taco. It's Nelson the monkey and the weird beaver dude. -"like your torch right here that I am about to extinguish, I must first extinguish you."…lights shrub on fire -"Wait you ate one, you ate a Reeses!" No, NO, I DIDN'T! -"You're too old to have bumpers." "But she's from Canada, she's never had them before!" –No, it's not HAIRY, it's HARRY! -"That's awesome (ahsome)"..."No...It's awesome (aww-some)" -"Is Meredith here?" "Yeah..."…crawls out from under bed::..."Wow, is there anyone hiding in your closet?" -" Can I look through your drawers?...Can I look through your purse? -"Do you like Daniel Radcliffe a little bit?" "No, not really." -Good times skipping down the hallways, laughing hysterically after concerts, running in the pouring rain ("Does anyone want to give me a sweatshirt?!" "Noo!"), watching Will and Grace ("Don't go there"), playing spoons, spoons, spoons (Canadian style), and taking pictures (with Old Man Nelson and the clumsy Canadian). Love y'all, 3rd floor homies!
Love, Ashley and Alison

The Last Will and Testament of Brian Biederman:
To: the Yoohoo crew. We may mack each other and yell at Troge for no reason, but generally we are the tightest of the tight. Thanx for an awesome summer. To the boys, Ike: "If you only had a brain." And I will dropkick you; Trust me. Troge: I leave you 6,000 pounds of anything you want. Get out of town!!!! Lots of write-up slips, Troge! You owe me 8 dollars. Kris: An inflatable whitney. Lots of Lomain, if that's how you spell it. To the Festival Banana Face and Festival Orangatang Mascot, camp would not have been the same. To the even-so pee-omptastic Mr. Louis Morgan: I speak for us all when I say Natasha, we miss you. Itchy teeth etc. etc. Lastly to my old lady: MWA!! I miss you already. You're awesome, say hi to ellis for me. BWAHHHAHAHA, I'm telling glazer! MWA!!!

Samantha Hecht's Last Will and Testament:
To the Second Floor Girls: I leave fiddling skills, fridge space, and infinite food. Midnight Passerby: I hope you enjoyed dies Irae and Danse Macabre. To the Guitar class: I leave Hava N'gilah and the voices… To my quintet: I leave the skills to fake and remember names, and music without missing pages. Maura: I leave you your coolness. You rock, man. Naomi and Christine: (In reverse alphabetical order): Ooh, ahh, wow! Look, it's □Cellulose, anyone?? Kris: I leave you Tommy, tye-dye and all the good music. Nikki: Salt shakers, mushrooms, and a personal iced tea machine. Arielle: I leave you You-Know-Who. Ahem, and a lights switch for the elevator. Julie: Your cool shoes, dude. Sarah, Hannah, and Allison: Blasting the Who and Zeppelin out the window! Hanna and Katie: I hope your "predicament" fades quickly! Katie: a non-incubator skirt. Sarah: A real spoon of your own and Roger! Diana: the Fifth Aliyah, 100 million dried apricots, a bottle of Squeeziness Fun, and grape seeds for pre-concert distressing. Emily: Barbecue sauce, your own puzzle book, and a Hava N'gilah/Puff the Magic Dragon medley. Oh my gawd! Mollye; Endless hours of hair straightening, my black shirt, the guitar bass line and all the phone minutes I used up. Dudeman! Peri!: Your bleeping bassoon reed self-editing system, the dorm-dorm-dorm, purple bows, the Bach Double, Hoe-down, and the end shower. Catherine: Q, dude- you win this time. I leave you pickles (aah!), Congratulations on never losing your hey-hey-heeeeys. Religious what-ifs are too deep for 12:10 in the morning. 2=1 just ask Fibonacci. Thanks for an awesome two weeks. I love you guys!

The Preservation of Past Events at the Organized Musical Program at the Hartwick College Summer Music Festival of the year 2004 as Denoted by Kris of the Heibys.

The pleasant rarity of this six-week experience psychologically diminished its length and heightened its value. In swiftly allocated terms, my first engagement in this occasion was gaudily commendable.

Stephan Labelle's Will: -To Peri, I leave blue hair dye, sheet music for O Fortuna and millions of hugs. You were so much fun to hang out with. You made everything so much fun. I'm gonna miss you. You were the best. -To Danielle, I leave a salted glass at $5 a piece, Sla, a partner in crime, caramel blanks, big balls and shirts from Wal-Mart, and acting skills in order to put on an act- because I have confidence in you. I loved hanging out with you. You were awesome and we'll see each other in the near future. -To Eric Kennedy, I leave sheet music for Hospodipomilui, a home sauna, a banana, cold cheese, and talent in order to sing unto G-d. You were on of the best counselors. The jokes we made were hilarious and I'll miss all the fun times. -To Mike G. I leave a shoe to live in, 12 children, and a guidebook to search for deeper meaning. You're a great guy. I had an awesome time hanging out with you. -To Nikki, I leave ice cream and pie to mess up my hair with and millions of hugs. Oh, Man. You were a blast to hang out with even though you went crazy a few times which we all do. -To Sully, I leave a new prayer book, and the ability to Gleiten with your Mono Drestis. It was great having you around first session. Stay longer next year.-To Rich with pointy hair, I leave salted glasses at $3 a piece, 12 million new bottles of Dep 25 hair gel, musical ability. It was fun hanging out with you, but you have to be a normal camper next year, not a day camper.-To Mollye, I leave bowling skills. It was a load of fun hanging out with you this summer. Too bad, we didn't get to see each other that much. -To Deanna I leave a Russian accent. You are a great person and it was fun. -To Diana I leave the name of Charlie, and a chocolate factory. You were just so cool. -To Jeff Eng I leave a banana, the ability to play Super Smash Bros, Meelee, and a whole lot of other stuff I can't think of. You are a great guy and it was a blast hanging out with you.-To Alex Mirarchi I leave PSYCH. You are a great guy.-To Santi I leave a Jewish friend. You've been a great counselor from the start and it was a blast hanging out with you.-To Bill I leave a new last name and a lower voice. You are one of the coolest counselors around. -Lauren Berger - You were a great person to get to know even though we didn't spend much time together. Keep in Touch.
-To Ksusha I leave musical ability. It was a blast hanging out with you and playing in the quartet together. Everybody, Keep In Touch!!

By Catherine Lee: Those who walk by Wilder, I leave you whatever music we blasted out the window – namely, Dies Irae and Danse Macabre. Philo dongseng: you get to "keep" the CD overnight. Make sure you don't get fat when you grow up. To Bonnie dongseng and Jinhee Unne: I leave lots of sa-rang. Quintet, thanks for playing Schubert. Chris and Sam: I leave you the copy machine, that nice leisurely run to chamber, and climbing the see-through stairs in skirts. Fond memories to the conjoined French patriots- "ooh! Ah! Wow!" Second-Floor girls: You get the Korean pop music. To everyone who went on it: I leave the see-saw. I leave to all, the mealtime memories – salt, the radioactive atomic drink, and all the pranks. Mollye: Thanks for sharpening my spoons. Peri: Q leaves you your self-editing device and a CD so you can look round and circular. Emily: I lave you my really good faking skills. Diana and Maura: I leave you your coolness. And Sammy: dude, you win! "Pickles! Ahhhh!" "My vibrato's all wobbly and junk." "I saw a shadow go into the door shadow!" 2=1, and religious what-ifs are too deep for 12:10 in the morning. I leave you my laundry policy, the Fibonnacci numbers, what Sushi A said to Sushi B. And every butt-slappin' funny joke we had. You remember them, because we're mind readers. Bring on the attack of the hemiolas. We'll always be each other's heroes. Cue in a Hugh Sung-not-Park evil laugh

Joann Martinson's Wills:

I, Will To: Non-North Dakotans: That means someday to come to North Dakota and appreciate it for its beautiful simplicity. Lee Weiss: Water from North Dakota because it tastes better than the stuff in the cafeteria. Trust me. Mario Bros. Fans: to learn to pronounce it M"ah"rio Brothers! Italian people! Everyone: to get to know Ms. Koh, because she's the coolest person ever! Singers (students, counselors, and myself): are plenty of other talented people with your craft as well. Louis Morgan: all the thanks in the world for spending some of your day, every day in chamber choir, surrounded by singers! Minji Park: Jian Shen. Also, the ability to be without your phone and lip gloss for a day. Stage Crew: everyone's ultimate gratitude! Michelle Moreno: I hope you find more people as you go through life to inspire you the way that Bill does. Dimitri Tisseyre: That you stay a positive, uplifting, and hilarious person. Good luck with the Spanish and thank you for all your help! Will Buck: You are not old. Noelle Forbes: the ability to yell at kids as effectively as your husband. Lee Weiss: another good book. Dimitri Tisseyre: the courage to someday give up bass playing and become a jazz singer! All 2nd Session only campers: to be as well-behaved as the first and 3rd session campers. Tierney Crone: Bill Prokopow. Josh Machiz: to realize that Philedalphia isn't the only city with talented musicians. Ryan Cummings: thanks for having such a nice, strong tenor voice. Bonnie Lee: all the best of luck because you're the cutest violinist ever. Bill Prokopow: Thanks for having such a good strong, baritone voice. Dan Forbes: to realize that I'm not a gross person, despite my tampon announcement. Eric Kennedy: That someday you get to play in an orchestra. Rich Viglucci: All my big shoes, so I'm no longer false advertising. Dominique Corbie: That someday you get appreciated by bass players instead of being yelled at by them. Sheila Cullen: that you keep me posted on all the dirt. Dimitri Tisseyre: rapid weight gain. Ben Huseby: rapid weight loss. Everyone: thanks for a wonderful summer! You're all beautiful people and wonderful musicians! Please stay in touch!

The Last Will And Testament of Hannah McDonald-Moniz:

I hereby leave- to the Duiachp quartet: devolving cello drawings, chalk fights, Popper Requiem, bang bang peace; to Eva/Lisa: tucks in bed, Baxter, mating crane flies, nasty cheese soup, shooting grass stems, Eva's mistaken names, paper crane thank you notes, random laughter, French braids, "if you know what I mean", key banging (if you please), "arf-arf", musicians' pick-up lines, French laughter, "status ma lus", sniffing salad bowls, my moving lip while I laugh, bubble wrap; to Eva: Yeah rap, my foot, shine wipes, random pictures on Lisa's camera, encouraging talks, the art of scrunching, the "Anderson" technique, singing help (to me), face paint, tight jeans; to Lisa: my leg hair, laundry, waits for Eva, John Mayer (Victoria), desires to be fat and bad at music, slavery to your journal; to Carolyn: good windows to jump from, funny notes from your mom, making Katie sit alone in Sight-Reading; to Maggie: harmonizing on the way to the park, and jelly beans, Paris, your raised eyebrow look when we got too weird; to Mandi: all the times you made me scream; to Philo: bad orchestra jokes and puns,

Skittles, Toaster strudel, lots of tolerance for my weirdness; to Mary/Chrys: first cello lessons, Presidents; to Mary, Erin, Chrys: letters on programs; to Mary: all the labels you want, mochas, Tschaik (and singing it), many moments of dorkishness, our two cherished fun-runs together; to Chrys: bubble wrap, love for icebreakers, library dates, waits for you to finish eating, instrument names, Super Hot Tamales, chick pea salads, the subtleties of the cafeteria, dyed hair, mp3 players, everything else to make you just like me; to Elana: Catchphrase, early breakfasts, names on programs; to Ksusha: all the coaches that wanted to abandon our quartet; to Whitney: Ben Folds Five (The Luckiest), gummy bears, forgetting to check in, sleeping with the lights on; to Erin: one-way ticket to meet the devil, my masochistic vinegar salad; to Lyndsay: Beauty and the Beast songs; to Wasserman: Brett's bass, lazy bass-player tendencies, the same questions you kept asking me, my very first scale on bass (G Major), elevators; to Nick: coffee with the right amount of hot chocolate, the longest of all stage changes, your difficult TA responsibilities (such as going to concerts), my favorite scale (F Major), Radiohead, strung out on Village People; to Jin Hee: new music; to Peri: dyed hair; to Jaimie/Karen: beaches full of shirtless guys; to all 1st session 4th floor girls: many pounds of M&Ms, "guess what flavor jelly bean", nightly hall parties, "guy walks into a bar" jokes (or a panda, or a rope, etc.) scouring the halls on jazz combo night (to many of you); 2nd session 4th floor girls: finally a bonding hall party on the last night

Michelle Moreno's Will:

Fellow Ozians; I hade a great time this summer and I will miss almost all of you wink wink. Sorry but I couldn't think of a will.... so here are some funny quotes from this summer* "Rollerskating Is NOT a man's sport" "Do you need help beating that sugar?" "How long is that going to take to drive to Cottekill?" "Half-hour!" Lu Lu!! BEN!! JoAnn!!! Steflushca!!! 'Is your name "Nuts Over Caremel?" Ladies and Gentalmen: "Chris Nappi and the Natural Disasters!" I care about you; I care about your health
You have tears? I have tears!!! Some people are just bad at life. . . . .and unfortunate.
I'll help you be Pop-U-lar! I don't want anybody else when I think about you. I didn't know they made chocolate elves! "Chin Up Ben", Fellas, what's cooler than being cool? Showing Up to rehearsal on time

An Excerpt from Louis Morgan's "Diary of a percussionist.

So I couldn't help but notice a few random instrumentalists trying to join percussion ensemble. Why is that? I mean I don't pick up an oboe and expect to play in the top woodwind quintet. For some reason, percussion is considered a sub-instrument, or fake instrument, or the George Dudby Bush of the orchestra. It's not as easy to be a percussionist as one might think. You might have observed Ike Machover and think "Oh, hey !don't even have to show up for their concerts, but no, being a percussionist means a lot more than getting a haircut during your percussion ensemble performance. We, percussionists are the rhythmic backbone of the orchestra or band. Let's see you try to play the bass drum while Skitch Henderson is conducting at Mach 3. Or Mach 4... Well, we didn't really rehearse how fast we were going to before the concert. In addition, we can read music, follow dynamics, and do all those great things the rest of you musicians do. And trust me, I've seen some of you try to clap on 2 and 4. Playing the drums would definitely be a challenge. So, please, we don't insult your instrument, don't insult ours.

I, Jason Neukom (keuko), have left several things for others.

First, I give Dan Forbes one of my two stones. I grant Eric Kennedy the ability to play Smash Brothers without using Luigi. Ryan Kim gets the will power to STAY OFF THE TABLES! Ben Huseby gets the ability to win at war, the ability to beat me in fooseball and also in basketball. Kevin Horton and Josh Machiz, I grant you each a full bottle of "I feel no pain". Sheila Cullen, may you have decades more of playing classic video games. Joann, you get the crow's nest. Solbong and Kang (Team Korea) I will give you lots of free time so you can practice foosseball and stand a chance against the ND "veterans," me and Ben. Dimitri, you get a less confusing girlfriend, and fluent Spanish. Lee Weiss, you get your very own barbershop/cloth-folding business. Jeremy Meinert, you get the ability to get ready in less than an hour in the morning....he has two button holes!! Jian Shen, you get four, five, and six-note pitch battle championships! Joon, you get your very own gold flute. Louis, you get the snare part and a long white robe. Wysocki, I grand your Sega Genesis extra long life and a doggy shaver. Michelle Moreno gets a man.... And also a muzzle for herself. To everybody who says "Merio", the mental capacity to say "Mario." Have a great year everybody!

Allison Nicotera:
Yay for Music nerds!!! To all the super awesome friends I made, thanks for everything. Michelle: Something corporate! Yeah! Kris: Bittersweet dreams. Hannah: I'm never going to watch TV while I eat again! Carolyn: Broccoli! Thanks for asking me to go to breakfast on the first day. Allison: Al squared! He,he,....Terry. Sarah: Quintet was awesome! Charlotte: Tell Betty and Freddy "hi" good luck in college! Christina: Bassoon Mafia! Thanks for being my bassoon buddy. Sarah: My Bassoon already misses your cello...how's the baby?? Nikki: I'm number booty. Arielle: Wait, you mean Chex mix?? Mary: Wasn't it fun carrying that contra in the elevator? Sammy: The who rocks. Katie: I hope I see you at the mall sometime! Good Hmes..good times. Also thanks to all my instructors, especially in quintet. I had so much fun, and the Tango will always be my favorite dance. In conclusion, Bassoons are the ultimate instrument of awesomeness. AWWWW BIG BOOTY!

Katie Palmer's Last Will and Testament:
Hannah M, Lisa, and Carolyn: The düiachp legacy will forever live in our hearts (maybe a tattoo would be appropriate): BANG BANG PEACE ... don't forget our "artistic representations" - Hannah S & Sam: A lifetime membership to the "Predicament Club" (Extremely valuable, as enrollment is increasing at a rapid rate) - Erin & Nicole: Stereo sound in the showers...is that the bass, or is Nicole just making the ceiling collapse?
- Maire, Hannah S & Calixto: Some mashed potatoes and gravy for you all...and to satisfy everyone, while we're eating, we can listen to Bond and Bjork...no viola jokes allowed. - Emily: Threatening labels to put on all consumable items (a safe, too, maybe?) and a tracking device that might easily be stuck on clothing; knee pads are good for volleyball – but only for falling down the hill chasing after the ball. - Mary: Something big and cushy can be handy to use as a landing pad...just in case you want to try that "home dog" thing again; don't have a seizure...it's just an autistic M&M; our immortal egg. - Philo: A long cord of rope, so actually physical attachment to Calixto's hip can be made possible...and to have the final word, you're a more maturER player than me.
- Calixto: Several CDs of amazing viola music (to which you will be forced to listen for a minimum of 10 hours each day), a pair of scissors, vinegar, and pomade to recreate those so-called dreads...and you can borrow some of Philo's rope. GET IT!!! - Kim: "Two blondes walk into a bar. You would've thought one of them would've seenit."....."Seen what?" - Hannah S: The big 4th of July enlightenment...playing telephone through Car...leading to the "eternal female bond"; those shoes look like they hurt... so when are we gonna take that big hike?! - Louise: Our official hallway party caterer...got any more ramen? Quite a bewitching skirt you've got there... - Carolyn: Ok, maybe I should've been more careful where I put my hands with all that chalk on it...it's your fault for making fun of my knowledge of rice! And thumb position. And my so-called dance. What's so wrong with sausage curls? - Lisa: Wait...this is raspberry flavored? Rule #1: Never make it look like you're waiting (thus, psuedo-talking on the bench) Rule #2: Always wash your hands of chalk before you place them on your derriere. - Hannah M: The Hullabahoos! Fishtails slowly fading in to red...topped with a red bow! - Mandi: Tweezers (for the ones that get stuck between the wrinkles) and a box of matches (that unburned candle looked so out of place) - Allison: Brocklee!.... you'll need gas money to drive to Westport (see you in Trumbull) - Kelly: Lots and lots of pretzels - Rebecca: Some rutabagas...be aware of the dangers of skipping down the hallway in a skirt, dangerous rug burns may ensue. All hail the

M&M Queen! - Maire: I think you need a more posters for your collection…planning on expanding into road signs anytime soon?…Go to L!!!

Amanda Rodriguez's Last Will and Testament:

Victoria- I am leaving you a mirror so you can always see how beautiful you are and all of the mattresses in the world, Oreos, Cheez-its, and Orlando Bloom! I am also leaving you sprite, even I don't care that you drank all of mine. B-H-B-H! I will always miss when you scare me half to death with the "village people." You still never painted me a picture. I know you cannot live with sticky stuff ....FACE! Elizabeth is leaving you a bowl of Iam Iams....she didn't have enough words left. Christina- I am leaving you Elbows, H-dresses, secret treasures to last you a lifetime. I will always miss when you raid my closet and walk around in your "outfits." You want some gum? Lipstick for the next time we get creative and tattoo ourselves... your support group loves you! I am so glad that you became our honorary flute! At least from now on, I won't hear people walking around with bassoon reeds that you gave them, making noises which words cannot describe... Dina- WORD! I will miss you so much you crazy donut! I am leaving all the pearls in the world. Don't worry Dina, if the town burns down, I will save you.....FOR REAL! I will always miss all the crazy things you did, like climbing up walls and opening red containers....What flavor donut are you? Liz Stern- (AKA Chaminade girl) My roommate! I am leaving you blinds that work and duct tape for the next time we have to fix them. We never did open the trap door in your closet or figure out why there were cookies on the floor. Your hand syndrome is contagious! I am sorry I never cleaned my room! Kristy- master locks! Nikki- (AKA Becky) For the last time, my name is Amanda not Lauren. Minji- Thanks for fixing our blinds for us. I hope you never have to put up with campers as bad as us. Just kidding! Kyla- I am so innocent. Rhys- I couldn't have asked for a better summer. I am leaving you a spoon for the next time you go to friendly's!

By Julia Rogers:

What a great time! Piano ensembles were so much fun, especially dancing around the piano. I loved entirely losing my place in chorus songs with Elena. Although music history was way too early in the morning, we had fun learning about Schumann's interesting behaviors. Flute ensemble was awesome. I'm cheesecake and Dina's tiramisu, so together, we're chocolate mousse. Piano Sightreading was excellent/fantastic/wonderful. "Whacks to the lady to the rumdiean." I had so much fun being Elena's roommate. "Did you bring any towels, 'cause I didn't." "Julia, you have a receding hairline!" "You have to call your sister." Overall, I had a really great time, and I can't wait for next year! P.S. "She's gonna become Latina and grow a butt!

Carolyn Rosinsky's Last Will and Testament

Email: Lcrosin@starpower.net SN: Carrotcakes7

To Allison Nicotera - I still have to meet Brock Lee Cartilage someday, even thought I FINALLY met Dexter!!! - Next you time you walk to a meal, don't trip…. you're an amazing bassoonist even if you can't feel your chin, or eat bread, or milk, or wear a watch or earrings... To Hannah Selin - never wear flip flops on the way to a meal unless you want to knock some teeth…. maybe you should put alarms on your watch and meal card so you know where they are. We never did have that sleepover, did we? Thanks for being my Julia and Alia for two weeks! I love your brother's name! and SOMEDAY we'll go to the meadow...To Michelle Ben Poop Dork - so what nationality is your name?
- remember, life is cyclic, so if you give Michelle a cookie...when you reach Russia with your mafia buddies and your new wife Nikki, look out for my ancestors. Wait, you sure you play clarinet? Thanks for everything, you were great! To Hannah McDonald-Moniz - So, did the last five minutes come out like you planned? We're still sight reading stand partners… great job with Eva and the Anderson technique. To Katie Palmer - haha! You never did smear chalk on me! Remember, when it says Q over pizz that doesn't mean thumb position (for the fourth time) Will you do the Katie Dance, please? Wait, what's rice made out of? To Naomi Permutt - Did you ever find your missing laundry? See you at home...To Chrys Woodbury - next year when you're SEVENTEEN, we'll wait through the ice cream line just for you, okay? and Lisa will actually LIGHT the matches....To Nikki Fogliano- no more BO thanks to that old spice...and thanks for listening that last night. To Arielle Meckler- remember, people go to JAIL for stealing CHEX MIX!!! To Mary Lynch - come visit me when you get back, ok?

To Allison Bourquin and Sarah Koop- BATHROON BUDDIES! and some good times singing the third movement of the Tchaikovsky in that annoying voice...To Nicole Houghton don't worry, you'll get him someday...maybe next year To Kris Heiby - so, did you ever clean your room? Thanks for those laughs on the last morning, you should be a pro alarm clock... To Frank Capoferri - WOW! I finally know how your dad got so rich
- DO you know who I am? Because I could be Carolyn OR Hannah, and you'll never know... To Aviva, Judy, and Emily - Thanks for a great time in quartet, you guys were great! Thanks for the birthday card, it was so nice! To Katie, Hannah, and Lisa, To the best quartet ever... DÜIACHP! (bang, bang, peace)

Lisa Rosinsky's Last and Final Will and Testament
SN: Lisirose137 Email: Lisirose713@yahoo.com
To the following people, I leave these items:
To Eva Sun: Hair Stylist, Makeup Expert, Fashion Consultant, and Certified Teacher of the "Anderson" Technique (also the best roommate ever), a year's supply of facial wipe thingys, BAXTER (he's out there somewhere...), a restraining order for cameras...oh my goodness, those pics were sooo hilarious, you know which ones I mean.....
To Hannah/Megan Louise McDonald-Moniz: An orphanage full of little kids to tuck in every night, an RIP stone for Bobby...who we shall pet no more...lots of lists and schedules to organize, you little OCD child!! To Katie Palmer: lots of picture of...someone, signed copies of the new DUIACHP posters!! To Sujin Jun:
-a pocket-sized English dictionary...there are some words you just really need to know, like "Warning, Emergency Exit—Alarm Will Sound" (also: rice, lice—big difference)
To Sujin Jun and John Steve Sullivan: keys to the Yager library, To John Steve Sullivan, J.I.T.: the Chopin Ballades, IOUs for free violin lessons & lots of soccer playing, a new Hugh Sung quarter To Naomi Permutt: Ahh I'll see you at home, you don't get anything (but thanks for being my refuge, you know what I mean...) fine, I leave you—laundry detergent!! (since we used yours) To Chrys Woodbury: a REAL ice cream sundae, with candles that are REALLY lit To Maire-Anne McCormack: lessons on how to tape music like a pro...or like me...same thing :o) To Calixto Antonio Romero The Eighth: the Shostokovich 8th string quartet To Mary Lynch: A ride to the BSO—anytime you want!
To Mandi Beauchamp: a pulley and rope to set up in Slade for Festival Choir next summer To Franky Capoferri: a pet frog To Stephan Labelle, P.I.T.: official JT certification--we're gonna have to teach classes next summer, find a way to put it in the schedule... To the Cafeteria People: paper cranes (Hannah, Eva—we'll try again next summer!)

By Anne Salluzzo:
I have had yet another incredible summer here at Hartwick. The music and the li, Aviva, Melanie, Julia, and Nina; we certainly had certainly a heartfelt game of Hot Potato. I retold the story to each session. Katherine, all I have to say is CAW CAW CAW!!!! Kyla, I leave you a tracking device for your glasses and a pill that will prevent you from becoming ill from the cafeteria food. Ellen, I leave you an Ellen-awaker up alarm for fire drills and extra mug, so people do not have to keep borrowing your mug to make easy mac. Emily Benzienger, I leave you an extension of lights out time. Bonnie, you are a real trooper, 6 weeks I say it qualifies as you being a counselor. Mary O, I leave plenty of laundry so we can continue our discussions in the laundry room. Michelle, we are finally counselors, Yah!.... Who would think we would ever grow up and have to act responsible? Jinhee, you are one of the sweetest people I know. Best of luck to you in Texas and next year, I will bring an extra kettle for more Korean noodles.

All the girls I did not have room to write a message to; it is not for a lack of affection. This year, so many things happened. I hope to see you all next summer. I would love to hear from you at college.

The Harwick Will of Hannah Selin, the Violist

Ahh, where to start? I'll give this my best, despite my crappy memory! And please, if I butcher some of the names. . .I am sorry. Also, you all know that I miss you, so I won't have to say it more than this once. First of all, I want to thank all of the 3rd floor gals for letting me adopt myself into your living quarters. I don't know what I would've done without you! Allison, (the flute player)--now I know what you meant about being a day student. . .it wasn't as bad as I thought it would be, though :) Allison (the bassoonist)--your fruity pebbles saved us from starvation, along with carolyn's cheerios. . .and your bassoon powers wowed us all! Carolyn--always remember your buddy, Brock Lee. . .too bad we never made it to the meadow. It's beautiful. You're like a little sister, but ten times better! Sarah--"my butt looks like a BUTT!". . .and I am proud of it! Thanks for going fun-running with me--it really meant a lot (although I know your true reason for going) All my viola buddies--you were all awesome musicians! "Predicament" club--I'm so happy we found each other out! It helped tons. Katie--I wish I could play the viola as well as you do the cello! Sam-- thank you for introducing me to squeezable peanut butter. It was the beginning of a deep and passionate romance.... and thanks for putting up with my continuous ranting. The Ravel quartet--I've been in a lot of quartets, but this one just worked out so nicely. . .we fit each other really well. I will miss playing with you guys! Maire--you're the sweetest person :). We all admired your stick-to-itiveness!

Calixto--you're a weird and wonderful violinist and person. I just don't know how I will survive without all those bad viola jokes. . . Frank--you do know who I am now, don't you? Hold onto your innocence. It's a good thing to have. I bet you'll be a famous saxophonist someday.....Just wait. Nicole (the clarinetist)--what would I have done if I hadn't overheard you and Allison's conversation that first morning? Lisa--take good care of your sister! and good luck falling in love with a new violin! Kris--you are the most unique person I have ever met (and really liked)! I especially liked the tunic you made that one night. . .and our hallway leftover cake-fest was such fun! I must admit, the Wal-mart cake is pretty darn good. Sujin--piano technique was fun! I am happy I met you at camp. You're really good at the piano! The Hartwick Cafeteria--thanks for all the food. No where else am I able to eat lucky charms and soup, or meat sauce and salad, for dinner.....and the peanut butter cookies were sooooo good. To anyone I missed. .. It doesn't mean I don't love you, it just means that my brain wasn't working quite right at midnight when I was writing this. . .

Elizabeth Stern[1]s Last Will and Testament

Amanda: the best roommate anyone could ever ask for, I owe you so much for wearing your clothing half the time and putting up with my [3]you have to clean up your half of the room[2] craziness. I leave you blinds that close, posters of Chad Michael Murray...Victoria: an already made-up Elizabeth so that you don't have to do my make-up again, a box (sorry, 12 boxes) of Oreos with peanut butter, and Orlando Bloom. The village people are coming at 1:30am...Victoria[1]s hyperand won't calm down...you really scared me that time lol. Christina: my [3]mommy[2] I love you so much and I seriously owe you for dragging you along everywhere with me. I leave you a jaw without TMJ, a perfect reed, shoes, clothing that doesn[1]t get wet, and less parnoia- we have too many memories to list them all. You[1]re my honorary flute player... Dina: for real, for crazy, crazy go nuts. Liz T: the other half of Liz squared, a new arm/hand/neck everytime you have problems, my pink stilettos, a banana, and another umbrella. Minji: I love you sooooo much and thanks for everything. Who always came up behind you and covered your eyes? Hmm, let's think about that. I leave you an eternity of hugs, blinds that close, safety pins (but next time I[1]ll fix the dress beforehand), the ability to be satisfied with your playing, and an unjammed finger. Joon: What can I say? You're absolutely amazing and so sane. I really admire you... Soo-Kyung: I can't even express my infinite gratitude to you for everything you have done for me...I appreciate everything so much, and I don't know what I would do without you. I don[1]t even have words to begin to explain... Anna and my wind quintet: Thanks for a great 2 weeks. Charlotte- I hope your tendonitis gets better and I would leave you a screaming metronome but you already have one, Jonah- [3]play out and blow[2], Stephanie- No, we cannot go any faster, Greg- Watch out, you might end up sitting next to me in Juilliard next year. Anna- you were always so supportive and had such a positive attitude. I learned so much- I will miss you all a great deal. And no, we cannot make it look like we are bad musicians at the beginning of the concert with off-tuning and different stand heights because it's unprofessional. Danielle: we'll be neat freaks together I lyl Jaimie: my [3]older sister[2], you have pictures to add to your hot guy book...we will actually get together this year. Sonora and Elana: my little fluties, I really enjoyed playing with you guys-thanks for putting up with my piccolo playing... Diana: I did bring my timer, I leave you an in-tune piccolo and the flute duet in the Mendelssohn. Institute Band Flutes: I leave everyone ear plugs for those 4th octave piccolo squeak notes- that was me. Thanks for an amazing+memorable summer, everyone!

The Last Will and Testament of Harold Taylor relatively:
I, Harold Taylor, being of sound mind and body, hereby bequeath the following items to the following: Will Buck: Mendelssohn (need I say more?). Rich B: Gelato, Backpack Axe (they go well together). Pete S: Lifetime supply of duct tape. Sheila: Quick fingers, quicker reflexes. Pete F: Pedal tones, unlimited funny noises. Eric C: the ability to quell your hiccups. Dakota D: an unbroken cello and some night vision. Dave F: A bowling ball that goes straight. All: I leave many wonderful and strange memories and a great year.

By Elena Tinfow:
I had so much fun this year and I am definitely coming back next summer. Piano ensemble was so much fun, especially watching people dance around the room while we were trying to play but laughing really hard. In festival choir, we sang fun songs. But I know for a fact that it's pronounced po-mi-loy, because I'm Russian and I sing that song in church. And I felt bad because I kept singing the words different from everyone else. I love having pizza for lunch every single day, though after a while, it started not tasting like anything. I love the James Bond theme in brass ensemble! Piano sight reading was super excellent and I'm so glad Julia was my roommate. I loved my King Arthur poster, but it was sort of creepy how Guinevere and Lancelot were always staring no matter where I was in the room. Have you ever been to electric dust-bunny land?? Julia and I have, when we dropped stuff under our bed and we had to climb under to get it. We should have gotten more of that Lysol Spray! And I loved all our magazines!

Emily Voletsky leaves to the following people:
Peri: I leave the memory of haunted practice rooms and of "the frog." Mollye: I leave the fabulous chicken lomein we had so often. Sammy: I leave you scissors to cut your hair and squeezable peanut butter. Mandi: I leave you a publishing company so that you can publish your great short stories and poetry. Catherine: I leave you a book of "Things to do besides studying Pre-Calculus." Naomi: the memory of me asking you to sing every 5 seconds. Arielle: you know who, and a cell phone with free minutes ALL the time. Diana: a "how-to-start-a-conversation book for dummies", a bouncy ball, and the memory of our interesting Egyptian rat screw card games. Mike Goodman and Danny: I leave you both a bottle of pepper spray so that no one can tickle you. Ben: I leave you all of the gum I have. Koosh: an indestructible viola and a towel. Stephan: gel to slick your hair the other way. And finally Jason: the memory of countless World War II talks. I love you guys so much. See ya next year!!!!

The last Will and Testament of Chrys Woodbury:

I struggle to breathe as I write this, suffocating from the lack of Hartwick. In the case that this incurable malady causes me to pass from this realm of consciousness, I bequeath the following possessions to the following people. Hannah-lightly toasted cheese, blue hair, cello lessons, vinegar for your masochism, 5 super hot tamales at once, chick peas, mochas, status malus, and more bumper stickers for your cello case. Mary- presidents, South Park, a bat mitzvah, a fungle, Erin slamming the door, the Queen of Sheba. Erin a Jewish roommate, a festival boy friend, a self-cleaning room. Mandi- musical nerdiness, a Beatle in a bottle, drop dead intellectually stimulating bubble wrap, a year's supply of pizza, and an Egyptian rat. Sam and Catherine- a violin/viola trio. Sujin- my limited Korean vocabulary. Nicole- a violin, a stand partner with normal facial expressions. MyOmie- tic tacs: oh man! (exactly like that, if you know what I mean), stupid faces, 12 and a half-year-old French patriotic ribbon, lowered standards, purple hair dye, West side story, 12 rolls of duct tape, snow cone everywhere, a balanced teeter-totter, no more school, Persellabella and Bobalimon, pure and gorgeous rain to dance in, and my thanks for being the truest friend I've ever had. Lisa, Carolyn, Katie, Eva, Koosh, Jaimie, Lyndsay, Tina, Elana, and everyone else- 4th floor pizza parties, Tchaik 4, Copland, musical nerdiness, Wal-mart, and salutations until next year!
